HOTEL LEASE ALL SETTLED

Seattle Project to Be Realized in 1924

The Olympic, Seattle's community hotel, will be in operation for the summer season of 1924, a favorable lease having been concluded between the directors of the corporation and Frank A. Dudley, president of the United Hotels Co. of America, one of the largest and best financed hotel operating companies in the world, whereby that company will furnish and operate the hotel.
This announcement follows a meeting of the directors of the hotel Thursday morning, when details of the lease, which has been approved as to form by the legal committee and recommended by the leasing committee, were gone into, and Frank Waterhouse, president of the Community Hotel corporation and also of the Chamber of Commerce, was authorized to accept the lease formally.
Of special interest to Seattle folk is the announcement that Roy Caruthers, now managing director of the Waldorf-Astoria of New York, has interested himself with Dudley in the lease.
Caruthers, who began his hotel career in Seattle, has always had great faith in this city, and the hotel corporation has been anxious to have him associated with the operating company, not only because of his ability, but of his personal interest in a successful hotel project here, it is explained.
President Waterhouse's formal statement Thursday was in part as follows:
To the Bondholders and Stockholders of the Community Hotel Corporation of Seattle:
I am glad to be able to advise you that your directors have closed a lease of your new hotel on what they believe to be very favorable terms, which are as follows:
Name of lessee—Community Hotel Corporation of Seattle.
Name of lessee—Olympic Hotel Co.
Name of hotel—Hotel Olympic.
The leasing company, which will furnish and operate the hotel, has a paid-up capital stock of $750,000.00.
Its officers are as follows:

"HAMMER MURDER" WOMAN

Mrs. Clara Phillips, who went on trial Friday at Los Angeles on a charge of brutally beating Miss Alberta Meadows to death with a hammer.

Accused Woman Is Unconcerned as the Sensational Case Comes Up for Trial; Chum to Be Called

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20.—Clara Phillips faced her accusers in the Los Angeles "primitive murder" case today.
As she went to trial charged with having a love rival to a second-degree murder, she was accused of brutally beating her rival to death with a hammer, the case looked more dreadful against her than ever.
Mrs. Phillips was as unconcerned and calm as the day she was brought back from Tucson, Ariz., to a city seething with indignation at the appalling crime. She has never admitted she killed Alberta Meadows, and has refused to discuss any particulars of the slaying.
With the courtroom filled to overflowing, a wooden barrier held back a crowd of 600 at the doors when Judge Frederick Houser took the bench at 10 o'clock.
Mrs. Phillips, brought in by another entrance, sat, slim and quiet, listening closely to the opening proceedings. She wore a trim velvet hat and a gray traveling suit, the same she wore when she was arrested at Tucson, Ariz., following her flight from the city.
The clerk of the court called the names of the 22 members of the jury panel and 12 were seated in the jury box. Of these, five were women.
Armour L. Phillips, her husband, and her sister, Mrs. Etta Weaver, talked with her for some time prior to the opening of the trial, and she repeatedly embraced the man for whom she is alleged to have killed Alberta Meadows.
Crowds gathered early for the opening of the trial and long before the court doors were open a double line stood on the eighth floor of the hall of records.
At one time it was intimated that Mrs. Phillips might have recourse to the "unwritten law" as her defense and that her husband, Armour Phillips, would take the stand and testify regarding his alleged illicit relations with the dead girl. Bertram Herrington, defense counsel, denied this, but would make no statement in regard to the plea he would present.
The state will call Peggy Caffee, former chorus girl chum of Mrs.

LAW TO HEAD NEW CABINET FOR BRITAIN

Invitation of King Is Conditionally Accepted; Lloyd George to Fight

BY LLOYD ALLEN
LONDON, Oct. 20.—Andrew Bonar Law started to choose his ministers today as Lloyd George considered formation of a new center party which would combine all liberals under his leadership.
Lloyd George would announce his future plans at a speech at Leeds tomorrow, it was believed.
Bonar Law, who accepted conditionally the invitation of King George to form a ministry, consulted leaders of the unionist party, whose bolt from the coalition government yesterday caused the downfall of Lloyd George, who was at the head of the government for six years.
DERBY AND CURZON WILLING TO AID
It was authoritatively stated that Lord Derby and Lord Curzon have both intimated their willingness to serve in the cabinet of Bonar Law. This was not entirely unexpected because they were known to have had anti-Georgian leanings for some time.
The Canadian-born business man who may become the head of the next government is to give a definite acceptance to his majesty if he is chosen leader of the unionist party. Although this is taken as a foregone conclusion, it will not be known definitely until the parliamentary unionists meet Saturday or Sunday.
Lloyd George left London this afternoon for Leeds, where he is to make a speech tomorrow.
The former premier plans to make short speeches en route.
Pending formation of a new government, the coalition ministry remains in control.
In case Bonar Law is successful in forming a government, it is almost assured that there will be a general election.
January or February were variously mentioned as the months in which the general election may be held, but the less optimistic opinion that it would be called at a much sooner date.

12 WORKERS TRAPPED BY EXPLOSION!

Eight Killed and Four Injured in Tragedy in Co-Operative Mine

M'CURTAIN, Okla., Oct. 20.—Eight miners were killed and four seriously injured in an explosion in the Progressive Coal company's mine, near here, today.
The explosion entombed the workers.
Rescue squads reached there shortly after the blast, but eight men were already dead.
Reports from attending physicians said the four injured had but slight chance to recover.
A shot fired by one of the miners to loosen the coal was believed to have caused the explosion.
The 12 miners were pioneers in this field. They were operating the workings on a co-operative basis.

JAP COLONISTS WINNING HERE

Decrease in Immigration Shows Victory, Claim

By Robert B. Bermann
Japan has already fought and won the first great battle in her peaceful war of penetration on the Pacific coast of the United States.
This is the construction placed by Congressman Phil Tindall on figures announced Friday by United States Immigration Commissioner Luther Weed, showing that Japanese immigration has decreased 42 per cent in the last year thru the port of Seattle.
"Japanese propagandists will doubtless claim that this is due to the fact that the Japanese government is now living up to the gentlemen's agreement, and that it is doing its utmost to discourage immigration to the United States," Tindall declared in discussing the report. "But this is mere twaddle. Anyone familiar with the immigrant way in which the gentlemen's agreement has been violated for the last 10 years and more will realize the utter absurdity of the Jap government undergoing so complete a change of heart."
"It's all camouflage—a smoke screen. The Japs realize that the seed has been sown—that enough of their nationals have already gained a foothold in the Pacific Northwest to assure a powerful Japanese colony for their progeny 25 or 30 years hence, and, therefore, there is no longer any necessity for further immigration."
"So, with typical wit, they have seized upon the opportunity to show how moral and high-minded they are. 'See,' they say, 'the Americans don't want us for some inexplicable reason. We are much pained by this, because we have the greatest regard for the honorable United States. But the Yamato race is proud. We don't go where we are not wanted. And so, behold! No more Japanese are going to America.'"
"All of which is very nice—if you don't consider the thousands of Japs (Turn to Page 4, Column 1)

DECLINES TO OUST SAWYER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Harding will not grant the demand of the American Legion for the removal of his personal physician, Brig. Gen. C. E. Sawyer, as head of the federal hospitalization board, it was learned here today from sources close to the executive.
The president is known to feel that Sawyer was unjustly criticized by the Legion and that while the hospital construction program had been delayed, the doctor's handling of the matter will be justified in the end.
Sawyer today declined to make any comment on the Legion's demand other than to state he was surprised at the action. He said he might issue a statement later.

The action followed a motion by Assistant District Attorney Edwin L. Weid, that the case be postponed in order to give the government sufficient time to prepare an answer to the arguments of the shompen.
Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the shompen, resisted the motion, but was overruled.

Capt. Lloyd George Resigns

(EDITORIAL)
LOYD GEORGE'S resignation as British premier puts all Europe on the anxious seat. Much depends upon the choice of his successor. Indeed, it is not putting it a bit too strongly to say that upon the character of the new prime minister may depend the question of peace or war.
Lloyd George has been one of the few sane leaders left in Europe after the war. Time and again, when things were rapidly going to pot, he intervened to save the situation.
He has always had powerful enemies, both in England and on the continent, who consigned him to hades daily, but the fact remains that he not only saved Britain's bacon for her repeatedly by sheer force of character, but has dragged Europe back from the brink of self-annihilation more than once even against Europe's own violent protestations.
To cite only the most recent illustration, there can be little doubt that but for Lloyd George Europe would now be in turmoil as the result of Turkey's demands for readmission into the European concert. His lone stand in this crisis temporarily saved the day for the allied nations.
What attitude will his successor take in this and in other grave crises just ahead? Not only all Europe, but the world, very much including America, is tremendously interested in the answer.

WILHELM IS NOT MARRIED

The first cable received here from a Doorn newspaper correspondent stated, "Today kaiser bridegroom."
A subsequent cable read, "Kaiser officially inscribed at the registrar's office at Doorn that marriage would take place November 5."
