

INVITE BRYAN TO SPEAK IN BOISE

Democrats Want Nebraskan as Chief Orator at Wilson Jollification.

Idaho Democrats want William Jennings Bryan as the chief orator at the Wilson jollification meeting to be held in this city within a few weeks under the auspices of the Ada County Wilson club and if it is possible to get the commoner to again journey into the northwest this year, the Democrats will have one of the greatest meetings ever held in the state. This sentiment was expressed freely last night at a meeting of the club and a committee was appointed consisting of Frank C. Woodford, J. P. Pope and Jerry Robinson to recommend a date for holding the meeting. Whether it will be a smoker or a banquet will be determined at a meeting to be held either Friday or Saturday night of this week.

M. Alexander, president of the club, called the meeting to order, and made the first address of the evening in which he made reference to the fact that the Democrats in Idaho lost their fight because they did not compromise the progressive element. The matter of a jollification meeting was then taken up and the majority seemed in favor of a smoker to which but little expense would be attached which every Democrat could attend, whereas a dollar dinner might be too expensive for some. The possibility of getting Bryan to attend was next discussed. Everyone present was in favor of the plan and consequently an invitation will be extended to the Nebraskan to be present.

Among the speakers of the evening were Fred Flood, private secretary to Governor Hawley, and Mr. Wilson, of Emmett. As soon as the date of the big jollification is set, invitations will be sent out over the state to leading members of the party to be present.

MISS COSTON TO GIVE MANY ADDRESSES ON PROBATE COURT WORK

The women of Ada county are becoming vitally interested in the work of the probate court. The methods of handling the delinquent children of the county and the plans that Judge Dunbar and his probation officers are using to work out reformation in many of the children who come before them are subjects in which the women are becoming more concerned the last few months.

Miss Helen Coston, one of the probation officers, has a list of speaking dates almost as lengthy as a candidate for office and within the next few weeks will address many of the women's clubs and sewing circles in all parts of the county on various features of the work.

On Nov. 22 she will speak to the women of Maple Grove and that afternoon she will address the Catholic women of the city along the same lines. Next Saturday afternoon she will address the Columbian club. Other requests for talks along the lines of work that the probate court is pursuing have come in the last few days but the dates have not been definitely fixed.

BARNES BOUND OVER ON LARCENY CHARGE

A clean case against James Barnes, arrested on the charge of larceny, was made this morning in the justice court of Judge Adams and the defendant was bound over to stand trial in district court in the sum of $500, which he was unable to furnish. Barnes is the man who, on the night of Nov. 7, entered a tent near the fair grounds, occupied by Lee Harland and Howard F. Baker, and stole a watch and a purse containing $17. The men testified that they were awakened by Barnes in the tent and when he ran Harland took after him, catching him after a run of several blocks, and bringing him back to the tent. The watch and purse were recovered a short distance from where Barnes was captured, both having been thrown beside the road. Six dollars was missing from the purse and it is thought that the defendant dropped it early in the run. George C. Huebner represented the defendant at the hearing.

DEFENSE RESTS IN MESHKIND CASE

The defense rested at noon today in the trial of Abraham S. Meshkind on the charge of receiving stolen goods. The state will put on a short rebuttal, after which the trial will be ready for the jury.

Six character witnesses were on the stand this morning for the defense, among them Moses Alexander, B. F. Olden, G. W. Green, W. S. Walker, Leo J. Falk and John W. Veatch. The transactions under the Fritchman administration were gone into yesterday when Gene Johnson, then captain of detectives, testified that he had never given the defendant any written instructions or description of the property that was stolen from the store of the Daly-Brown Furniture company that he had merely told him to look out for some razors and seven or eight stick pins that had been lost.

Dave Rich, the present captain, and Gene Hamby, one of the members of the detective department, were also on the stand.

WOMEN'S $15 SUITS

Stylish Garments and Splendid Values

Concentration on this price in women's suits and coats has helped us get such unusual values at $15.

Seven store buying power and the cash system of doing business are big factors in getting and giving these $15 suit values.

Style, quality and workmanship are cleverly combined in these garments we're offering at $15. No point that appeals to the discriminating woman is overlooked.

Look at these $15 garments. You'll at least find them a reliable basis upon which to judge values here and elsewhere. We're always glad to show $15 suits and coats.

Coats $7.95

Women's and misses' coats. Black caracul coats with large roll collar and turn back cuffs—lined with good sateen.

Welcome New Plymouth

Another star adorns the Golden Rule flag. Last Saturday, Nov. 9th, a Golden Rule Store associated with our stores was opened at the flourishing little city of New Plymouth.

Today Boise, Caldwell, Payette, Wellesley, Emmett, Midvale and Mountain Home extend a welcome to New Plymouth. We shall try to make the Golden Rule store as helpful to the people of New Plymouth as our stores are and have been to the people of other localities.

We do not hope or expect to merit the confidence and patronage of New Plymouth people without filling a need and being of some real help in keeping down the cost of living.

A Golden Rule Store must be of real service to a people or it does not fulfill its mission.

Be sure to get your copy of the Winter Quarterly as it illustrates the latest authoritative Winter Styles and also contains hundreds of gift suggestions that can be easily made at home with the use of The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns. You can get the book at our pattern counter.

Rocks job and also by way of Scranton, Pa., and get in touch with Michael J. Hannon, local business agent. McNamara told me not to talk much to Hannon, as he was not sure of Hannon yet.

"Webb met me in Jersey City and took me out to show me what to blow up. While I surveyed the job he stood back, saying the workmen knew him around there. That night, after waiting two hours to learn that the watchman made a round only once an hour, I placed two bombs in some girders after midnight, July 9. In the morning I saw Webb, with a newspaper giving accounts of the explosion. On the way back I stopped at Scranton, but did not see Hannon. At Pittsburg I bought a dozen alarm clocks, and on July 15 blew up the McKees Rocks job.

"When I got back to Indianapolis, McNamara was talking to his brother, James B., who said he had received a telegram from Clancy at San Francisco and that he (James B.) was going to the coast. J. J. said to his brother:

"Look up Clancy as soon as you arrive and he'll put you in touch with the bunch and the old man."

Operations on Coast.
"On the way to Chicago, when I left him, J. B. said he expected to be three months on the coast, that they wanted him to go out and clean up the coast, particularly Los Angeles, that they had a couple of fellows working out there, but they did not get any results. Later I received a telegram from J. B., dated at Seattle. "I went to Omaha, and on July 21 blew up a job there with eight quarts of nitroglycerin. I knew the explosion occurred, for I heard it while waiting for a Chicago train at the station, half a mile away.

"J. J. wanted to know when I returned to Indianapolis why I had not caused two explosions on the job. I told him a watchman and a dog were following me around and I did not take any chances. I was afraid the dog would scent me out in the dark.

"J. J. gave me 14 quarts more and told me to go to Milwaukee and get in touch with William E. Reddin, and then to do a job at Superior, Wis. I went to Milwaukee and buried six quarts on West Mills street. There I met Reddin, telling him the Milwaukee job did not have enough material on it to blow up yet; but he said he would let J. J. know when the material arrived. I blew up the Superior job August 1.

"I took a Duluth newspaper account of the explosion back to J. J., but he said he had beaten me to it, for Fred Mooney at Duluth had written him a letter thanking him for sending a real dynamite up there."

McManigal was telling of his start for Rochester, Pa., to procure 20 quarts of nitroglycerin for use in an explosion at Kansas City, Mo., August 23, when court adjourned.

Martin Makes Statement of His Receipts and Expenditures; Asks Other Candidates to Do Same

G. H. Martin, Progressive candidate for governor, has submitted to the Capital News for publication an itemized statement showing the receipts and disbursements of his campaign for governor. He challenges either or both of his opponents to publish a like statement. Mr. Martin pledges his services for the future to the Progressive cause and begs all believers in progressive principles to rally around the only party which promises anything like probability for success. He quotes the interview given by John M. Haines to show that the Republican party in Idaho is done, once for all, with persons holding progressive views and as indicating that relief, if any shall come, must come from the Progressive party. Mr. Martin writes:

"Evening Capital News: It is my desire, through the columns of your paper to express to the Progressives of Idaho, my gratitude for their support of the national ticket and Progressive principles, and to all those who supported my candidacy, my profoundest gratitude for their splendid support. It is a matter of great pride to me and a source of the profoundest satisfaction, that in the face of the most vicious and unfounded attacks on my reputation and character, I carried the home county of my two opponents by handsome pluralities, and that I carried also my own precinct, my own city and my own county by handsome pluralities.

Many causes contributed to the defeat of the Progressive ticket in this state. The decision of our supreme court in ruling the names of our electors off the ballot, the rainy day which kept thousands of Progressives away from the polls, the uncertainty in the minds of thousands as to how to vote a split ticket and the determination of those same persons to vote for Senator Borah leading them to vote the Republican ticket "straight," the darkness in the voting booth during the last two hours of voting precluding the voters from seeing where to write in the names of the Roosevelt electors, and the solidarity of the "southeast," all contributed to the result. Under all the circumstances, the wonder is, not that we did not win, but that we made as good a showing as we did.

As for myself, I do not know whether I shall ever again be a candidate for office, but the Progressives of Idaho may rest assured that I shall continue to give my time and my money to the success of the Progressive cause, as it was given in this campaign, freely and as fully as my circumstances will permit. It matters not about my defeat for I have a splendid law business here in north Idaho where I can work amongst neighbors and friends who are absolutely loyal to me and whose friendship I esteem very highly; but it does matter about the success of progressive principles. They must succeed, and so I call upon every Progressive in Idaho to put forth every effort between now and the time of election in 1914, to make the success of progressive principles sure.

I observe that John M. Haines, Republican governor-elect, at Portland, last Thursday, said that Progressives were no longer wanted as a part of or as an adjunct to the Republican party. This is just another evidence that progressive Republicans are undertaking a hopeless task in Idaho in their efforts to reform the Republican party of this state. It is determined not to be reformed and the only hope of the progressive Republicans is in the success of the Progressive party in Idaho.

I am sending herewith a statement of my receipts and disbursements during the campaign. I wish to have the same published so that the people of the state may know true conditions. I shall be delighted if either of my opponents will tell the people of this state how much they received and from whom and how much they paid out and what for.

With best wishes to your paper and to my friends throughout the state, I am,
Sincerely yours,
G. H. MARTIN.

Suffering Among Soldiers.

Paris, Nov. 12.—A staff correspondent of the Temps, Jean Rhodes, who has reached Constantinople from the war zone, sends a vivid picture of the misery of the Turkish soldiers and the disorganization of the Turkish army. He says:

"We have witnessed the failure of the Turk as a soldier. We have seen him dying of hunger, worn out, wrecked by suffering and running away after having abandoned his place in the combat.

"I have never seen a more perfect picture of human distress than that presented by these unhappy men, thrown into one of the most terrible wars of history, without food, without medical attention, almost without arms. And at Scutari I saw a soldier whose right hand had been severed, hold out to us, begging for medical help, the bleeding stump, around which he had tied a piece of twine.

"I saw long lines of famished men who came to our tent begging for a crumb of bread and staggering away without a murmur of complaint when told that we had none to give them. I saw a thousand wounded leaving a trail of blood as they dragged themselves toward Tchoulu. I saw hundreds of others fall by the wayside, dying from wounds and fatigue.

"At Tchoulu a column of soldiers, terrible in appearance, struggled through the streets in a rain and wind storm. No one paid any attention to them. They had no shelter, nothing to eat. From a nearby bakery an officer threw out handfuls of bread, and the soldiers fought for the loaves. More than half of them got nothing and turned away, pallid and weak."

Kaiser Sends Congratulations.

Athens, Nov. 12.—The German emperor has sent a message to his sister, Princess Sophia, wife of Crown Prince Constantine, conveying his congratulations upon the capture of Saloniki.

Princess Sophia, accompanied by Premier Vanzelos, together with military attaches whom the crown prince invited to join the army of occupation, left for Saloniki today.

The crown prince has requested the detachments that landed from the foreign warships at Saloniki to re-embark as the Greek troops now will maintain order.

A Greek destroyer has brought to Piraeus the German steamer Tenodus, which is suspected of having Turkish soldiers hidden aboard.

There is no news from the army operating against Monastir, but word comes from Arta that the Greeks have occupied the fortress of Pentapoleia and the surrounding positions. The Turks have retired to the hills, but are keeping up a desultory fire.

LABOR TOO HIGH TO MAKE PROFIT

North Dakota Ranchers Have Had Bad Year, Declares Boise Man.

"The big ranchers of North Dakota are being ruined by unjust laborers of the hobo class, who take advantage of the short season in which grain must be harvested and hold the ranchers up for their labor, so that the profit is being taken out of the business, cutting up their ranches and engaging in stockraising. Five dollars per day and board has been demanded by laborers in the field this year and even when getting that price they refused to get up in the morning and feed the teams or help to get ready for the day's work, leaving that work to the steady employees on the ranches."

The above statement was made yesterday by G. Treffry, who has just returned from North Dakota, where he has a ranch of 2600 acres all of which was planted to grain this year, and most of which he was successful in getting harvested, although his men struck four times in three months, each time for higher wages, until the $5 mark was reached. Each time they were given the amount asked for and Mr. Treffry states that they worked as they chose. If a man was discharged or quit, he was waited upon by the rest to find out the reason and if it was not considered just, they would strike.

While Mr. Treffry did not experience any strikes from such conditions, his neighbors did, and many of them state they will not stand for such experiences another year and are preparing to engage in some other business. Mr. Treffry also proposes to cut up his big ranch as he states that most of his profit this year went to farm hands.

Prior to his return home all the grain on his ranch had been threshed except 600 acres, which the men expected to finish within a week or 10 days. The crops this year, he states, were fair, but not nearly as good as last year, owing to a long rainy season in the state. Wheat was selling at 86 cents, rye at 70 cents, barley 46 cents and oats at 26 cents, the price on oats being the lowest in many years.

Mr. Treffry is glad to be back in Boise again looking after his property interests here and he expects to so arrange his affairs next year that he will not be obliged to spend such a long time on his North Dakota ranch.

INSTALLMENTS ON CONTRACTS ALLOWED

At a meeting of the council this afternoon the regular installment on the main and lateral sewer work in the new district were allowed and also the first installment on the sidewalk contract. Upon recommendation of Mayor Hodges, the trustees of the Carnegie library, recommended the appointment of John F. Nugent as trustee, to take the place of C. E. Rose, resigned. The council voted unanimously to allow one-half of the lighting bill during fair week, which was presented by the Commercial club. The total bill amounted to $116.85.

A new street car ordinance providing for improved service and permitting the company to take up certain tracks and also providing for the issuing of half fare tickets to school children was on the table, but as the company announced that it did not wish to take up any of its track east of Seventh street, which was included in the former ordinance, the matter was passed.

Councilman Woodcock recommended the appointment of Mr. Rottan and Mr. Estes at fire station No. 4 to take the place of two men who resigned.

Agriculturists Meet in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 12.—Delegates from many states gathered in Atlanta today for a series of conventions of much interest and importance to those engaged in the farming industry. The principal meetings of the week will be those of the Association of American Agricultural colleges and the American Association of Farmers' Institute Workers. Chief Moore and other representatives of the United States weather bureau are here to confer with the delegates on plans to make the weather bureau reports of greater benefit to the agricultural and fruit growing interests of the nation.

Meeting of Collegiate Alumnae.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 12.—The Association of Collegiate Alumnae of the United States opened its annual convention at the University of Michigan today. The sessions will continue until Saturday. The association was organized 30 years ago and it is the only national non-professional organization of American college women having for its aim purely educational work. The present meeting is to be devoted largely to the discussion of academic subjects. At a dinner to be given Friday night in honor of the visitors the speakers will include President Angell of the University of Michigan and the heads of Wellesley, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Smith and other of the leading American colleges for women.

The county recorder has issued a marriage license of Robert I. Van Court and Gertrude M. Smith of Boise.
