ROTARIANS IN SCOTLAND MEET

Begin Sessions of World Convention

BY CLYDE BEALS
(Written for the United Press)
EDINBURGH, Scotland, June 13.—The militant strains of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" rolled thru the packed convention hall here when Rotarians of the world began their formal sessions today.

Rotary's desire for some sort of universal peace organization was reflected in amendments proposed today for the constitution. An amendment to the club's objects, "the aid and advancement of international peace and good will thru business and professional good fellowship," was submitted by the international board of directors. An amendment proposed by the 18th district in the United States was that Rotary continue a study of labor problems in the hope of determining a method of reaching agreements.

The Halifax, N. S., club proposed that a committee be appointed to foster international amity. Many messages were received by the convention. One of these was from the Lincoln, Neb., club, which sent greetings. General Pershing was one of the signers of the telegram.

The formalities of the opening session included the call to order by President T. D. Hutvaz, of Edinburgh. The Rev. Wallace Williamson delivered the invocation. Hunter and President Alexander Wilkie, of the British Rotary association, welcomed the convention. Albert S. Adams, of Atlanta, past international president, responded to the welcome. International President Ester Snedecor, Portland, Ore., then delivered his annual address and the convention adjourned, after submitting to the official photographer.

Pick 6 for Speaking Parts in "Wayfarer"

Six persons out of 27 applicants were picked for speaking parts in the "Wayfarer," Seattle's religious pageant, at a tryout held in the University stadium Saturday. Miss Ruth Wood and Mrs. Robert Sandahl were selected to take the part of the Angel; Miss Julia Elmendorf and Mrs. Minnie McDowell, Understanding; Rev. Cleveland Kleihauer and Robert Day, Wayfarer. Two persons were chosen for each part, because they will appear on alternate evenings during the performance.

Twenty persons tried out for singing parts. The winners have not been announced, pending further tests.

Thus Far It Is in Vain You Seek for Any "Mind-Your-Business Week"

AS tampered with Today, My Child, the Calendar looks strange and wild. There's not a blessed Day or Week that SOME Promoter does not seek to fill with Deep Significance—not unconnected with Finance. Thus, Macaroni Week arrives upon the Heels of Busy Drives to further Fill-the-Ashean Day; Vanilla Week is on its Way just as you've got it thru your Bean that April Ten to Seventeen is sacred to a Brand of Soap. You do not quite abandon Hope, but, after all, you might as well, for right away the Billboards tell that Wash-the-Baby Week is here, and 'Uncle's Day is drawing near! Next, some Upifter will bespeak your Aid for Save-the-Muskrat Week, and beg that Time be set aside to make the Purpose Nationwide. * * * But oh, My Child, how glad I'd be, if, on some Placard, I might see Announcement of the quaint, unique Proposal: "Mind-Your-Business Week."

GRILL GIRL IN MURDER PROBE

Fourth Woman Charged in Kaber Case

CLEVELAND, June 13.—Marian McArdle was to be grilled by police today in an effort to substantiate a confession made by Mrs. Emma Colavito, the fourth woman to be charged with the murder of Daniel Kaber in July, 1919.

The confession, County Prosecutor Stanton says, accuses Marian of taking active part in the planning and execution of the murder plot, instead of being a victim of circumstances as heretofore believed. Marian was only 17, just a year out of high school, when the murder was committed.

Mrs. Colavito, heretofore known as the Sandusky midwife, was formally charged with murder early today, after she had signed a confession that she had secured two assassins for Mrs. Kaber, and that, in company with these two men, she had visited the Kaber home two days before the murder to get "the lay of the land."

BLUE MOUSE THEATRE

Opening Seattle's Finest Cafeteria

Wednesday for lunch we will reopen the Panama Cafeteria with every feature that goes to make up the best. Here is a central location, accessible from all parts of the city—with big waiting rooms on the street level so you may watch for your friend and see the throngs on Third Ave.

The chef, Mr. Brown, is interested in the cafeteria, assuring you of the cuisine.

Music by the Panama Pleasing Players will entertain you five hours daily—at luncheon, at dinner and after theatre.

Absolutely new to Seattle is the cafeteria service till midnight. Mr. Barbour, well-known on the Pacific Coast, will be in charge of that feature.

Beauty, comfort and convenience predominate in all the new furnishings. But above all else is our aim to give you the very best food at the most reasonable price. Plan to start your first meal with us Wednesday.
