

Christmas Suggestions

SHOP EARLY IF YOU WOULD SHOP WELL!

All signs point to a shortage of Christmas merchandise. There is a shortage of freight cars—there is traffic congestion on the railroads. The strike of the shopmen, late in the summer, still has its effect on merchandise stocks in the stores. Do your Christmas shopping early! You must shop early if you would shop well. The early shopper gets the cream of Christmas things.

And early shopping is a pleasure, too. Now the array of desired things is at its best. Selections are more comprehensive, more complete. You are more likely to find the gifts you'd rather choose if you visit the stores right now. Later the aisles will be crowded, shopping then will be a wearisome task. What should be a pleasure will then be a burden. Shop now when the stores are at their prettiest.

Salespeople appreciate the thoughtfulness of the early shopper. They have more time to give you. Shop a little every day, for you'll enjoy these daily visits to your favorite stores. And remember that you must shop early this year if you would shop well. Avoid disappointment. Make up your Christmas list and then—a-shopping go.
