

MINISTER HAD A LIVELY TIME ON BOISE VISIT

Pastor Intent on Taking the Life of Ex-Governor Brady Will Probably Be Declared Insane.

It now appears that the suggestion that Rev. Frederick A. Hamilton, the Pocatello preacher who, at the headquarters of former Governor Brady last Friday night, made threats against the life of the former chief executive during the absence of that gentleman from the rooms, be submitted to an examination as to his sanity, was made by a prominent minister of this city in whose hands Rev. Hamilton's revolver was placed for a time.

An effort made to secure denial of the story as first printed in the Capital News which thus accused the minister, temporary by several hours, proved a failure inasmuch as the denial was sought from the man admitted in the denial itself to be probably insane. Representations were made in the same article to former Governor Brady that the original story had represented him as being personally assaulted and a denial of this was secured. Governor Brady was not present in his headquarters when the threats of Hamilton were made. Hamilton seemed to be obsessed with the belief that a large number of men were pursuing him.

Ward Revolver Back. When the gun which he carried was taken away from him by the Boise pastor who, like Governor Brady, was seeking to befriend him, Mr. Hamilton made an earnest plea to have it returned. When Mr. Hamilton was in Boise some two or three weeks ago, he made complaint at the police station that he had been robbed by a woman. His conduct and his condition at that time were such that he was thrown into jail, where he remained over night and was then allowed to have his liberty.

He made many heavy purchases while here, giving checks on Pocatello banks. These checks were not paid by reason of lack of funds. One of these checks was to a local jeweler for some $80 given for the purchase of a small diamond ring which was given to a woman in this city. Just before his return to Boise last week, he induced two prominent men of Pocatello to sign a note with him for $250 payable to a bank in that city and with the funds thus received, he squandered several of the accounts in this city, including the checks drawn which were not protected by funds in the bank.

Admonished by Boise Pastor. An amusing story in connection with the sad incident is told by the Boise minister who was trying to protect Hamilton and to get him to return to Pocatello, where it was proposed to have him examined as to his sanity. The Boise minister protested in no uncertain tones to the life the Pocatello man was leading here. Hamilton professed the greatest surprise at the admonitions and defended his conduct, alleging that he had done no wrong and had committed no sins. "Well, my dear fellow," said the Boise preacher, "the world counts them sins and whatever ideas you may have convinced yourself of, certainly the world has the best of you."

"What should I do, then?" inquired the Pocatello man. "You should retire from the ministry and start a new life in some other work until you can prove your worthiness and freedom from temptation along the lines of your conduct here."

Wrote Newspaper Articles. It was at the suggestion of the Boise minister that Mr. Hamilton was taken to Pocatello and it was his suggestion also that the man be submitted to an examination as to his sanity. While in Boise on his former trip when the most peculiar conduct of all was committed and when he spent a night in the city jail, he became upon intimate terms with a number of people, among whom was the editor of the morning paper, for which paper he wrote several articles.

Mr. Hamilton, it is said, had been wonderfully successful in his ministry in Pocatello and had built up a large congregation. He is a man of more than the ordinary learning even of ministers of the gospel and personally was greatly admired. He has a wife and two children who have the entire sympathy of all who know them and there are frequent expressions of regret at the apparent loss of the brilliant intellect of Mr. Hamilton.

New Year's Eve in Gotham Hotels. New York, Dec. 30.—Seeing the old year out at the big New York hotels promises to eclipse all previous celebrations, judging from the arrangements completed at all the well-known hostleries along Broadway and Fifth avenue. The reservation of tables has been going on for weeks, and every available inch of space is reported to be for tomorrow night's guests. Music and cabinet entertainment will enter more largely into the festivities this year than ever before.

BEALE WILL HAVE THE SUPPORT OF HIS HOME COUNTY

Shoshone County Delegation Will Vote for Wallace Lawyer for the Short Term Senatorship.

Charles W. Beale will have the solid support of the Shoshone county legislative delegation for United States senator, according to the report that reached Boise today through marked copies of the Wallace Miner, containing the following story:

The popularity of Charles W. Beale of Wallace and of his candidacy for the United States senatorship lies close to the surface and find frequent expression in the speeches and letters of Republicans in all parts of the state and especially in the northern portion, where he has friends and admirers hardly less numerous than his acquaintances. Mr. Beale is not hiding his candidacy, but rather is seeking in a forceful but dignified manner to promote it. He is being given all the help that his friends can give in the confidence that the north is fully entitled to name a senator to succeed the late W. B. Heyburn, and no better man can be found for none more capable of representing north Idaho and the whole state in a capable and commendable manner than he.

Mr. Beale will go before the legislature with the united strength of a large number of the northern members behind him. He will have the unanimous and enthusiastic support of the Shoshone county delegation, who will join forces with others of the panhandle counties, thus giving assurance that Mr. Beale will have a greater strength than other candidates from the north. These facts, added to his standing in the state at large, and a consideration of his splendid equipment for the high office, will tend to make him one of the very strongest candidates in the race when the legislature takes up the election of a senator. This will be one of the first and most important duties after assembling.

It is the belief of many leaders among the Republicans that the choice of Mr. Beale would do more to cement and strengthen the party in Idaho and to assure its future solidity than the election of any other man in the state could possibly do.

WILSON ON WAY HOME; PLEASSED WITH TRIP TO HIS BIRTHPLACE

Princeton, Dec. 30.—With a miniature ship of state in one hand and a basket of Virginia apples in the other, President-elect Wilson came home last night, after an all day ride from Staunton, Va., his birthplace.

The governor had so far gained his normal strength that he talked politics with people who rode with him on different stretches of the trip. National Chairman William F. McCombs and Speaker R. L. Byrd of the Virginia legislature, talked with the governor from Staunton to Washington. At Washington, where the governor's special car stopped an hour, Jerry J. Sullivan of Iowa was received by Mr. Wilson in his state room. The president-elect did not leave his car at all while at the national capital.

Mr. Wilson had invited Mr. Sullivan to join him at Washington and they were together most of the journey from Washington to Princeton Junction. Mr. Sullivan continued on to New York. "We were just picking up the threads of the situation in Iowa," said Mr. Wilson of his talk with Mr. Sullivan. They had talked over legislative policies, he added. He was asked if he had mentioned cabinet appointments to his Iowa visitor and answered that that he had not. The inquiry was occasioned by the fact that Judge Martin Wade, national committeeman from Iowa, has urged the appointment of Mr. Sullivan as secretary of the interior.

Mr. Sullivan explained that the object of his call was to learn Mr. Wilson's position on the tariff and trust questions. "We are interested in the west in the destruction of those trusts that mean death to competition," he said. "Mr. Wilson did not comment except to say that he stood firmly behind his utterances during the campaign on these questions."

When asked last night to elaborate his remarks of Saturday night about early Philippine independence, the president-elect said he did not wish to go into the question in detail at this time, as he was not yet ready to make known his plans. May Change Its Name. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 30.—The Music Teachers' National association met in annual convention here today as the guest of Vassar college. The sessions will continue several days. Among other things the convention will consider and act upon a proposition to change the name of the organization to National Musical association.

Human Bomb on Trial. Los Angeles, Dec. 30.—Carl Reidelbach, who terrorized the central police station with an infernal machine, was placed on trial today, charged with depositing dynamite near a building with intent to kill. The district attorney says the defense of insanity is precluded as a commission of physicians will report he is sane.

WOULD MAKE THE BALL A DEMOCRATIC AFFAIR

That the inaugural ball which will act as the opening of the new state capitol building in this city on the evening of Jan. 7, should be made as democratic as possible is the sentiment that is being expressed over the state, judging from the following statement that appeared in the Blackfoot Republican:
