Here's Pal and Sidney

One Wanted a Dog; Other a Boy Master and a Home

They're Both Happy Now

Pal and Sidney and the bank account Sidney won out of his transaction with the Humane society.—Photo by Price & Carter, Star staff photographers.

By E. P. Chalcraft

A boy, a dog and a bank account—what can they have in common.

"A great deal," says A. Millard, Jr., secretary of the King County Humane society.

"Huh! Lo! Lo!" says Sidney Peet. "Wrrrooooooff! Wooff!" says Pal, taking a swipe at Sid's face with his sticky tongue.

Sidney walked into the Humane society's animal shelter, at 317 Westlake ave. N., a few days ago. He said he wanted a dog. He was shown around, and finally picked out a white and tan fox terrier.

"How much is that one?" he asked. "Five dollars," the attendant replied. "That's a mighty fine dog."

Sidney's face fell. "I've only got a dollar."

"Gee," he said as he turned away. "I know what I'd call him if I had him. I'd call him Pal."

The following day Sidney returned to the shelter and asked to see Pal. "I've got some more money from selling papers," he said, displaying a handful of pennies and small change. "I've got three dollars and sixty-five cents."

It was just as plain as anything that Pal belonged to Sidney by rights, so the attendant made the bargain for $3.45, and boy and dog left together.

"Say, I'm going to give that boy's money back to him," said Secretary Millard, when he heard the story.

But on second thought he did a better thing than that. He made a savings deposit for $3.65 in Sidney's name in the Marine National Bank. Then he drove out to 4935 47th ave. where Sidney and his widowed mother live, and presented the boy with the bank book.

"He growls at everybody but me," says Sid, his arm tight around Pal. "He's MY dog, that's why."

SCORE OFFICERS IN BERGDOLL'S PROBE

BY HERBERT W. WALKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Punitive action against several persons involved in the case of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire Philadelphia draft dodger, was recommended to the house today by members of the special committee appointed to investigate the case.

In a report signed by three of the five members of the committee, the war department's handling of the Bergdoll case, prior to his escape in May, 1920, was scathingly denounced.

The findings of the majority, as summarized, are:

Samuel T. Ansell, former acting judge-advocate general, and who, as an attorney, obtained the war department's permission for the release of Bergdoll that he might dig up an alleged pot of gold, should be debarred from practice "before any departments, any court-martial or in any courts of the nation."

Maj. Bruce Campbell, military counsel for the slacker, who, Mrs. Bergdoll charges, asked for $100,000 from her and obtained $5,000, "to fix higher-ups, so that her son might be released," was completely exonerated.

The alien property custodian was commended for his seizure of the Bergdoll property, and he is urged to take steps to force Mrs. Bergdoll to produce the $100,000 in gold which she says is buried.

Col. John E. Hunt, who, the report alleged, allowed Bergdoll to leave prison without proper guard, should be discharged from the retired list of the army.

Earl B. Wood, of the department of justice, should be removed from the federal service because he failed to warn the war department that Bergdoll was planning to escape. Information to this effect came to Wood a month before Bergdoll made his "getaway," the report alleges.

Col. C. C. Cresson is sharply criticized on the ground that he made a weak prosecution of Col. Hunt in a court-martial after the escape.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire draft dodger, now supposed to be in Germany, is writing a book about his escape from the American military authorities. This was revealed today in the report of the house committee which investigated his escape. Ex-

To Have Reunion of Engle Descendants

F. D. Engle, 923 29th ave. S., has received an invitation to attend a reunion of the descendants of George and Amy Engle, pioneers of industry, near New Brighton, Pa. The reunion will be held in Indiana.

Excerpts from a letter from Bergdoll to his mother in Philadelphia, which was intercepted, are included in the report. These contain Bergdoll's grateful feelings toward his mother, and the American public will wake up when they read it in the near future. We made the Americans look like a bunch of bores before the whole world. They are all laughing at them.

Fist Fighter Held for Manslaughter

Willard Black was charged with manslaughter Wednesday when prosecuting attorney Malcolm Douglas filed an information accusing Black of killing A. C. St. Croix with a blow of the fist July 25, 1921. Both men, Black and St. Croix, were said to be drunk at the time of the altercation. Black is being held in the county jail.

PREMIER BACKS BRITISH NAVY

Urges Settlement Pacific Question

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The British empire must have a naval force equal to that of any other country, Lloyd George said in commons this afternoon. The British premier made his long expected statement regarding the decisions of the imperial conference.

"It was agreed that the British navy must be second to none," Lloyd George said.

The premier's remarks were greeted with loud cheers.

Referring to the Pacific situation, Lloyd George declared it was a cardinal principle that the British policy there must be to continue in the most complete possible accord with the United States.

"If by an alliance with Japan," the premier added, "we can emerge with a greater understanding with Japan and America respecting the problems of the Pacific, it will be an event which would guarantee the peace of the world.

The surest way to make a success of any disarmament conference," Lloyd George continued, "is to first have an understanding about the Pacific."

The British empire is agreed in

GRASSHOPPERS PLAGUE RUSSIA

Destroy Crops Needed for Starving Millions

PARIS, Aug. 18.—A great plague of grasshoppers, billions of them, darkening the sky, is destroying the last vestige of crops needed for starving Russia in the Samara and Saratoff districts, according to reports reaching the Red Cross here.

Dr. Georges Lodygensky, a delegate of the Russian Red Cross, has reported that five billion pounds of food is needed in the districts which are being ravaged by the grasshoppers.

Whole villages have been abandoned. Stragglers fall by the roadside and lie abandoned and unburied.

MRS. MAX WEST'S ADVICE ON THE CARE OF CHILDREN

Mrs. Max West, United States children's bureau expert and mother of five children, will answer questions of Northwest mothers on child welfare. She will not give medical advice, or advice in difficult feeding cases, or deal with abnormal children. She will answer any question about the care of healthy, normal children, unless she is asked to do otherwise for personal reply. The most interesting questions will be answered thru this column twice a week. Address: MRS. MAX WEST, THE STAR, SEATTLE.

"How much should a baby weigh at 8 months? How should she be fed? She has a poor appetite and leaves milk in her bottle?"

The new table of heights and weights, lately published by the children's bureau of the United States department of labor, says the average weight for a girl at 8 months is 17 1/2, for a height of 27 1/2 inches.

Your baby is in good condition, I should say. She should have 8 ounces of food every 4 hours, thru the day, with no feeding after your bedtime, and you should soon be able to come this feeding also. Most babies can take two parts of milk to one of water, at this age. In addition, they may have some strained cereal gruel, and a small amount of broth, at the midday feeding. The loss of appetite is probably due to the hot weather. Keep the baby as cool as possible. Undress her almost completely during the hottest part of the day, and give her cool drinking water several times a day.

Q—How much should a child weigh at 17 months, and what is the rate of gain from this time on?

A—Girls weigh on the average at this age 22 1/2 pounds; boys, 23 1/2 pounds. At 24 months, girls will weigh 25 1/2 pounds; boys, 26 1/2 pounds.

Q—When does the soft spot on top of a baby's head close?

A—Usually at about a year and a half. It should not be open after the child is two years old.

Q—When can a baby sit up alone?

A—At seven or eight months. From this time they will begin to try to pull themselves to their feet, and by the end of the year will probably be standing alone.

STOLEN CLOTHES CHIEF SHOT BY HIS PRISONER

Police Charge F. M. Harris, Street Car Motorman

Attempting, it is alleged, to evade arrest by making a bonfire of a heap of stolen clothing Wednesday night, F. M. Harris, 32, street car motorman, is held in jail Thursday for further investigation by detectives.

Harris is alleged to have been connected with P. Brydges and W. A. Boggs, who were arrested a few days ago on charges of room prowling. The two men are said to have admitted thefts of clothing, implicating Harris in their confession. When Harris was told to come to police headquarters Wednesday night, he agreed, and went to another room of his home. According to police, Harris was lighting a pile of clothing in the back yard when detectives found him. He is held on an open charge.
