SOCIETY

Arrow Rock Party.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Paul at Arrow Rock was the scene of a delightful party on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Paul entertained a number of the ladies of the camp in honor of her house guest, Miss Mabel Burgess of Northville, Mich., and of Mrs. E. W. Greene of Princeton, Ill., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Alfred B. Mayhew.

The parlors were prettily decorated with sweet peas and asters from the hostess' garden, one of the several which has called forth much admiration from summer tourists. A number of domestic articles, numbered and placed on tables and mantle, was the basis for a clever guessing game which was the occasion of much merriment. The guests proved to be keen of perception and more than a baker's dozen completed correct lists. In drawing for the prize, the lucky number 13, fell to Mrs. McFadden. The guests of honor were each presented with a large picture of the camp. Delicious refreshments were daintily served by the hostess, assisted by the Misses Elsie Jones, Juanita Hedden, Mrs. Mayhew and Mrs. Gregory.

Besides the guests of honor those invited were Mrs. Rapier R. Cophlan, of Elephant Butte, N. M., Mrs. James Munn, Mrs. A. B. Mayhew, Mrs. T. W. Upde Graff, Mrs. R. V. Saas, Mrs. Charles Hansing, Mrs. J. A. Beemer, Mrs. W. B. Jones, Mrs. John Steadman, Mrs. L. L. Steadman, Mrs. E. Hull, Mrs. J. B. Bidwell, Mrs. C. W. Bidwell, Mrs. J. S. Hamilton, Mrs. E. L. Ballard, Mrs. A. C. Hedden, Mrs. M. J. Dunsworth, Mrs. Olive Ten Eyck, Mrs. nesday evening listened to an excellent Mrs. M. G. Arnott, Mrs. Charles Holden, Mrs. G. N. Couenhoven, Mrs. A. S. Brown, Mrs. Earl Vandeventer, Mrs. F. E. Menaugh, Mrs. Ben Engle, Mrs. C. N. Gregory, Mrs. Joe Butler, Mrs. W. B. Ross, Mrs. R. D. Williams, Mrs. D. W. McFadden; Misses Johanna Waldin, Elsie Jones and Juanita Hedden and Mrs. Joe Witter of Louisville, Kan., Athenian Literary Society.

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the opening meeting of the Athenian Literary society last Wednesday evening listened to an excellent literary program given by students of the high school. An unusually large gathering of students, teachers and people of the city who take an interest in this lyceum organization well filled the high school auditorium. This was the first meeting of the school year and was characterized by a fine spirit and enthusiasm on the part of its members.

The newly elected president of the organization, Miss Grace Sensing, called the meeting to order and presided over the program, every number of which was interesting and well prepared. The musical numbers were unusual and varied, consisting of a piano solo by Miss Marie Cain, a violin selection by Miss Myrtle Sensing, and a vocal duet by Misses Elta Wagner and Marie Johnston.

A very humorous reading was "The September Gale," which was read by John Kendall. Misses Grace Roberts and Beryl Code gave an amusing child-study dialogue in an excellent manner. William Balderston, the president of the Student Body, spoke upon current events. Charlotte Bartlett made an interesting talk upon "School Boosters," and Arthur Lyon gave a brief sketch upon the life and work of Victor Hugo.

"Why Does a Bee Buzz?" was the subject of an amusing extemporaneous talk by Harry Christian, the newly elect captain of the debate team for this year. Joyce Kendall, a post-graduate, extemporized fluently upon the subject, "Why is the Sky Blue?"

The business of the organization being then taken up, many new names were proposed for membership.

The Athenian Literary society is one of the strong, wide-awake student organizations in the high school. Its purpose is to train students in the ability to face and address an audience. Public programs are given every two weeks. It is planned to give many strong debates, readings, declamations, musical numbers, orations and perhaps mock trials this semester. Selections on the new high school victrolas will form attractive numbers on many programs.

The work of the organization is under the excellent direction of Miss Margaret B. McCallie, head of the department of public speaking in the high school.

Pretty Party. Mrs. Harry Chambers entertained Friday for Miss Chambers of Ohio, who has been spending the summer with her. The decorations of late summer flowers were very lovely, consisting of fragrant roses, clematis, cactus, dahlias and autumn foliage.

Games were played, prizes being won by Mrs. Broxon and Mrs. Bartlett. Delicious refreshments were served.

Formal Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shriver entertained at a formal dinner of 14 covers Friday evening in honor of Miss Snyder of New York, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Kerr, for some time. The banquet table was very beautiful with a Japanese basket of red verbenas for a centerpiece and sprays of smilax and verbenas festooned about the cloth. An elaborate eight-course dinner was served and merry toasts responded to. After dinner the floor was cleared and dancing and music enjoyed. Miss Carley pleased the other guests with several delightful songs. The girls were beautifully gowned, the commodious Shriver home making a handsome setting for their dainty prettiness. Miss Snyder has become a very popular visitor and many regrets are felt over her contemplated return to her eastern home. She has been the recipient of many social courtesies during the past few weeks. The following were seated about the table: Misses Snyder, Procter, Carley, Page, Korts and Murray; Messrs. Jenkins, Adelman, Kerr, Carley, Mauer, Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs.

Shriver.

Dancing Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore gave a little dance on Friday evening complimenting Miss Conger of Chicago. Roses formed a pretty decoration. About 30 guests enjoyed the evening.

Columbian Club Reception.

The Columbian club, through its very efficient program committee, Miss Irvin, chairman, opened the doors of its new quarters on Franklin street Thursday evening to members and guests with a brilliant reception which called together a delightful company of people. The club rooms were decorated with exquisite taste in yellow and white (the federation colors) and in the rich flowers and foliage peculiar to the autumn months. The table presided over by Mrs. S. D. Taylor and Mrs. Harry Wyman was wonderfully pretty with its artistic decorations of flowers and vines. Pretty girls, charmingly gowned served ices and cake. Sceldom has the club enjoyed a more delightful evening.

The receiving line was composed of the officers of the club, Miss Roberts, president, and honored guests, some of whom were among the first members of the club. The older members were especially delighted to greet Mrs. Boomer, who is so closely identified with Boise's history. Altogether the evening was a charming success.

Mrs. Eugene Henle will not observe her day at home on Tuesday during fair week.

Mrs. C. A. Carter will not observe her day at home, Tuesday, this week.

A new studio has just been opened in the Finney building by Miss Alice May Carley, concert singer and vocal teacher. She has just had installed a beautiful Baldwin Art grand piano. This instrument is the exact scale and has the same rich singing quality and wonderful tone shading as the one purchased by Mrs. Taft and used by her in the famous musicals at the White House.

Society Personals.

Mrs. Hyatt and her sister, Mrs. Hermon, left Wednesday for Pocatello for a visit with their sister, Mrs. Bartlett. Mrs. Hermon goes on to her father's home in Calgary, Alberta, and Mrs. Hyatt will visit for a week in Pocatello.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gratz have returned from Philadelphia.
