FOREIGNERS OPEN FIRE ON GUARDS AT BINGHAM MINE

yo...lligs SHRD L RH R HRHRE Bingham, Utah, Oct. 25.—Cretan miners, entrenched near the United States mine, opened fire on a detachment of guards this morning.

In the storm of bullets which followed the first volley, Fred Harmon, foreman of the United States Mining company's tramway, was struck in the right leg by a glancing bullet.

Sixteen guards rushed to the scene as Lidwell fled, and immediately opened a quick fire on the Cretans, who fled to the hills.

The blowing of the whistle for the men to go to work at the mine was the signal for the fire on the part of the Cretans, who were entrenched in the hills across the gulch from the mines.

Sheriff Joseph C. Sharp was notified of the outbreak and hurried to the scene immediately, with half a dozen deputy sheriffs from Salt Lake City.

Running in front of a Boise Valley car just as it was pulling out of Nampa and before the motorman could shut off the power and bring the car to a standstill, a 6-year-old boy, whose name could not be ascertained at a late hour this afternoon, was killed, his skull being crushed.

The report of the killing was made at the headquarters of the company in this city by the agent stationed at Nampa. The accident is said to have been unavoidable.

The city council yesterday afternoon postponed action on letting the contract for flushing the city sewers until Thursday, Oct. 31, upon request of the water companies, neither of which wished to submit bids under the present specifications.

A petition was presented asking the council to amend the building ordinance prohibiting tents in the inner fire limits owing to their endangering the fire risk. The matter was referred to the commissioner on public safety.

The apparatus from the Central fire station was called to the Starling new house last evening, but no service was needed as the supposed fire, which caused the turning in of an alarm, was only the burning out of a fuse.

J. L. Brown has taken out a permit to build a brick veneer residence on Idaho street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, which will cost $3000.

S. L. Hodgins, United States marshal, has been sent back to Boise from the Pocatello term of court to notify the members of the jury summoned for the term here not to appear in court until Oct. 30 instead of Oct. 28 as the work at Pocatello will not be through until that time.

Dr. George E. Paddock, of Portland, formerly pastor of the Congregational church here, is spending a few days in the city.

Floral houses report exceptional heavy sales of bulbs this fall, the purchases being the heaviest during the past week, and indications are that a large number of property owners will have beautiful yards next spring.

The irrigation engineers in session here listened to an address on the reclamation of the west by Frederick H. Newell, the director of the service, at the Commercial club last night.

The first practice this fall of the Boise Symphony orchestra was held last night at the office of the director, Professor C. O. Breach.

Clarence Bligg, who was arrested on the charge of burglary, was dismissed by Judge Gardner Adams this afternoon. The specific charge against him was the stealing of a shot gun from a residence on the bench during fair week.

J. M. Hoover was fined $25 and

ORDINANCES FOR THE REGULATION OF DANCE HALLS

If dance halls are not conducted properly in the city in the future they will be closed by the council as two ordinances, introduced yesterday, will likely be passed at the next meeting.

The ordinance requires that such dances as the "Grizzly Bear," the "Bunny Hug" and "Turkey Trot," which have been popular in the past, must cease.

An ordinance was also introduced prohibiting the visiting of houses of prostitution after "unreasonable hours," which the council agreed to pass.

The ordinance has been under consideration for some time and, after an investigation, it is likely that it will pass under a suspension of rules at the next session.

Facts and Figures

Political Pointers for Idaho Taxpayers.

Since Governor Hawley boldly asserted that he would remove from office any assessor who would not assess at full cash value, he has been prostrated with political motor axai, or some acute anti-nerve disorder, as evidenced by his failure to have the Canyon county assessor raise the assessment of the Dewey power plant at Nampa, which was assessed for $100,000, reduced to $25,000 and afterwards sold for $225,000, and still remains assessed at $25,000, with the governor's knowledge and apparent approval.

If elected governor, Haines would not doubt display his alleged "business ability" and be governed by the eternal fitness of the opportunity of appointing his former business associates as members of his "business administration." Barney O'Neil as warden of the penitentiary; Cramer as bank examiner, and Bob Lanndon, with his valuable record as assessor of Washington county, as tax commissioner.

Every farmer in Idaho should ask Governor Hawley and Secretary of State Gifford, present members of the board of equalization, who are up for re-election, the same question as was asked by a farmer the other day when he asked, "Why is the assessment on the Dewey plant at Nampa reduced from $100,000 to $25,000, and the assessment on the Boise interurban electric line reduced from $80,000 to less than one-half that amount, and even at a lower amount than the company voluntarily agreed to put it in at, while the assessed value of my farm, stock and machinery has been raised?"

The Dally Statesman's support of Johnnie Haines, is based solely on his being a business man. They do not take the voters into their confidence, as to which of the 57 varieties Johnnie belongs, but from evidence at hand he must be a "dill," at least the records show he soured on the Idaho State Life, and salted the stockholders.

Secretary of State Gifford asks for re-election on his business record and efficiency. He does not cite specific instances, however, but certainly does not refer to his vote with Treasurer Allen, in awarding Mr. Allen's furniture company the contract for furniture in the state capitol, in the face of an offer from another company to duplicate the material furnished at a saving of some $20,000 to the state and tax payers.

That $1500 of state money Governor Hawley spent on his trips to San Francisco is but another evidence of the high cost of living in Idaho.

The governor, after vetoing most all the moral laws passed by the last legislature is now trying to square himself with Idaho women, by promising them anything they ask. Makes lots of difference whether it is before or after election.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Uncle Josh Perkins."

New York with its cabaret entertainers has never been better entertained than those who have seen the remarkable specialties which have been introduced in the production of "Uncle Josh Perkins" which comes to the Pinney tomorrow matinee and night and Monday night for a return engagement.

Uncle Josh Perkins is one of the immortal characters of the American stage. Like "Rip Van Winkle" he is a persistent annual visitor who lends wholesomeness, character and interest to the stage of today, as he compelled attention in the theater of yesterday.

No rural play of this or past decades contained so universally a popular story or taught so beneficial a moral. And with it all, the play is replete with comedy situations adroitly blended in the development of its story.

This season "Uncle Josh Perkins" will be interpreted by the most important cast of players ever assembled and is enhanced by an elaborate scenic production.

Judge Dunbar this morning issued an order of commitment to the state insane asylum at Blackfoot for Charles Watson.

Phenomenal Baritone of Lew Dockstader's Minstrels

In offering "Ain't You Glad You've Come Home Mary" as a song supplement, music lovers will be delighted to receive a composition of such wide popularity, and so much worth in sentiment and tone.

Mr. Roy La Pearl, the phenomenal baritone of Lew Dockstader's Minstrel Company, delights in songs of this sort, and to hear his rendition of a descriptive ballad is an occasion long to be remembered. Mr. La Pearl has a voice of tremendous volume, and far reaching power, combined with unusual sweetness. He has accomplished some wonderful feats in the way of long distance singing. In fact, he has sung from the roof of the Times Square Building in Long Acre Square, so that his voice was distinctly heard above the roar of the adjacent traffic in the streets below, and has been in similar positions in other large cities, singing from the roofs of sky scrapers—and at each occasion, he has received the praise and plaudits of the assembled throngs.

A song like "Ain't You Glad You've Come Home Mary" shows Mr. La Pearl's voice to the very best advantage, and it is needless to say that this song supplement will be eagerly awaited, and find a prominent place in the volume of all our readers who preserve this sheet music.
