

BANDIT WAS IN RAYMOND NOW PROVED

Gardner's Presence, Also Authenticity of Letter to Paper Established

RAYMOND, Wash., Sept. 29.—That Roy Gardner, mail bandit and fleet-footed convict, was actually in Raymond last Friday and that here he wrote the letter purported to have been received from him by the San Francisco Bulletin was considered as certain today.

This belief, held by Chief of Police Shumway, was substantiated late yesterday when Shumway received a letter from George W. Berry of the department of justice in Seattle to the effect that the letter received by the Bulletin was postmarked Raymond and that it was taken from a pad borrowed from Mrs. Ruth Lewman, proprietor of the Raymond rooms in Raymond.

"There is no question about the writing being Gardner's," Berry informed Chief Shumway.

Shumway has the borrowed tablet in his possession.

Gardner, according to this theory, is the last person to have used the tablet and the heavy impression made by his pen may serve greatly in establishing the identity of the letter to the Bulletin, according to Shumway.

Creditors of George B. Wilbur, Gardner's confessed friend, are making no effort to have Wilbur brought back here, should he be found.

A letter has been received here from Mrs. Wilbur, now in Lewisville, Idaho. She apparently believes her husband still in Raymond, while authorities believe he is in San Francisco. They think that when they find Wilbur they will find Gardner.

Police here are endeavoring to establish the identity of the driver. No one has been found yet who saw the car come into the city. Rooming houses and hotels are being combed for a man answering the description of the auto thief who was known to have taken the car from Raymond, and who bore a striking resemblance to Gardner.

Twice Widowed in Mine War Mrs. Sid Hatfield Is Victim

Mrs. Sid Hatfield

BY NORRIS QUINN
MATEWAN, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Twice a widow within 14 months. Wife of two men, both shot to death in West Virginia's bloody mine feud!

That's the tragic history of the proprietress of the little ice cream parlor across from the Matewan railway station.

This woman of 34 was the wife of Sid Hatfield, police chief of Matewan. Earlier she was the wife of C. C. Testerman, mayor of Matewan.

Her deep black eyes sparkle with life. Her dark brown hair is carefully arranged in a modish coiffure. She wears a plain black silk gown.

"No," she said today, "I'm not going to testify when they try the men who killed Sid!"

"That is, unless Sheriff Bill Hatfield and Gov. Morgan promise me safe conduct to and from the courthouse at Welch—"

"Or unless Uncle Sam's troops come into McDowell county before the trial starts."

"Why, otherwise, I'm afraid they'd kill me just like they killed Sid!"

Then she told for the first time her story of the Welch courthouse shooting which resulted in the death of Sid Hatfield and his friend, Ed Chambers.

"You see, Sid went to Welch to answer a charge of being involved in the Mohawk Valley shooting," she said. "He was innocent, but he went to stand trial as any law-abiding citizen should."

"I went with him and so did Ed Chambers and Mrs. Chambers. Ed went as a witness for Sid."

"Sid wasn't looking for any trouble. He didn't carry any guns, though he had a state permit to carry weapons. He put one gun in my suitcase and gave the other to the deputy who took us to Welch."

"We were walking up the courthouse steps when the shooting started. People say Sid saw C. E. Lively, a Baldwin-Felts detective on the steps; that Sid pulled his gun to shoot Lively and that Lively shot Sid in self-defense."

"Well, I know that Lively didn't shoot Sid!"

"Thirteen men on the courthouse steps shot at Sid and there were more than 25 bullet holes in Sid's body when he fell. Sid never knew what had happened."

That's an entirely new story. In every mountaineer's cabin in West Virginia, at every crossroads store, you'll hear people say that the Welch shooting grew out of a feud between Hatfield and Lively. Lively was arrested in connection with the shooting. He is now out under bond. He was never indicted. The grand jury has not met since the killing.

"I'll never marry again," Mrs. Hatfield said. "You see I married Mr. Testerman when I was 13. He was 10 years older."

"He was killed with 10 others in the shooting at Matewan May 19, 1920, after discharged miners were expelled from their homes by Baldwin-Felts detectives.

"Then I married Sid. I really loved Sid and I can never love another man. Of course, I loved Mr. Testerman, too, but he was more of a father to me than a husband."

"Everyone loved Sid. He was noble and kindhearted. He gave half he made to the sick and poor. He loaned to everyone who needed money. He gave regularly to churches."

"That's why the mine workers are going to put up a big monument to Sid in Charleston, the state capital, where everyone can see it."

"I'm not afraid of Sid's enemies—so long as I stay here. Because—"

And Mrs. Hatfield glanced at a revolver on the counter behind the soda fountain.

Sins of diet often result in pimples and boils

A familiar fresh food corrects their basic cause

THE causes of pimples and blackheads (acne) are always found in lowered vitality, very commonly associated with constipation and digestive disorders," says one-skin specialist, and he further says that "the repeated occurrence of boils should always be looked upon as an indication of lowered vitality."

Scientists now know that the real cause of the trouble may be some "sin of diet."

It is now generally acknowledged that the lack of one food factor called vitamin is largely responsible for the lowered vitality that so often brings skin disorders and blemishes.

Something to correct the basic cause of these complaints is clearly needed. Scientists have discovered it in the familiar little cake of Fleischmann's Yeast, for yeast is the richest known source of the food factor essential to perfect digestion.

Physicians and hospitals are therefore prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast as an addition to the diet. It yields remarkable results in the treatment of boils and acne so often due to sins of diet.

Fleischmann's Yeast is a highly digestible fresh food. Have it on the table at home and on your desk at the office. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor, and the clean wholesome taste it leaves in your mouth. Eat from 2 to 3 cakes a day just plain or on crackers or bread. Within two weeks you should notice an improvement. Obsolete cases may require two or three weeks longer. If troubled with gas, dissolve the yeast first in half a cup of very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast. Get Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily from your grocer.

Send 4c in stamps for the booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." So many inquiries are coming in daily for this booklet that it is necessary to make this nominal charge to cover cost of handling and mailing. Address The Fleischmann Company, 214 Bell Street, Seattle, Washington.

41 cases helped in from 1 to 4 weeks

In 41 cases of pimples and boils treated in leading hospitals Fleischmann's Yeast proved to have properties of great value. Every case showed improvement or cure, taking from a week to two months. To clear up pimples and boils eat 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily. In acute cases consult your doctor.

Beware of new and untested yeast preparations. The name Fleischmann is your protection and guarantee of uniform purity and strength.
