A Kafir captured by the Boers while taking a quill dispatch from Mafeking to Kuruman was searched from head to foot, and then told to go. The wily native thus escaped, with the dispatch safely concealed up his nose, and reached his destination without further mishap.

Norway has a law dealing with cremation. According to the act every person over 15 years of age can be cremated after death if he or she has made a declaration in the presence of two witnesses. For those under 15 a declaration on the part of the parents is necessary.

The present empress of Germany loves a new frock. Her wardrobe comprises more than one for every day in the year, and she is said rarely to wear a gown more than once. Yet, in the bosom of her family she is generally seen with an apron covering her dress, as this home article of apparel is a pet of her husband's.

The twentieth century will commence on January 1, 1901. It will open on Tuesday and close on Sunday. It will have the greatest number of leap years possible—34. The year 1904 will be the first one, then every fourth year after that, to and including 2000. February will have three times five Sundays—in 1920, 1948 and 1976.

The lowest point of land on the American continent is the grand old divide in Nicaragua, where the elevation is only 146 feet. The lowest point of land on the isthmus of Panama, according to the report of the canal commission, is Culebra, which is 333 feet above tide water, and is now the scene of active work by the Panama Canal Co.

Delagoa Bay, around which so much interest is just now centered, is the finest harbor in South Africa, and practically the key to the Transvaal. Its value to England, therefore, if they could number it among their possessions will be readily understood, for it would enable them to cut off the supply of Boer war stores with the Portuguese are allowing to pass through Lourenço Marques.

There is a submerged forest on the Columbia river between The Dalles and the Cascade mountains. The submerged forest took place 350 years ago, and since then the roots have been under water, while the upper parts of the trunks have been bared yearly at low water. The bark is gone, and the wood is partly wasted away, but some of it is firm and looks fresh. This fact seems owing to the durable quality of the wood, that species, namely, the pseudotsuga douglasii.

The crops of 1899 have not broken the record, but have approached it closely. The wheat crop was 547,303,846 bushels; barley, 73,351,653 bushels; rye, 23,961,741 bushels; buckwheat, 11,094,473 bushels; potatoes, 238,783,232 bushels; hay, 56,653,756 tons. The average farm prices reported were: Wheat, 54 cents; corn, 30 cents; oats, 24.9 cents. The figures of production, though exceeded once or twice before, are enormous, and show what a continent we possess.

Lieut. James Munro, 4th cavalry, is now famous for being successfully worked a gigantic "blow" on Gen. Conon and his garrison of 800 men at Bayombong, in the Philippines, when he secured the surrender of this town and garrison with but 50 men behind him, November 23. He is not much over five feet four inches in height. He is about 26 years of age. He comes of Scotch parents, who reside near Lake City, Minn., and are thrifty and good citizens. He won his West Point spurs by his own exertions.

Carbonic acid gas, says a medical authority, has the singular property of lessening the sense of hunger, and may probably be remembered in connection with cases of diabetes. The seat of hunger is found in the solar plexus. By the use of water charged with carbonic acid gas the branches of the solar plexus distributed through the mucous membrane of the stomach are influenced in such a way that the abnormal irritation of the plexus which is the foundation for the ravenous hunger often present in diabetes and certain forms of indigestion may be greatly mitigated, if not appeased.

Col. Michener recalls a remarkable combination which appeared in the United States court of Indiana, some years ago. Walter G. Gresham, the presiding judge, afterward became secretary of state. Benjamin Harrison, who prosecuted the case, afterward became president of the United States, while Thos. A. Hendricks, afterward vice president, Joseph E. McDonald and David Turpie, who afterwards became senators, were on the other side. That group, for distinction, was probably never surpassed in a single state; one president, one vice president, a secretary of state and two senators.

At the suggestion of Gen. Otis, military commander of the Philippine islands, the quartermaster's department of the army has adopted the full khaki uniform. This includes even the shirt. The wily Filipino has found the blue shirt of Uncle Sam's boys such a good target that the change will be made as quickly as possible. At the breaking out of the American-Spanish war the khaki cloth was not manufactured in America, but now American weavers can turn out as good, if not better, than the best made by European weavers.

A strange lake exists in the center of Sulphur Island, off New Zealand. It is 50 acres in extent, about 12 feet in depth and 15 feet above the level of the sea. The most remarkable characteristic of this lake is that the water contains vast quantities of hydrochloric and sulphuric acids, hissing and bubbling at a temperature of 110 degrees Fahrenheit. The dark green colored water looks particularly uninviting. Dense clouds of sulphuric fumes constantly roll off this boiling caldron, and care has to be exercised in approaching this lake.

BRITISH FALL BACK.

After Two Days of Hot Fighting They Withdraw to Rensburg.

Doubt as to Their Ability to Hold the Town—All Eyes Turned to Roberts' Movement in Direction of Kimberley.

London, Feb. 14.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Rensburg, dated Tuesday, says: "There has been hard fighting for two days near Colesburg, the Boers making strenuous efforts to outflank the British left. The Boers occupy strong positions from Achterberg, through Estontien, to a point five miles south of Jaarwater. The fighting at the outpost camps has been very severe during the last few days. Monday the Boers attacked the position of the Worcesters, to the southeast of Colesburg. Fighting continued all day, and after dark it was considered necessary to withdraw to Rensburg. Our losses are not yet known. On the left the West Australians, Wiltshires and Berkshires had not fought, but held their positions against the Boers. The Boers were withdrawing to get away with their stock.

NORTH DAKOTA NEWS

AWAITING DEATH.

Dr. J. E. Engstad, of Grand Forks, returned from a trip to Walsh county, where he was called by the authorities to pass upon a case of leprosy. For the past four years two men living 10 miles northwest of Edinburg, have been afflicted with leprosy. Of late a suspicion has been formed that one of the men was not afflicted with the dread disease, and to dispel any doubt Dr. Engstad was summoned.

After careful examination he decided that beyond question they were both lepers, though the older of the two, a Norwegian about 50 years of age, is in by far the worse condition of the two. The particular type of his disease is Leprosy Anæsthesica, and he is gradually wasting away, all but two fingers on one hand and one on the other having entirely disappeared and he is totally blind and in consequence practically helpless. The other leper is a Swede 37 years of age and is affected with Leprosy Tuberculosa, and the disease is not in an advanced stage as in the case of his companion. He still retains his sight and is strong and vigorous.

Time Expired.

On Saturday, Feb. 10th, the time limit expired in which the Great Sioux reservation in North Dakota was to be held in possession of the Indians. Under the treaty the lands were to be subject to entry in the ordinary way for ten years, and then those lands remaining undisposed of were to be taken possession of by the government on the expiration of the term. For this purpose the government is to pay 50 cents an acre and deposit the amount in a permanent fund of the tribe in the treasury. It will be some time before the amount due the Indians is ascertained, as the records will have to be searched for the purpose.

Captured.

A prisoner named Tandrup Saltvedt made his escape from the county jail, at Grafton, but was recaptured the next morning by Jacob Anderson at John McClelland's place five miles northwest of Grafton. Anderson went to McClelland's place on business and recognizing the escaped prisoner, told him to get into his rig and go back to Grafton. Saltvedt believing him to be an officer readily complied and soon he was again landed in jail. The man was being held here for a crime committed in Marshall County, Minnesota.

Want the Money.

The James River National Bank has brought injunctive proceedings against the county commissioners and treasurer restraining them from depositing any funds except in the county depository as designated by them a year ago. Attorney Ellsworth secured the order from Judge Gaspell while holding court at LaMoore and recently presented it to the proper county officials. It is understood that the county commissioners by their own action are restrained from appointing further county depositories.

Extending.

The Northwestern Telephone Exchange Company is preparing to begin work as soon as the weather will permit on the construction of extensions of its line from Larimore to Devils Lake and Devils Lake to Jamestown. Jamestown already has connection with Fargo and Fargo with Grand Forks and Larimore. The new lines will complete the circuit and will place most of the towns from the James river eastward in communication with each other.

A Ferris Wheel.

Jacob Plann and John Hogstad, of Jamestown, are building a Ferris wheel. The wheel will be built on the same general plan as that of the Chicago fair. There will be six arms, each arm carrying two cars. Each car will hold two persons, making a total capacity of the wheel 12 persons. An elevation of 25 feet will be reached when a car has reached the highest point. It is not stated whether or not this has any connection with the other wheels which revolve at Jamestown.

A Good Crop.

Last year Albert Hansen raised on his farm near Kensal 1,500 bushels of corn in the ear on 40 acres of land. Next year he will have 80 acres. Of the corn raised this year he sold about 100 bushels for seed and has used a great deal for feed. He thinks corn can be raised profitably in the James River valley.

State Payments.

State Auditor Carlborn says the state will be up to date with its payments in about 30 days. Payments of current expenses have been delayed a little because of the enforced payment of a considerable amount of funding warrants, but with the receipts from taxes, the general fund will be ready to meet back and current expenses soon.

MATTER OF DOUBT.

The Train Boy Knew People Pretty Well. But He Died at a Certain Coming.

"One day last fall," said a well-known Montana man, "I was riding on a train in my state and got to a pretty fair (seems with the train boy by buying a few of the things he had to sell. It was not a very formal kind of a train, and when the boy had finished his rounds he came over and sat with me and 'chin a bit,' as he said. I was willing enough, as he was a sharp lad and there was nobody else to talk to, and he went right at things.

Do you know, he said, 'that I can tell by looking at a man mightily near that he is. Now, there's that fellow over there in the corner; he's a Chicago drummer. I can tell him by the way he lets his money go and the dip style he has when he talks to people. And that chap over there with the silk hat on, he's a preacher from a country town, I'm dead sure, and I'll go ask him if you say so.

"I didn't say so, because I didn't care a continental, and the boy went on with his descriptions of the people on the train. At last I asked him what he thought I was. He had on a pretty flashy suit of light stuff and was thinking I was looking pretty well, so I was willing to risk the boy's venture. He looked me over for a full minute very carefully.

"Well," he said, at last, "you've got a lot of money, but I ain't dead sure whether you are a cattleman or a gambler."—Washington Star.

WIT AVERTED A STORM.

The Capital Device of a Congressman to Cool His Wife's Anger.

In the seclusion of the home cloakrooms a story is being told on a western member. There are 307 men in the house. Three hundred and fifty-six are hereby released from any connection with the story. The other mat—and the other mat—has been the truth of what went home at a very early hour in the morning. He knew that his conduct would be considered reprehensible by his better half, and so he acceded to the steps of his modest home he risked his brain for some plan to avert the lady's wrath. As he entered the hall he saw an umbrella. Instantly it occurred to him that the umbrella might be his salvation.

He carried the umbrella upstairs. Seating himself on a chair in the corner of the bedroom, he raised the rain guard over his head and then coughed loudly. His wife awoke and saw in the dim light her legs long sitting solemnly under the raised umbrella. "What are you doing?" she asked in natural surprise.

"It is three o'clock, my dear," said he, "and I am waiting for the storm."

The congressman's ready wit saved him from a Canning in the house. He was, however, to find an equally effective act for the next time he stays out late.—Washington Post.

A CAREFUL BRIDE.

She Didn't Give Hubby a Chance to Make Any Declaration of Devotion.

The happy pair had survived the congratulations of friends and relatives, and were being whirled rapidly towards the railway station, when the bride, who had been fairly to realize that the visit of lovelessness at his side was indeed his own.

"I am three o'clock, my dear," said he, "and I am waiting for the storm."

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

"Poor old Jones, the grocer, died early this morning," said the village doctor's daughter. "Hu!" exclaimed the local opinion-molder, "he's been dead for years."

"Just what I said," replied the v. e. "Any man in business who advertises is a dead one."—Chicago Evening News.

A STRANGE ANIMAL.

Terrified City Milkman—Good gracious! What's that? Mary, bring the gun, quick. There's a wild beast in the yard. Mary (who was in the country)—Why, you old silly, that's a cow. "You don't say so?"—Tit-Bits.

"Nature Abhors a Vacuum."

Nothing in the world stands still. If you are well and strong day by day, blood supplies its tide of vigor. If you are ill, the blood is wrong and carries increasing quantities of diseased germs. You cannot change Nature, but you can aid her by keeping the blood pure. Hood's Sarsaparilla does this as nothing else can. Be sure to get Hood's.
