

CARNEGIE WILL PENSION FUTURE EX-PRESIDENTS

Provision Is Made for the Payment of $25,000 to Them Annually—Taft Informed of Action.

New York, Nov. 22.—Future ex-presidents of the United States are to be pensioned in the sum of $25,000 annually by action of the Carnegie corporation of New York yesterday.

The pensions are to be promptly offered to the ex-presidents or their widows so that no application need be required from them.

The announcement followed the second annual meeting of the corporation held at the residence of Andrew Carnegie here.

Five of the eight trustees are the heads of the five trusts which Mr. Carnegie has founded, the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Ellhu Root, president; the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Henry S. Pritchett, president; the Carnegie Institution of Washington, Robert W. Woodward, president; Carnegie Hero Fund commission, Charles L. Taylor, president; Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, William M. Prew, president.

The successors of the five men become ex-officio trustees of the Carnegie corporation of New York. In addition there are three life trustees. The trustees authorized this statement of the corporation's aims:

"A total of $125,000,000 in securities has thus far been transferred to the corporation, which will carry on the various works in which Mr. Carnegie has been engaged and such others as he may from time to time think it advisable to establish.

"Mr. Carnegie believes he has taken the surest means of securing for the future a body of the best possible trustees. The heads of the institutions must invariably be men of high moral and intellectual standing. They are empowered by a two-thirds vote to modify or discontinue any branch of the work which, in their judgment has become unnecessary, or if better use can be made of the fund, and also to adopt from time to time such work as they may be deemed most desirable for the wants of the age, so that from age to age the fund may be expanded upon the most profitable work, whether that be the promotion of new ideas or the development of those of the day."

The trustees took under consideration a number of matters directly in their keeping and concerning the details of which no announcement was made but the principal one to be passed on was the pension plan for ex-presidents of the United States and their widows. The official announcement follows:

"Provision has been made for a pension for each future ex-president and his unmarried widow, of $25,000 per year as long as they remain unmarried and provided for by the nation, that they may be able to spend the larger part of their lives devoting their unique knowledge gained of public affairs to the public good free from pecuniary cares. These pensions will be promptly offered to the ex-presidents or their widows, so that no application will be required from them."

Taft Declines to Comment. Washington, Nov. 22.—When informed last night of the action of the Carnegie corporation in providing pensions for future ex-presidents, President Taft said it was a novel and unexpected proposition, but that he preferred to make no comment on it last night.

In a speech in New York last Saturday night, the president hinted that

REAL SUGAR CANE FOR CHILDREN OF CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Sugar cane will supplant candy in the affections of younger Chicago next week. George A. Maloney, special agent of the department of agriculture, in charge of the Mobile Bay exhibit at the United States land show, received a carload of the succulent stalk yesterday and will see to it that every school child in the city gets a taste. "The northern child," he said, "doesn't know the ecstatic delight of chewing sugar cane which to experience the southern child will gladly risk a licking. Down Mobile way sugar cane takes the place of candy and we feel as if the northern children have been overlooked in never having had an opportunity to taste the rich, sweet juice." The Mobile exhibitors will also give away thousands of Salama oranges, not to speak of candied yams, cooked by two old-fashioned southern mammas.

erate conditions are proposed to us." It is said the Bulgarian conditions included a demand for the surrender of Adrianople and Scutari, the withdrawal of the Turkish fleet from the Black sea and the cessation of the dispatch of troops to the Tchatalja lines and the building of fortifications.

General Siniukri Pasha, military commander of Adrianople, has received the title of "Ghazi," which means "Victorious recognition" of his splendid defense.

An official dispatch from the captain of the cruiser Hamidieh, which was attacked by Bulgarian torpedo boats in the Black sea yesterday says he sank two of them and damaged the third, which was able to draw away.

"When at a distance of 2000 yards, the third torpedo boat discharged two torpedoes, inflicting slight damage on us. We eventually obliged her to withdraw out of range of our guns."

Diplomats Are Surprised. London, Nov. 22.—The formal suspension of the eastern war proved only for a day. Turkey rejected the Balkan terms for an armistice apparently before the plenipotentiaries had time to come together at Hademkeul.

Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier, declared the allies' overtures "were impossible." He ordered the commander-in-chief to continue fighting until "with the help of the Almighty" reasonable and moderate conditions were proposed.

This decision came as an utter surprise, and diplomats not wholly convinced the Ottoman troops will take up arms again in the cholera-stricken trenches of Tchatalja.

While the Bulgarian conditions—for Bulgaria is acting as the mouthpiece for the allies—were extreme, stipulating the surrender of Adrianople and Scutari, both of which are making a historic defense, as well as the cession of all the territory except a narrow strip above Constantinople, these conditions were advanced as overtures; in other words, they were apparently put forward as a basis for negotiations.

The Porte treated them as an ultimatum and this perhaps is the oriental method of beginning negotiations, designed to induce the enemy further to show his hand. A Balkan diplomat in London pointed out last night that these terms were submitted merely as an answer to Turkey's repeated demands for an armistice, and said:

"It is practically certain that their rejection will result in a more active and determined resumption of hostilities. Probably the allied troops will now refuse to treat with Turkey until they are in a position to dictate perhaps sterner terms in the capital of the sultan."

The negotiations thus far have been conducted through the Russian ambassador at Constantinople, but the Turkish ambassador at Berlin was on

EASY TO GET RID OF CORNS THIS WAY

GETS-IT, the New Corn Cure. Guaranteed.

"Corns Gone! GETS-IT Got 'Em!"

"GETS-IT" is the new-plan corn cure that will surely surprise you the very first time you use it. It is so simple, painless, quick and sure in its action.

It shrivels up the corn, wart, callous or bunion, separates them from the true flesh, the corn comes off, and there you are, with feet that feel positively glorious; corn-free once more as they used to be in your "barefoot days."

The most remarkable feature is that "GETS-IT" does not harm or turn raw the healthy flesh as other preparations do. It is as safe as water. No more plasters, bandages, or salves.

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

his way to join his colleagues appointed to meet the Bulgarian representatives when the Turkish government's startling decision was telegraphed abroad.

Even yet it would seem that the Turkish officials have not abandoned hope that the powers will come to their rescue and attempt to dictate a compromise, but Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, announced last night that the powers had not gone so far as to arrange a general conference after the conclusion of the war. Their only agreement, as far as surface indications go, is to keep their hands off.

Triple Alliance Active. The probability of the resumption of hostilities has started rumors afresh from Vienna of Austrian and Russian mobilizations on their borders, and a naval demonstration by the triple alliance on the Albanian coast, if Serbia pushes her onward march to the coveted seaport.

The continued successful defense of the Tchatalja lines would strengthen Turkey's diplomatic position, but, defeat after prolonged fighting of her own choosing, would inflame the Bulgarians' desire to make a triumphal progress into Constantinople.

Popular clamor on Sofia is demanding more strongly each day that the advance stop only at the Bosphorus.

European military officials consider the terms of the allies harsh in one respect that is, that they compel an unconditional capitulation of Scutari and Adrianople instead of allowing the garrisons to march out with the honors of war.

Two more chapters of the war are reported—a naval engagement off Varana between the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh and Bulgarian torpedo boats, and the occupation of Florina by the Greeks. The Bulgarians report that they did great damage to and probably sank the cruiser. The Turks report that they sank two torpedo boats and that the cruiser was only slightly damaged.

By the occupation of Florina, which lies south of Monastir, the Greeks according to the Athens report, have cut off the rear guard of the Turkish army to the number of 30,000 retreating from Monastir.

Bulgarians Have Difficult Task. London, Nov. 22.—Ashmead Bartlett, in a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, says that after spending three days on the Turkish lines he fails to understand why the Bulgarians abandoned on Tuesday night all the advanced positions they captured at 1 o'clock Monday morning and adds:

"The move completely surprised the Turkish army, which, under the expectancy of a decisive assault had made arrangements for a general retirement should the necessity arrive."

"The Bulgarians not only returned upon the Tchatalja railway station and occupied the high ground surrounding the Turkish right wing."

"The various motives suggested there is a belief that the political reasons connected with the peace negotiations dictated this action. If the Bulgarians renew their attack they will now find the task tenfold more difficult as the Turks daily are being strengthened by the arrival of fresh troops."

"Excessive optimism on the part of the Turks, leading them to assume the offensive, however, would mean an endless prolongation of the war and almost certainly a fresh disaster. The Bulgarians have missed their opportunity. By speedy pursuit after Lule Burzas they could have broken through the lines almost without resistance."

The Post's correspondent with the Turks at Tchatalja has had the same experience as the other correspondents. He was arrested and sent back to Constantinople.

Referring to the cholera at Hademkeul he says that the lack of water and medical supplies is very evident, but that provisions for the prevention of the spread of the disease seem complete. The correspondent traveled back with the wounded General Mukhtar who told him that he was convinced the army could hold its present position. Mahmoud Mukhtar considered that a tactical blunder had been committed at the outset in attempting to defend the positions near the frontier. In his opinion a much less advanced line should have been chosen and vigorously held from the start.

Keep Both Eyes on This Swede In The Booklovers' Contest

Twin Falls, Idaho. Capital News Contest Editor: I am in your contest and finding a whole lot of pleasure in solving the pictures and watching for the daily Contest Story. I notice that you have a lady contestant in Caldwell who has one eye on the pile of gold and a Son of Erin from the same place who has one eye on a fair colleen. Your suggestion that the $500 would pay all expenses on a wedding trip is what got me into the game. And like the Son of Erin, mine is willing and is now on her way, not from Ireland, but from dear old Sweden! And she is fair and good and as you say in your comments, I am surely working overtime to grab that $500. It will be a shame to take it away from your bright lady in Caldwell, but if I find she is married and has a happy home now it will make me feel easier on that score.

Please send me the extra pictures on enclosed coupon for which I enclose check paying for one year's subscription. With good wishes to you and all the contestants, and may the best men and women in it win. I remain Yours very truly,

YOUR-FRIEND-FROM-SWEDEN.

And now the contestants have taken a hand in the game of making the Daily Contest Story interesting, and their letters prove that we have a large and enthusiastic family working out the daily prize pictures. And each of them seem to have their own particular reason for engaging in this delightful pastime. We know they will all enjoy the work and while they all cannot win the first prize, there are enough other prizes to get them in the winning class. We will print the names of the winners after the prizes are awarded. And in that list you will see the names of those who are in to win, exercising all their rights to extra answers when in doubt. As you all know, you are entitled to ten answers on each picture and you can be sure that the wise ones are exercising all their rights in this Contest. And it is only natural that they would take more than one chance on each picture when they are in doubt and our Catalogue gives several titles that might fit the picture. With the Catalogue and their right to extra answers no one can go far wrong in this delightful game.

Don't allow anyone to make you believe that they can select the right titles to ALL of them and hold down to one on each picture. And don't allow any smart "Aleck" to tell you that he has any tip on the correct answers, as the only two people on earth who have the correct answers to ALL the pictures is the General Manager of the Capital News and the Contest Editor.

And you can bet your last dollar they will not tell until after ALL the prizes are awarded! Then we will publish two pictures each day with the correct answers under them. We will do that to show all the contestants that this contest is what we have told you all along it would be, one of perfect fairness and openness. And to show you that we are doing everything in reason to enable you to get extra pictures for your extra answers we will call your attention to our free picture and catalogue offer under today's picture. That offer will positively be withdrawn on Monday, Nov. 25th. Our office will be open until 9 p. m. that day to accommodate all our Boise friends. And out-of-town friends will have to have their letters postmarked before midnight on that date. And surely we have made it worth your while to enter. $1500 worth of Prizes in All! $500 of that in Gold!

You are not too late to enter. Now is the Right Time to Begin!

EVERY HOME NEEDS THIS FINE REMEDY

A Mild, reliable laxative-remedy is Something No Family Should Be Without.

No well-regulated home should be without a laxative for there is scarcely a day in a family of several persons that someone doesn't complain of a headache, of sleeplessness, or show the first signs of a cold.

A laxative then becomes a necessity or what was a trifling congestion at the beginning may run into a serious cold or fever. No harsh remedy is needed, but simply a mild laxative-remedy that will make the liver active and stir up the bowels. People who have tried a great many things, and are themselves heads of families who have seen the little ills run to big ones, will tell you that there is nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Among the great believers in Syrup Pepsin for constipation in old or young, and as a general household emergency remedy, are Mrs. Eph Trotter, Myford, Cal., and Mr. E. F. Williams, Callaway, Neb., and they always have a bottle of it in the home. It is scientifically compounded and its purity is vouched for. Mothers give it to tiny babies, and grown people, taking a little larger amount, find it equally effective. It is mild and gentle, pleasant-tasting and free from griping.

It does not hide behind the name of a popular fruit or vegetable, and is absolutely free from any prohibited ingredient. Families who once use Syrup Pepsin forever avoid cathartics, salts, pills and other harsh medicines, for these only do temporary good, are nauseous and a shock to any delicate system. Such things should never be given to children. The Bulgarian have missed their opportunity. By speedy pursuit after Lule Burzas they could have broken through the lines almost without resistance."
