

DUBOIS' FRIENDS AND ENEMIES ARE BOTH VERY ACTIVE

Governor Hawley Besieged With Visitors in Regard to the Recess Senatorial Appointment.

Governor Hawley's apartments in the new state capitol building were the scene of pronounced activity yesterday, for party leaders were coming and going practically the entire day, arriving hurriedly at the executive chambers to hold conferences with the governor, and departing quietly shortly afterwards while others took their places. The activity was over the senatorial appointment the governor is called upon to make to fill the recess vacancy caused by the death of the late Weldon B. Heburn.

Great pressure is being brought to bear on the governor to appoint ex-United States Senator Fred T. Dubois, and equally as great pressure was used to prevent him from doing so and to secure the appointment of a north Idaho Democrat. It was rumored today that the north Idaho man might be selected after all. The most prominent candidates are Frank R. Moore of Moscow and ex-United States Senator Helms of Lewiston.

The fact that Idaho appears to have gone Democratic so far as the president is concerned is now said to have something to do with the meditations of the governor. While the Mormons did not assist in making this possible, but instead did everything possible to prevent it still the vote of the south-east is said to have its political significance.

If the friends of Dubois can secure his appointment they certainly lost no time in urging their claims with the governor, judging from the number of them seen about the executive chambers yesterday.

A Good Opposition Member.

When a new member of the Irish house of commons made his first speech, Sir William Osborne asked who he was; and being told, he replied: "Well, I think he will do. If the opposition have enlisted him, they are perfectly in the right, for he seems to have the finest face for a grievance of any man I ever beheld."

SOUTH BOISE.

The Village Improvement society was entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. W. Hart, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. G. D. Scott acting as hostesses. The subject for discussion was the Panama Canal. Articles relating to this topic were read by Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Bruce and Mrs. Peters. Refreshments were afterward served. It was decided to change the day of meeting from the first Thursday to the first Friday of each month. At its next meeting the society will be entertained by Mrs. Kroeger and Mrs. Quast at the home of the former.

Misses Esther and May Wyman of Adams, Neb., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eberhart at their home on Vermont avenue. They will be joined next week by their parents. The visiting family intends to remain in Idaho for about a year.

Miss Julia Felthousen has gone to fill the position of school teacher which has been offered her. Her school is situated about eight miles from Boise on the Mountain Home road.

The village board of trustees met Tuesday evening. Three hundred dollars was appropriated for the purpose of grading Chamberlain avenue for the new electric line.

The Friendly Sewing circle met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Dick. An enjoyable time was spent with fancy work and in conversation. Dainty refreshments were served.

The Women's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church will hold its annual praise meeting Sunday evening. Mrs. Barton will speak on "China's New Day." Mrs. Sherman will also give a talk, taking the home work as her subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roe will entertain the Outlook club at their home Monday evening.

Rev. Wilbur of Caldwell was the guest of Rev. Quickenden for a short time Saturday morning. Mr. Wilbur is on his way to Mayfield, where he intends to organize a church.

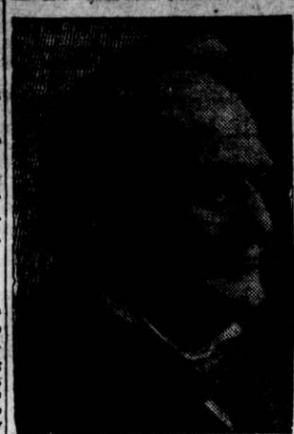

Letters of a Slim-Made Woman to Her Fat Sister

Seventh Letter: On the Fat Woman's Thimble-of-Water Bath.

Dear Sis:—Just out of the bath—invigorated—glowing and hungrily awaiting the dinner—going with the appetite and digestion of a stevedore. And such a bath as I had—you remember that before I took off of 30 pounds excess weight there used to be a tubful-of-me-and-a-bucket-of-water and that I had to put myself through several "rinsings" to get rid of the excess soap.

You know, sis, what a daily misery—and necessity—bathing used to be when I was fat. But now that I have gotten rid of that "excess displacement"—I changed my name from "Ava Du Pois" to "Symmetrical Betty." I cannot only take a real bath in real water, but can wash my own back.

Dr. Hartman Answers Some Letters

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

S. B. Hartman, M. D., Columbus, Ohio, known all over the world, probably has the largest correspondence of any doctor in this country. He has a corps of trained assistants to dispose of the letters received each day. Of course, the doctor cannot personally answer all of these letters, but other doctors in his employ for over twenty-five years attend to the details. Occasionally, however, a letter is brought to the doctor himself for answer. A few of the letters answered personally by Dr. Hartman in his regular correspondence are given below as samples of the letters he is answering every day. The names and addresses of the writers of these letters, of course, are withheld, as the doctor treats all professional correspondence with him as strictly confidential. No one need fear that his name or address will be used when writing to Dr. Hartman.

A MOTHER:—I have raised several children, and during the time when milk was their principal diet I have had trouble to keep their bowels regular. Constipation has been the only serious difficulty I have had to contend with. What do you suggest as a remedy for a child three years old that is continually constipated?

I believe my remedy Manalin is adapted to your wants exactly. To be sure, there are several other remedies for constipation, especially prepared for children, advertised. I am sure, however, that Manalin is just as good as any other remedy on the market, just as palatable, just as effective, and a bottle of Manalin contains two or three times as much medicine as the usual bottle of laxative for babies. In these days of high cost of living the price of a medicine is worth looking after. Manalin can be obtained at any drug store.

A YOUNG MAN:—I have a letter from a young man who is apparently the victim of blood poison in its worst form. He is afflicted with deep seated ulcers, has taken the usual remedies from doctors, both patent medicines and regular doctor's prescriptions. He writes me:

Dear Doctor Hartman: Is there anything I can do? Must I be eaten up alive with the awful ulcers that I have brought on myself by dissolute living? I can get no relief from doctors or drugs.

To this I made reply: Dear Sir: I would send to the drug store at once and get a bottle of Laecupia. Begin by taking a tablespoonful after each meal and at bedtime. Continue this for one month, without interruption, and then write me and I will give you further advice. As to your diet, I would suggest the use of one fresh, raw vegetable every day, such as lettuce, celery, onion, radishes or the like. Also, use meat very sparingly, if at all. Fresh buttermilk with at least one meal a day. You can eat fish as freely as you like.

A YOUNG LADY:—A young lady writes: I have pimples on my face and shoulders, especially in the spring of the year, but more or less all the time. Sometimes a few blackheads will form, but mostly the pimples are large and red. Is there anything I can do to get rid of them?

Dear Madam: You should do everything possible to regulate the organic functions of your body. The bowels should be kept regular. The diet should consist largely of fresh raw vegetables, fruits and outdoor exercise should be taken every day. Everything that worries or frets the mind should be strictly avoided. If you will follow this for one month and take a tablespoonful of Peruna before each meal, you may then write me again and I will give you further advice. I prefer not to recommend any local treatment for the pimples until after you have followed this advice for one month.

AN OLD MAN:—An elderly gentleman writes me:

Dear Doctor Hartman: I know how strong and well you are, although you are much older than I am. I envy you your magnificent health. Do you have any special system of physical culture to ward off old age? I am ten years younger than you are, and yet I am comparatively broken down by old age. What would you advise me to do?

My Dear Sir: I do not teach any system of physical culture. The only physical culture I believe in is to have something to do every day that calls into play both the mental and physical powers. Something that you are interested in. Something you believe in. Eat frugally. At your age use meat sparingly. Make no use of narcotics of any sort. Drink cold water freely, and if you wish to do exactly as I do, keep a bottle of Peruna in the house all the time. At the slightest appearance of cold, or sneezing, or cough, chill, or stomach derangement, take a dose of Peruna before each meal for a few days until the symptoms disappear. Also use the cold water towel bath every morning, described in the Ills of Life, sent gratis.

FROM A DOCTOR:—A doctor writes me as to the remedy Katarno: I have been reading your articles in the newspapers lately and I see that you are putting up the old-time Peruna under a new name. While the old-time Peruna was in its glory, I used to prescribe it frequently for my patients. But since the change made in the formula in which a laxative was added, I have not been certain whether I had better prescribe it or not. I am anxious, however, to prescribe Katarno for I believe it to be one of the best tonics I ever knew of. In doing this can I send my patients to the drug store, or must they go to McDonald-Steupe Co., as indicated in your letter?

My Dear Doctor:—All wholesale druggists keep Katarno. Any retailer who does not keep it in stock could easily get it of them. If for any reason your patients cannot get Katarno of the druggists they should address The Katarno Company, Columbus, Ohio. Peruna, Manalin and Laecupia manufactured by the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores.

SPECIAL NOTICE:—Many persons inquire for The Old-time Peruna. They want the Peruna that their Fathers and Mothers used to take. The old Peruna is now called Katarno. If your druggist or dealer does not keep it for sale write the Katarno Company, Columbus, Ohio, and they will tell you all about it.

DELEGATES APPOINTED TO THE MINING CONGRESS

Yesterday afternoon Mayor Arthur Hodges appointed A. E. Carlson and Jay Cizek delegates to represent Boise at the American Mining Congress which meets at Spokane, Nov. 25 to 29 inclusive. In asking the mayor to appoint delegates to this convention, his attention was called to the important matters to come before the body, especially the proposed policy of the federal government regarding the disposal of public lands. It is cited that the government is now leasing the coal lands in Wyoming, and expresses fear that the agricultural lands will also be leased, and suggests that every western district should be represented and have a voice in framing a plan of campaign that will aid in the development of the western country.

COMMERCIAL CLUBS OF ENTIRE STATE TO HAVE ORGANIZATION

Every commercial organization in the state will be represented in a new league known as the "Idaho State League of Commercial Bodies." The constitution and by-laws of the new league are now being printed and will be sent to the secretaries of each of the clubs of the state. While southern Idaho now has an organization, the League of Southern Idaho Commercial Clubs, the plan is to include every club and chamber of commerce inside of the state lines.

The purpose is industrial development. The league plans to unite all of the organizations into a working force for the general betterment and development of the state and its resources and has already called a meeting of its board of directors for Boise, Nov. 14. The plan was decided upon at the meeting of the development congress here last September.

The first board will consist of Dean W. L. Carls of the university, W. L. Hasbrouck of Caldwell, E. H. LaVine of Coeur d'Alene, Rolly Atkinson of Boise, R. B. Greenwood of American Falls and Leo J. Falk of Boise.

HAINES WANTS THE PARTY KEPT PURE

Declares That Republicans in Idaho Will Not Recognize Bull Moosers.

Flushed with a victory secured through practically the solid signed, sealed and delivered vote of seven Mormon counties in the southeast, making his election possible in face of the fact 19 or 20 other counties in the state stood opposed to him, one of which, Ada, gave him a majority in but two of its 36 precincts, John M. Haines, governor-elect of Idaho, declared while in Portland Thursday, that he proposed to continue the Republican party in all its purity in Idaho and fight the future battles along the same lines as in the past.

The Oregonian under date of Nov. 8 says: With language as vigorous as he could command, Governor-elect John M. Haines of Idaho scored the Bull Moose party of the country and especially of Idaho, while in Portland yesterday afternoon for a few hours, attributing to its members a deliberate attempt to wreck the Republican party.

"We Republicans of Idaho," he said, at the Portland hotel, "will no longer recognize the so-called Progressives as belonging to or being even an adjunct to our party. The balance of the country may do as it pleases, but in Idaho we propose to continue the Republican party in all its purity and fight our battles along the same lines as in the past."

"My own campaign as the Republican nominee for governor of Idaho has been a strenuous one, and I have been practically doing nothing for the past nine months except mixing in politics. The primary campaign was so close that a decision of the courts was necessary, and I won by only 15 votes."

"In my campaign I never varied from requesting the voters to stand by the regular nominees from Taft to the constable of each district, and that was the way I voted. What is the matter with this country? It looks as if prosperity is not agreeable and hard times are wanted."

Mr. Haines went through to California last night to rest for a few weeks after his arduous work.

NOTICE I will not be responsible for any bills contracted in my name after this date without my consent in person. (Signed) H. G. Smith. N-14c-Adv.

MAY CLOSE ENTRANCE TO STATE HOUSE

Shall the grade floor State street entrance of the new state capitol building be bricked up and closed providing only for the use of the front entrances of the building, or shall it be left open for the convenience and general use of state officials, attaches and the public? This is the question that is causing some little attention at the state house.

At the present time the State street entrance to the handsome new building is open. It is the only entrance to the building from State street. According to the plans said to be under way this entrance may be bricked up and closed, providing for a blind hallway to be used in connection with the state library now located on the ground floor on both sides of the hall. By closing the entrance the hallway can be used as a general office or reading room in connection with the library.

Many state officials, employees, attaches and the public who have heard of the proposed plan are objecting most strenuously to it. They declare that to close the entrance means that only the front entrance to the building can be used, causing many extra steps, no little inconvenience and that it is unnecessary and uncalled for. They insist that the entrance be left open.

The public is said to be interested because the closing of the State street entrance means a great inconvenience to people passing in and out, as well as going to and from the state capitol on business. The issue is one that seems to be clearly up to the capitol building commission.

Dentist, Dr. Carpenter, Idaho Bldg. Telltale Marks. (From Judge)

A man who had been reading the details of a sensational criminal trial in his evening paper turned to his wife and said: "Do you take any stock in this finger print theory?"

"Well," she replied, with a laugh, "I can generally always detect our Willie that way when he has been stealing the jam."

Nothing New Under the Sun. "My dear," said Adam, as he and Eve were discussing the fall fashions in the Garden of Eden, "which system of dressmaking do you favor?"

"Well," replied Eve thoughtfully, "they all have their merits, but the loose-leaf system is good enough for me."

Transportation In New York City Is Both Modern and Antequated

New York, Nov. 9.—In this, the babel of incongruities, there is nothing more cosmopolitan than the transportation systems that daily move New York's millions to their work or play.

Horse cars and subway express; one horse shays and taxicabs; motor-driven streets cars and double deck auto buses; the elevated and the ferries—all of them weave over and under the earth and water, always, it seems, crowded to the capacities, with the throngs that never diminish.

On Broadway, the most famous of all main streets, the wayfarer dodging a clanging auto bus, a few street cars, and a fleet of bloodthirsty taxicabs, may from a safe vantage point, watch a dilapidated horse car trail by. The driver, chewing vociferously, urges his bedraggled steeds down the black canyon of a cross town street, beneath the mighty iron archway of the elevated road. From underneath there comes a breath of fetid air, rising through iron gratings as the subway express plunges through its great hole underneath New York.

Down Broadway, there flits in rapid succession, the steeple car, a low, torpedo bodied affair, that has center entrances, and was put into service with the hobble skirt. The Interborough copany found it was losing fares, because the women could not, with safety, mount the steps of the ordinary street car. Behind the steeple car swinging clumsily along, there comes the "double decker" car, reminiscent of the old English trolley, and the present English bus. It has a row of seats on top, and an enclosed lower body. This auto buses, that ply everywhere are built on similar lines.

Here and there in New York, where the streets are too narrow, or where the franchise does not allow of laying a cable, the street cars are run like "my lady's" electric brougham, with storage motors. They lug their silent way along, and they are proving an excellent investment.

Sneer at Difficulties. The elevated roads, the first advance over surface transportation, in New York, sneer at little difficulties. Where the streets over which they pass, descend at an acute angle, the road keeps right on, high up in the air. Out at the Polo grounds, at 110th street, and several other points, passengers rise from the street and descend either by elevator or moving stairways. Expresses that stop only once every five miles or so, help relieve the morning, noon and night congestion. Rushing along at 30 miles an hour, they fairly tear their way over the city.

The subways, New York's pride and curse carry millions every day. Express trains, that run a minute apart, of 7 to 11 cars each, are always crowded. At night the jam is unpeakable. During October the subway alone carried 20,000,000 people, an average of 1,000,000 daily. Despite the foul air, and inconveniences, their speed makes for their success.

The Hudson tubes that pierce their way under the great river to the Jersey shore, make the trip in three minutes, starting from the main Manhattan station. The tubes, since beginning operations, have made it possible for the commuter to live out where there is some green and some fresh air.

Solve Engineering Problems.

Little things like engineering feats never stop construction experts in their effort to solve New York's problem. Subways now burrow the Hudson and East river; they plunge under skyscrapers and their stations for Manhattan, Brooklyn and Jersey. Passengers are hurled under the earth in the street entrances of great buildings or underneath them. The passageways to the train platform have their stores and newsstands, and there are subway depots in all the big downtown department stores.

Today construction on a third subway is going on, underneath Broadway. The present up and down town subway, while it clings near the big street, runs in an almost straight line, and at its farthest point is about five blocks away.

On Fifth avenue and along Riverside drive, where street cars are "too vulgar" to be allowed, the auto buses hold sway. The fare is double the ordinary street car charge, but the buses do an enormous business. Nearly every day, a new firm puts a new variety of bus into the field. In addition to these year around methods of conveyance, the boats plying up the Hudson do a big business in summer. They carry thousands every morning and night up the river and down again, for a small charge, docking at every mile. The Hudson cuts a straight line along Manhattan its entire length, beginning at its sea girt end.

Nobody knows how many taxicabs there are in New York, except the license inspector, and he believes it's somewhere near 100,000. At present New York is struggling hopelessly to get cheaper taxi rates. Today the man who enters a taxicab, generally risks having to pawn his valuables. The uptown streets, besides their public conveyances, are always a dense mass of automobiles, carriages, landaus, two-wheel cabriolets and equipages of unnameable foreign and domestic architecture. Nobody walks in New York. If they do, they do it for exercise, in Bronx park, Central park,

Piles, Fistula And Other Rectal Diseases

CURED BY A MILD, SAFE AND PERMANENT OFFICE TREATMENT.

VARICOCELE impairs vitality. I daily demonstrate that varicose veins can be cured in nearly all cases by one treatment, in such a satisfactory way that the vital parts are preserved and strengthened, pain ceases, swelling subsides, a healthy circulation is rapidly re-established, instead of the depressing conditions. I guarantee you a cure.

HYDROCELE results from injury and is sometimes difficult to distinguish from rupture or varicose. The remedy I use for curing Hydrocele completely obliterates the tumor at once, and by the use of my treatment for a few days not a sign or symptom of the disease reappears.

SALVARSAN, or "606," FOR BLOOD DISORDERS. I use Prof. Ehrlich's wonderful new discovery, "606," in case of blood disorders. It is the greatest marvel of medical science. This new remedy has been used in thousands of cases. Let me explain it to you.

NERVOUS DISORDERS AND THEIR WORKING RESULTS.

It should be remembered that neurasthenia and nervous debility is essentially a chronic malady that its development often is rapid, as its advent is insidious, and that the final recognition of its presence may occur only after weeks and months of its existence, after the entire nervous system has become involved. The individual may have been enjoying normal health for some time. Suddenly he manifests a strange, unaccounted disposition—is peevish, a prey to unreasoning fears, loses sleep and appetite, is listless and distracted, perhaps indifferent in his family relations, and evidently a victim of secret care. Gradually he realizes the fact that he is not himself, that his nerves are seriously unstrung and that he requires a change—he is neurasthenic, and powerless to cope with the conditions to which he is subject. There is no occasion for despair, however, the most obstinate case may yield to rational means of restoring mental and bodily health.

A new life appears to accompany the results of carefully studied and judicious treatment, and in compulsory, yet grateful repose the patient soon finds that his thoughts are brighter and more cheerful, his capacity for mental enjoyment keener, and his physique markedly improved under the influence of the general recuperation. Sleep and healthy digestion, which have perhaps long been strangers to him, assume a natural phase; troubles which but lately oppressed the mind with persistent anxiety appear purely imaginary, or at least are deprived of their baneful effect, while the entire system responds favorably to the new regimen and watchful care.
