

FAME OF IDAHO DAIRIES EXTENDS TO WASHINGTON

Secretary of Agriculture Writes Commissioner Wallis Offering His Co-operation in Work.

Letter From Secretary Wilson, Washington, D. C., Nov. 7, 1912. James H. Wallis, Esq., State Dairy, Food and Sanitary Inspector, Boise, Idaho.

Dear Mr. Wallis: I am gratified to know from the reports which have come to me from your state that you and your department are making real progress in your efforts to build up the dairy industry in Idaho. As you know, this department is working along the same lines, and if there is anything which can be done by the bureau here in Washington or otherwise to help in your work, I hope you will feel free to let me know about it. I shall be glad to do what I can in co-operation with you for the benefit of this important industry.

Very truly yours,
JAMES WILSON,
Secretary.

The fame of Idaho's sanitary dairies and barns has reached Washington and the ears of the nation's leaders. James H. Wallis, state sanitary commissioner, has received a letter from Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, offering the hearty and thorough co-operation of every bureau under his supervision for the betterment of the conditions in this state and for the general assistance of the dairies and the farmers.

Commissioner Wallis has started a campaign of education among the dairymen and farmers of the state. He has launched a plan under which he will teach every farmer how to handle and care for his cattle, what to do to get the best and most profitable results, and will give him general instructions as how best to handle the product so that it will be entirely free from contamination of any sort.

Every farmer of the state who wants a modern and up-to-date milk house will find that he has the co-operation of the state sanitary department and the United States department of agriculture back of him to help him work out his plans. A printed blank form is being sent out to every farmer who owns one or more milk cows in the effort to get detailed information as to the conditions existing at the present time and how they can best be improved.

Printed circulars are also being sent out to the farmers to show them just what is a model dairy, how it should be kept, and how the cows should be cared for in order to get the best producing value.

The commissioner believes that the co-operation of the federal department in carrying out this plan will be of material benefit to the farmers and dairymen of the state and will have a potent effect in improving the general conditions in the state.

WAR CLOUD CAUSES SUN YAT SEN'S RETURN

Tokio, Nov. 16.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who has been spending a week in Japan and was to have left at the end of another week, may abandon his trip for the present and return to China, it was said today, on account of the threat of war between his country and Russia.

The doctor was to have visited America and will do so yet if the war scare passes, in an effort to raise money for his scheme of gridironing China with a system of state owned railroads.

Today's dispatches from China described the country as boiling with war enthusiasm, which the utmost efforts of President Yuan Shi Kai were barely sufficient to keep down.

JACK JOHNSON TRIES TO ESCAPE WITH FINE

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Jack Johnson went to officials of the United States department of justice late today and offered to plead guilty to a modified charge of violating the Mann white slave act, provided he could be let off with a fine. The offer was refused.

It was said the big black did not appreciate the seriousness of the charge against him and that he was rendered uneasy when told that, if convicted, he might be sent to the federal penitentiary from 5 to 40 years.

A guard put on Johnson by his bondsmen, Mathew Baldwin, is being doubled. Baldwin, it is said, is taking into consideration the fact that Johnson's offense is not extraditable and that should he go to Canada—one day's journey—or to Mexico, he would be beyond the reach of the government and his bond would be forfeited.

STORY TOLD

and 28. The government then showed that these calls were to Alameda and to the Giant Powder company in reference to the steam launch and the 500 pounds of explosive.

There were more than 25 California witnesses in the court room when the week's adjournment came tonight, waiting to tell their stories. They will be heard Monday.

John Stanley, keeper of an Alameda boat house, told of two men who came to him to negotiate for the rental of a steam launch. One gave the name J. K. Bryson. The other had a "quint eye." They were J. E. McNamara, and "Schmidley."

Launch Owners Called.

J. D. Burroughs of Oakland, and Ward Baxter of Alameda, joint owners of the launch "Pastime," were called to the stand in turn and told of the two men negotiating with them for the boat. The owners demanded $40 rental for the boat for one week and a cash deposit of $500 to guarantee its return. McNamara paid the $500, giving $400 then and $100 the next day. The men got the boat Sept. 16 and returned it Sept. 26. Baxter gave McNamara a check for $460. Baxter, Burroughs and Stanley all testified that screw holes and a rim of paint on the name plate of the Pastime on the return indicated that a false name plate had been used while the men had the boat out. E. N. Hunter, a hardware dealer of San Francisco, supplied the missing link in the evidence by swearing that he sold McNamara 16 aluminum letters spelling "Peerless."

This evidence fits in with that of a California hotel keeper, who testified early in the trial about a mysterious launch named Peerless, in charge of three men which came to his landing on the coast three consecutive nights. The witness said that he noticed the boat seemed to be old, while the name plate was new. He described a tarpaulin that covered a pile on the boat, which the government showed was the nitroglycerin. A dealer yesterday swore to selling the tarpaulins.

Bruce McCall, of the Giant Powder company, of Oakland, told of receiving a telephone call Sept. 15 from a man who said he represented the J. B. Bryson Construction company, asking if he could get some 90 per cent nitroglycerin. He was told that 20 per cent was all that was on hand. The next day, McCall said, the man calling himself J. B. Bryson called at the office and bought 500 pounds, saying it was for blowing up stumps. McCall said he told him 20 per cent nitroglycerin would do for that. Three men in a launch called for the explosive, McCall said.

James O'Brien, owner of the San Francisco house which the plotters rented in which to store their nitroglycerin, furnished the relieving comedy of the afternoon by describing how he knocked a stick of the explosive on a box "to see what it was."

"I rented the house to strangers Sept. 15," he said, "and later called around to inspect the stuff. I found overalls and ten 50-pound boxes. One was open and in it was a lot of things that looked like candles.

"I picked one up and hit on the side of the box; also pinched it and bit it. Then I saw the label, '90 per cent nitroglycerin'; I went away from there."

O'Brien said he told the police and stood two blocks away while they removed the explosive.

Detective Frank D. Carroll, of Los Angeles, described in detail the appearance the Times building after the explosion, telling of the broken windows and smashed walls, the findings of the dead. He identified an internal machine which was found the day after the Times tragedy in the yard of Felix Zehandler, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of Los Angeles.

Carroll was on the stand when adjournment was taken.

HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR MONTZ WRECK

New Orleans, Nov. 16.—The flagman and conductor of the excursion train wrecked at Montz last Monday, when 20 persons were killed and many injured, were held responsible for the wreck in a ruling returned today by a mixed commission made up of members of the Louisiana railroad commission and representatives of the interstate commerce commission.

The management of the Mississippi Valley, allied with the Illinois Central railroad, was held to have contributed by lax instructions to employes and the election of poor equipment. No announcement was made as to what action would be taken, but it is expected that charges will be brought against at least 17 persons.

EARLY PASSAGE OF HARBORS BILL

Washington, Nov. 16.—Early passage of a $30,000,000 river and harbor appropriation bill is scheduled by house leaders, according to announcement tonight. Chairman Sparkman of the river and harbors committee said that he would call his colleagues together Nov. 25 to frame a bill and that he expected to get it through the house before the Christmas recess.

Sparkman said that both the Ohio and Mississippi rivers improvements would be generously provided for.

NEW PLYMOUTH AS COUNTY SEAT IS LATEST GOSSIP

Proposition Meets With Favor at Both Payette and Emmett, Which Have Been Rivals for Honor.

(Staff Correspondence.)

New Plymouth, Nov. 16.—Payette county is the probable name of the proposed new county to be carved out of Canyon county, and New Plymouth is finding much support for the temporary county seat of the new county from the people of Payette and Emmett.

The county division line between Canyon county and the proposed new county starts at a point on the Snake river just to the north of Apple valley, the new town north of Parma, and runs 12 miles east along the township line, thence six miles south, thence east along the First Standard parallel to the Ada county line. According to this division Canyon county will take in all of that part of the present Canyon county lying on the Boise river side of the Boise-Payette divide, and the new county of Payette would take in all of that part of the Payette valley within the present boundaries of Canyon county. It is probable a bill for such a division of Canyon county will be presented during the forthcoming session of the legislature which convenes in Boise in January.

New Era of Prosperity.
New Plymouth is in line for a stronger growth than it has enjoyed in several years. This growth should and will come as a result of the large new territory which will become directly tributary to New Plymouth when the new steel bridge is completed across the Payette river at a point just to the northeast of New Plymouth.

The new territory thus to become tributary to New Plymouth comprises the Big Willow creek valley which is about 22 miles long and averages a mile and a half wide. Big Willow is not only a very rich and fertile valley already well settled up with prosperous ranchers, but there are two big sheep shearing plants in this valley whose annual wool clips total between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 pounds of wool, all of which will hereafter be brought to New Plymouth, from where it will be loaded and shipped over the Payette Valley railroad. This will necessitate the construction at New Plymouth of a building of sufficient warehouse capacity to store and handle this immense amount of wool.

Bonds Sold—Contract Let.
Bonds for the new steel bridge were sold Oct. 25, 1912, and the contract for its construction has been let. Work on it is to commence in the near future.

Practically all the land up Big Willow valley is irrigated, the land is taken up and is being quite extensively farmed.

Twelve Miles Nearer Railroad.
The new bridge brings this beautiful valley 12 miles nearer to the railroad, with New Plymouth its nearest and logical trading point. A new era of prosperity is certain to come to New Plymouth as soon as the new bridge is completed and put into use.

Brevities.
New Plymouth's fruit shipments this year are 130 carloads, as against a total of 77 carloads last year.

The Golden Rule store with a complete stock of dry goods, has just been opened in New Plymouth in the corner formerly occupied with a general merchandise stock by J. F. Greasey. Mr. Baker, an experienced dry goods man, is a manager of the new store.

A new photo studio will be opened in New Plymouth, probably this week, by an experienced photographer recently from Cleveland, Ohio.

The Canyon county delegation of six members in the next legislature is strongly backing the boom of Representative-elect C. S. French of New Plymouth during the session of the legislature which convenes in January.

WASHINGTON DEFEATS THE OREGON ELEVEN

Seattle, Nov. 16.—In a game that was marked by a remarkable "last minute" rally on the part of the losers, Washington university today downed Oregon university to the tune of 30 to 14. The Dobyayites scored four touchdowns and a drop kick, Quarterback Young sending the ball over the bar at the conclusion of the first seven minutes of play. Twice in the third quarter Jaquet broke through for a touchdown, shooting Washington away ahead. Two magnificent forward passes by Fenton for Oregon led up to two touchdowns for the Lemon and Green in the last quarter. Dobyay's men appeared helpless against this play but their lead was too great to be overcome by the fighting Oregonians.

Oregon Agricultural Wins.
Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 16.—The members of the Oregon Agricultural college football team may have streets and babies named after them, as the result of their defeat of the Whitman college stalwarts in a rattling game today. The final score was 26 to 6.

Two intercepted passes and a fumble on Whitman's three-yard line gave O. A. C. three touchdowns. Despite the fact that Neils, the local fullback, does not play his game, the Aggies put all sorts of pep into the going and it was a
