Fuel Costs $46 a Ton in the Loon Creek District, Custer County

A bulletin issued by the United States geological survey says: There is one town in the west where fuel (coke) costs $46 a ton. This is Ivers, Idaho, the principal coal settlement in the Loon Creek mining district. This high price, however, is due to the long haul by wagon from Mackay, the nearest railroad point, 116 miles distant. The route is difficult because of two high summits which must be crossed in addition to a 3-mile climb. The cost of haulage is 2 1/2 cents a pound for the round trip. When a load can be taken each way this is split into 1 1/2 cents in and 1 cent out.

The Loon Creek district comprises an area of perhaps 75 square miles situated in the northwestern part of Custer county, Idaho. Placers which are variously estimated to have produced from $500,000 to $2,000,000 in gold were worked actively on Loon creek during the decade closing with 1875. Most of the white men in the camp, left the creek in the middle seventies, but 30 or 40 Chinamen remained. In 1879 all of these were massacred save one, who escaped on snowshoes. At that time it was commonly supposed that Indians prevented the deed, but now it is the prevalent opinion that white men were guilty. Since then steadily. Muscovado, $9 test, $2.87; centrifugal, 96 test, $4.17; molasses sugar, $9 test, $2.42. Refined, steady. Coffee—No. 7, $14.75. Future, barely steady; December, $13.92; March, $14.02.
