

The Two Things Necessary to Possess a Bank Account

The first is the Desire or Inclination. Every one has a wish for money--it is human nature, for it takes money to possess the comforts and necessities of life.

The second requirement is One Dollar or more. The first deposit need not be large, and after the first money is deposited, you have a bank account.

The size of your bank account rests with you.

Halloween proved to be a big night for the kids Tuesday night. Wagons, signs and objects of all sorts littered the main street and sidewalks of the town the next morning. No material damage was done. Manager Turner, of the Electric Theatre, will remember the night longer than most for the reason that one of his well-laid plans went wrong. He has sign-boards scattered about town that he expected would be the prey of the kids. So he advertised that he had a job for twenty-five youngsters. They came to the show and were admitted free. In the middle of the performance Mr. Turner asked that those boys who had been admitted free act as a sort of detective force to see his signs were not damaged, and that all who were willing to do so could remain for the entire performance. Every one of the young hopefuls—walked out. However, only one or two of the signs were bothered.

SHOWIN' HIM UP!

The Farmer of North Dakota can read, Mr. McCumber; you can not cover up your past record with oratory and photographs.

WE JUDGE MEN BY THEIR PAST RECORDS

Carefully study over the record of Porter J. McCumber, who is asking the voters of North Dakota to send him back to Washington as Senator from this state. His record shows that he has always voted in the interests of Big Biz.

Compare this record with the record of Honest John Burke, with which the voters of North Dakota are familiar. WHO DO YOU THINK COULD BEST REPRESENT THE INTERESTS OF THE FARMERS OF NORTH DAKOTA?

VOTE FOR HONEST JOHN BURKE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR ON NOV. 7, 1916.

CITIZENS OF NORTH DAKOTA!

It is now eighteen years since McCumber first went to the senate. He owed his entry in North Dakota politics to Alexander McKenzie, agent of the railroads and loss of the state. His record in the senate from the day he entered it eighteen years ago, is a record of subservience to vicious interests that have controlled our government.

When Lorimer was on trial before the senate for the most notorious election frauds in the history of American politics, when the lumber trust and all its allied interests were seeking to prevent his expulsion from the senate, it was McCumber of North Dakota who obeyed the call of the system and shamed his state with a vote for Lorimer.

When the steel trust feared congressional investigation, it was McCumber, errand boy of the railroads of the Northwest, who rushed to its defense.

When the income tax in the most just and equitable tax law ever enacted by congress, was up for reconsideration in the senate, McCumber voted against it and thereby earned the plaudits of every tax-dodging wealthy interest of the nation.

When the fight was on to free American industry and American business from the domination of Wall Street, by the enactment of the Federal Reserve bank act, McCumber voted against the act and left the door wide open for the money kings.

When congress sought to unlock the resources of Alaska by building a government railroad in the far north, McCumber voted to keep the grip of monopoly on the nation's storehouse of treasure.

When, in the last session of congress, the nation stood face to face with a railroad strike which would have choked every outlet for farm products and imperiled the welfare of one hundred million people, McCumber, unfaithful of his duty to those he represented, hostile to the interests of labor and the rights of workmen, voted with the reactionary senators who preferred to force a national strike with all its immediate disastrous consequences.

When the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis for member of the supreme court was up for confirmation, McCumber was paired against him, joining with the interests in keeping a friend of the people off the bench.

And so the record goes on and on. This record of McCumber, ceaseless and persistent for eighteen years in obedience to vicious interests, should be closed forever by an overwhelming mandate of the voters of North Dakota whom he has so long deceived and wronged. Fortunate, indeed, if that true friend of the people, JOHN BURKE, is chosen United States senator on NOV. 7.
