Crowned Heads Can Eat Yet in Vienna

VIENNA, Nov. 21.—People are coming here from all parts of the country to eat as much as possible while their crowns, which have reduced greatly in value, still buy good meals. One restaurant owner reported serving more than 3,000 lunches in a day, instead of the average of 600.

Proves He Killed Tame Duck; Fined

A Danger Signal—Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pyorrhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pyorrhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

Pyorrhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pyorrhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today.

Brush Your Teeth With Forhan's—How to Use It

Use it twice daily, year in and year out. Wet your brush in cold water, place a half-inch of the refreshing, healing paste on it, then brush your teeth up and down. Use a rolling motion to clean the crevices. Brush the grinding and back surfaces of the teeth. Massage your gums with your Forhan-coated brush—gently at first until the gums harden, then more vigorously. If the gums are very tender, massage with the finger, instead of the brush. If gum shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c. All druggists.

University Girl Advises Ex-Soldier to Stick to His Present Ideals—Another Writer Declares Girls Do Prefer the Cave-Man Type.

Dear Cynthia Grey: In answer to an "Ex-Soldier," I believe the trouble is that you have not met the type of girl who appreciates a real gentleman. Coarser methods do not gain greater ground with girls than good manners; but, of course, all depends on the type of girls, again.

I am a university girl with a rather wide circle of acquaintances, and am an officer in each of the five organizations to which I belong, so I have met many different types of men on the campus and off, but, sad to say, the type of the "Ex-Soldier" seems to be rather scarce. They are either not interested in girls at all, or else they seem more interested in girls of another type. Oh, yes, they are friendly and will walk home from meetings with us occasionally, and when they want help or information they will come to us, but when it comes to inviting us out they will take someone else.

Thanks to my mother for her untiring efforts in raising me—I have always tried my best to be lady-like and still not a prude with the boys. I have, in accordance with her advice, rejected the offers from three of my friends just because they did not reach my ideal of a Prince Charming. Although I did it rather reluctantly at the time, I am now thankful that I did, for I now see the situation as others saw it. In all things I have always found that my mother knew what was best for me.

"Ex-Soldier," in associating with those who call you a "sissy" you are trying to fit a square into a round hole, which you find cannot be done unless the corners are rounded off. To do this you would have to lower your ideals, which does not pay in the long run. So I say, continue to act as a true gentleman and some day you will find a girl who appreciates your type and then you will feel more than a repaid for holding up your ideals.
