VERY ATTRACTIVE FIELD IS OFFERED WESTERN PACIFIC

System Being Extended to Southern Idaho—Link Connecting the Lines in Wyoming and Nevada.

That the Western Pacific means business in its invasion of southern Idaho territory, and is racing with the Harriman system for control of the Burley, Twin Falls, Raft river sections and that portion of the southern part of the state that offers a big tonnage field, intending to connect with the Northwestern, which will probably be extended from Wyoming, diagonally towards Burley and Twin Falls, linking with the Western Pacific, and furnishing a new transcontinental road to San Francisco and other Pacific coast points, is the opinion of E. J. Hunter, a well-known attorney of Burley, now in Boise. Mr. Hunter was at one time private secretary to ex-United States Senator Fred T. Dubois, and four years ago was Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

Great Railroad Activity.
"Burley, the Twin Falls country, and, in fact, our entire section of the state, is at present witnessing the greatest railroad activity in its history," stated Mr. Hunter, when interviewed last night. "I believe that there will be, as a result, many miles of new railroad built. The Western Pacific is now decidedly active and it is generally understood, proposes to build from Wells, Nev., to and into Twin Falls, and connect with an extension of the Northwestern to be built from Lander, Wyo., into Idaho. This connection will give another transcontinental to Idaho, and an outlet by a shorter route via Nevada and California to the Pacific coast, tapping the great country in our section of the state, and furnishing us with a market."

Harriman System Busy.
"That the Harriman system appreciates the fact that there is a necessity for becoming active to meet the promised competition from the Western Pacific is evident from the fact that crews of men are now engaged in working on the Lucine cutoff, and the Raft river line, both of which feed into our section of the state. I am reliably informed that active work is being pushed to the limit on these roads."

"There is more railroad talk in our part of the state to the square inch than in any other part of the country. Everybody is talking it, and they seem to have grounds for their speculation. I expect to see a great deal of development around Burley, and that section of the state, in the railroad line within the next few years.

Big Sugar Year.
"The big sugar beet plant at Burley has just completed a very successful season, and has demonstrated that we have a great sugar beet country. The plant opened operations in September, and has been running almost continuously ever since."

"Burley is decidedly on the map, and is rapidly coming to the front. There is a great deal of business activity there, and general prosperity. Our crops this year were the very best, and the farmers have had a good year."

Mr. Hunter gave out some information with regard to the cost of electricity at Burley, and on the Minidoka project that was a revelation. He declared that electricity for a large, powerful electric light was furnished at a flat rate of 25 cents a month, while for heating purposes he can heat the four rooms of the flat in which he lives by electricity at a flat rate of $1.50 per month.

"The Kuhns, who purchased the interests of Governor Brady in the electric plants in our part of the state, are planning on extensive developments, and this has added to the activity there," said Mr. Hunter. "There will be unusual activity in electrical development from now on."

FEARS ENTERTAINED FOR WHITELAW REID

London, Dec. 14.—Whitelaw Reid, American ambassador to the court of St. James was much exhausted tonight, despite the continued administration of oxygen by the specialists in attendance at Dorchester house. Though encouraging bulletins were given out, it was learned that the physicians had the gravest fears.

Bulletins issued by the physicians late in the afternoon said that Ambassador Reid was very weak and tired, but had slept and no immediate crisis was feared.

The ambassador, who is 75 years of age, has not been well since he delivered an address late in October at the opening of the University of Wales. The trip taxed his strength and brought on a return of his old asthmatic ailment. Since returning to London he has been out of his Dorchester house very little.

It was learned tonight that Ogden Mills Reid, son of the diplomat sailed for England today on the liner Kron Prinsesin Cecile, called by his father's illness.

Whitelaw Reid is the owner of the New York Tribune and has been ambassador to Great Britain since 1905.

STRONG DENIALS BY DEFENDANTS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Three Accused Men Assert Their Entire Innocence of Knowledge of Alleged Dynamiting Conspiracy.

Indianapolis, Dec. 14.—All denial records at the dynamite conspiracy trial were broken today when defendants William Shupe, of Chicago, and George Anderson and Peter J. Smith, both of Cleveland, completed direct and cross-examination.

Bitterly assailed by District Attorney Charles Miller, the trio refused to admit they conspired to win the union shops by violence or had anything to do with interstate transfers of explosives.

Incriminating incidents sworn to by as many as a dozen government witnesses were denied by the three labor leaders.

Admission would have meant their conviction and would have dragged down several of the other 28 defendants also. Smith particularly aroused the ire of the prosecutor by denying that a special delivery package alleged to have contained dynamite fuse was delivered at his house in July, 1910. Post office records were introduced to show that a package was delivered and signed by a mark opposite "Mrs. P. J. Smith." Anderson said he was at the Smith home that day and saw or heard of no such delivery. The women at the house could sign their own names, both men testified.

Denied Meeting McManigal.
They denied meeting Orville McManigal at the Cleveland railway station when the confessed dynamiter was on his way to blow up open shop jobs at Akron and North Randall, O.

Anderson gave the lie to several government witnesses who testified they saw him in the vicinity of North Randall.

Smith and Anderson, whose nickname is "Nipper," tried to establish a reputation as advocates of peaceful strike methods, in the face of letters, and alleged statements the government had introduced, to show that the men inaugurated a reign of terror in Cleveland for a number of years following 1905, the opening of the American Bridge company strike. Smith became heated in his denials. Judge Albert Anderson cautioning him at one point: "If you are a witness for those other defendants you owe it to them to tell the truth. You are impudent."

McNamara Was Honored.
Shupe's cross-examination served to show that the iron workers' convention in Milwaukee in September, 1911, did

J. J. McNamara all possible honor after he had been arrested for the Los Angeles Times explosion.

The closing days of the defense early next week are expected to develop sensations. It was still undecided tonight whether defendants Herbert Hockin, alleged double crosser, and Olaf Tveitmo, Pacific coast leader, would be called in their own behalf. There is a possibility now of a verdict in the case before Jan. 1.

ECHO OF HANGINGS AT OREGON PRISON

Hurst, will take immediate action. Faulder was a native of Australia. His brother, Norman Faulder, came across the ocean with nearly $5000 to spend in his defense. The brother says that $3800 of the money was misappropriated.

The body of Faulder was buried in the Old Fellows' cemetery here at noon today.

The bodies of Frank Garrison and Jack Roberts were interred in the City View cemetery at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Mike Morgan's body is in charge of Father Moore, the Catholic chaplain of the prison. His relatives will be communicated with. Suit was filed in the district court yesterday afternoon by Wilson Cragun and others against T. G. Foster for the collection of $535.77, with interest at 7 per cent from Oct. 23, 1909. The complaint charges that the Cragun Brothers of Ogden shipped to the Foster Mercantile company at Evanston, Wyo., fruits and vegetables to the amount for which they now sue.

HONORS ARE EVEN IN BASKETBALL AT STAR

What are claimed to have been two of the fastest basket ball games ever seen in the Star gymnasium were played off Friday night when the Emmett high school five and the Star high team clashed. Courtesies were exchanged. The Star girls' team won from the Emmett maidens by a score of 22 to 8 and the Emmett high boys' team won from the Star five by a score of 34 to 25.

The Emmett girls were outplayed from the start and hardly had a chance. The Star high school girls won handily, making their second victory over Emmett, having won the first game some time ago by a score of 13 to 5.

The first half of the boys' game was easy for Emmett, but in the second half Star braced and led the visitors. The officials were Messrs. Keller and McCall of Boise.
