

PROGRESSIVES TO OUTLINE PLAN OF FUTURE ACTION

State Central Committee to Meet in Boise Jan. 6—Optimistic View Taken by the Leaders.

The state central committee of the Progressive party of Idaho will meet in Boise at the Owyhee hotel, Jan. 6, when plans for the future of the party will be discussed. The party will remain in the field and it is declared to be far more aggressive in 1914 than it was at the last election. Leaders declare they are more than satisfied with the showing that was made and believe that two years from now they can sweep the state by the popular vote behind the party.

State Chairman J. H. Gibson has issued the call for the political convocation. It is as follows:

Call issued.
The state central committee of the Progressive party has been called to meet in Boise, at the Owyhee hotel, at 10 o'clock in the morning, Jan. 6, 1913. Included in the call to be present are the chairman and secretaries of the various county organizations, Progressive editors, and prominent party workers from all parts of the state. Plans for the future of the party will be laid, reports received from the Chicago conference, a legislative committee will be appointed and much other very important business will be transacted. You are earnestly requested to be present.

Kindly acknowledge receipt of this communication, and please make it a matter of personal pride to see that your county is well represented. The kindly tender an invitation on behalf of the state chairman, to the prominent Progressives of your section to be present. We want as many at this conference as possible, and I hope that each county will have at least a half dozen representatives. If you will send me a list of those whom you ask to meet with us, I will try and supplement your invitation with a personal letter.

With kindest regards I remain,
Yours truly,
J. H. GIBSON,
Chairman.

Card of Thanks.
We desire to thank the friends who have shown their kindness during the recent illness and death of Mrs. A. W. Smith.

A. W. SMITH,
MRS. LA SALLE,
FLORENCE LA SALLE.

OFF FOR ANTARCTIC TO BRING BACK SCOTT

Christchurch, New Zealand, Dec. 13.—The ship Terra Nova will sail tomorrow for the Antarctic region with the object of bringing back Captain Scott and his associates of the British expedition to the south pole. Captain Scott was last heard from on Jan. 4 last, at which time the polar party were only 145 miles from the goal of their hopes, and were traveling at the rate of 15 miles a day. All being well the pole should, therefore, have been reached about Jan. 15 last. The party were expected back at Hut Point, where the Terra Nova was waiting for them, about March 15. But on March 5 the sea was freezing so rapidly that the ship's commander considered it unwise to remain longer, owing to the hourly increasing risk that the ship would be frozen in. It is supposed that Captain Scott and his companions returned to the winter quarters about the end of March. No further news can be received from him until the Terra Nova again returns from the far south about the end of next March.

KNIGHTS AGAIN SCORE TRIUMPH IN LOCAL COMEDY

"Are You a Knight?" Presented Before Large Audience at Pinney—Will Be Repeated Tonight.

Another triumph in amateur theatricals was scored last night by the Boise council of the Knights of Columbus in the presentation of the farce "Are You a Knight?" at the Pinney theater before an audience that completely filled the playhouse. Once a year the local knights appear in comedy, and they have gained a reputation in the entertainment line which was well sustained in last night's production.

The play is full of amusing situations, giving the members of the cast abundant opportunity, and all are made the most of. The production is elegantly staged and the gowns worn by the women are elaborate and beautiful. Much credit for the success of the play is due Martin V. Merle, a playwright of San Francisco, who had charge of rehearsals and the artistic end of the production. Mr. Merle, who is a brother-in-law of Will Regan, is the author of "The Light Eternal," a new play soon to be presented. Rev. Father Malloy had charge of the business end of the production.

John M. Regan, who long ago became one of the leaders in amateur theatricals, was the central figure in most of the scenes. In order to aid his friend who has unintentionally gotten himself into domestic difficulties, he assumed the role of a French girl, and his character work in this part is great. His costume is a clever creation and his makeup perfect. N. C. Villeneuve took the part of the young husband who, during his wife's absence, was supposed to join the Knights of Columbus, but, on failing to do so, resorts to the extremity of pretending to be a member. When his father-in-law, who had been guilty of adopting the same ruse, arrived, the scene was the most amusing of the entire play. John Scott took the part of the father-in-law, and both he and Mr. Villeneuve were admirable in their parts.

One of the most pleasing features of the performance was the work of E. F. Van Valkenberg, in the part of Hamilton Travers, a broken down actor. His character work was warmly applauded by the audience. Fritz Hummel, in an exceptionally good makeup, was a scream as John Halton, a candidate for membership in the Knights of Columbus.

Lawrence Mallison was perfectly at home in his part, as, in fact, was every member of the cast, including those in the minor parts.

Miss Anna Daly again demonstrated her ability in a theatrical way in the difficult part of Mrs. Bloodgood. Mrs. E. G. Davis took the leading feminine role and did so in such a way that she was the recipient of much praise. Mrs. B. F. Griffith and Miss Loretta Downs were winsome and captivating as the Bloodgood girls and Miss Mary McAtee was very pretty in the part of Fanchon Armitage. Miss Mary McAndrews deserved all the good things that were said of her, and although she did not have the opportunity that was afforded some of the other members of the cast, she was exceptionally clever. Miss Olive McConnell appeared as Mrs. Halton and she, too, did excellent work. Herbert O. Mott, as the policeman, completed the cast. The second and last production of "Are You a Knight?" will be given tonight at the Pinney.

If your watch passes through our repair department and does not give satisfaction we will give a new movement in exchange.

several days ago by the Capital News. Mr. Guheen, since leaving the office of attorney general four years ago, has been receiver at the United States land office at Blackfoot. His commission does not expire until in February, but he expects to forward his resignation to Washington at once so that his successor in that office may qualify and relieve him from duty in time for General Guheen to be in Boise to take up his duties in the attorney general's office as soon as the new officials are installed into office.

General Guheen served two terms as attorney general under the Gooding administrations and is therefore thoroughly familiar with the duties of that office. He will find a home for his family, which he will install and then return to Blackfoot to turn his office there over to his successor and will then rejoin his family here.
