

NERVE OF OFFICER STOPPED ROBBERS ON OREGON TRAIN

Portland Man Tells of the Holding Up of West Bound Passenger Train on the O. W. R. & N.

That it was due entirely to the nerve and wit of Deputy Sheriff George McDuffey that the robbers who on Thursday hid up west bound train No. 5 on the O. W. R. & N. did not succeed in getting through all the coaches and making a big haul, is the report made of the affair by James Mutch of Portland, representing the McBride Wholesale Tailoring company, who is in the city and who was on the relief train that took the body of the dead train robber and the passengers to Pendleton.

Mr. Mutch assisted in getting the picture of the dead train robber, whom it was believed at first was Hugh Whitney. Mr. Mutch did not believe the robber was the noted bandit as he had observed pictures of Whitney closely before. Mr. Mutch tells a graphic story of the train robbery, which he gathered from talking with different passengers.

"After stopping the train," he said, "two of the robbers got on from the rear and marched all the train crew, even to the porter, through the coaches to the express car, where they disarmed the express agent and secured a small box from the safe without dynamiting it, although they had nitroglycerin for that purpose had they needed it. The express car and the engine were then uncoupled and run about a quarter of a mile from the main train while two of the robbers returned and began going through the coaches, beginning with the smoking car. A number of the passengers who had noticed the robbers go through the train knew what was up and had cached their valuables, but others were asleep and handed out all they had when awakened.

Pretended to Be Asleep. "Some of the passengers were entirely passed up by the robbers, which was the case with Deputy Sheriff McDuffey, who pretended to be asleep. No sooner had the robbers, one of whom was walking backward and holding the sack for valuables while the other held two guns on the passengers walking close to the first, passed him than he whipped out his revolver and when they were in the vestibule where the passengers were safe he opened fire, shooting one of the robbers twice in the back and once in the head, bringing him down. As he fell the other still holding the loot, grabbed one of the guns and returned the fire of the deputy. The bullet went straight for the officer's breast, but, striking a number of lead pencils and other obstacles in the deputy's vest pocket, glanced and made a flesh wound. The car was so filled with smoke from the black powder revolver that further shooting was useless and the one robber escaped and ran to the engine, giving the alarm.

"The bandit killed had two modern .45 Colt automatic revolvers, while the deputy sheriff had only an old-fashioned black powder gun or he would have likely gotten both men. The deputy had been at Canon City, Colo., testifying in a case and was en route to his home when the hold-up occurred and just happened to be on the train."

Mr. Mutch states that all on the train were greatly excited when the relief train with the deputies on board arrived. But few of them had heard about or recognized the name of Hugh Whitney, but the deputies who at first thought he was the man killed felt highly elated. Mr. Mutch stated today, however, that he was not surprised to learn that the fellow was not the noted bandit.

NEW DEPUTY STATE TREASURER IS NAMED

Deputy State Treasurer Fred M. Coleman, resigned his position with the state treasury department Friday night and left Saturday for Portland, where he has taken a position with the Bankers Mortgage & Trust company of Portland. George W. Green, former cashier of the Bank of Commerce and later cashier of the Idaho Trust & Savings bank, when those two institutions merged, has accepted the post of deputy state treasurer to succeed Mr. Coleman and took up his new duties this morning.

ACTION TO DISBAR NORTH IDAHO LAWYER

The second disbarment proceedings instituted before the supreme court of this state in a month appeared today in the form of an application made by C. A. Burrow of Sandpoint asking that Samuel E. Henry, an attorney of that city, be disbarred from further practicing law in this state. After citing repeated wrongful transactions alleged to have been committed by Attorney Henry, the affidavit concludes with the following indictment: "The general reputation of the said Samuel E. Henry is so bad that he is a disgrace to the legal profession, that he is a dishonor to the local bar, and he has brought discredit to the profession and shame to its members."

AUSTRIANS STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Two of the five Austrians who were stabbed Saturday afternoon when the Serbian-Austrian trouble broke loose, are still in a serious condition at the hospital, but the others are improving nicely. Two Serbians are in the county jail charged with assault with a deadly weapon, which may be changed to a murder charge should the men most seriously wounded die.

One of the men being held is the man "Nick," referred to by Mulery Rehuberta, as the man who stabbed him and the other one is a man pointed out as one who dealt several knife stabs in the affray.

It is believed that only the vigilant watch kept on the foreigners after the stabbing affair prevented further trouble Saturday night as they were in a truly moody and gathered about in groups talking excitedly. They were informed that if a further outbreak occurred they would all be locked up and with officers watching over them they made no manifestations further than sullen talk. The prisoners being held in connection with the affair are all in the county jail and their hearings will not be held until those in the hospital are sufficiently recovered to testify against them.

Utica to Celebrate. Utica, N. Y., July 6.—Preparations on an elaborate scale are being made for Utica's "old home week" celebration early next month. Among the features of the week will be the unveiling of a statue of Baron von Steuben, Washington's drillmaster, whose body is buried near here. A mammoth historical pageant will be another feature of the program. Utica was founded as a village in 1798 and as a city in 1832. It is in the center of a historic region in which, in 1777, was fought one of the decisive contests of the revolution, the battle of Oriskany, in which General Herkimer was the leader of the American forces.

Body of Chamberlain Buried. Birmingham, England, July 6.—The body of Joseph Chamberlain, Unionist leader, was buried in Hookley cemetery today. Many officials of the government and city attended.

RECOGNITION OF CARRANZA BY THE ARMY OF NORTH

Villa's Command Agrees to the Settlement Reached at the Conference Held at Torreon Saturday.

Saltillo, Mexico, July 6.—The division of the north, Villa's army, has agreed to acknowledge the authority of General Carranza as "first chief" and Villa will remain commander of the division of the north, as a result of the conference in Torreon between representatives of Villa and Carranza, according to news received here.

Huerta-Zapata Alliance Reported. Vera Cruz, July 6.—It is rumored here that an alliance between Provisional President Huerta and Emiliano Zapata, the revolutionary leader is to be formed soon.

Both here and in the capital the conviction exists that a crisis is imminent but only vague reasons are offered for the fear that the next few days will see a development.

Mexicans prominent in the political, commercial and social life of the capital are joining in increasing strength, the army of fugitives.

Several foreigners other than British have taken the advice of Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, to get out of what he regards as dangerous territory.

Two special trains, made up of the best equipment, with the blinds of the sleeping cars drawn, left the capital for Puerto Mexico Friday night and Saturday morning respectively, according to persons who arrived here from Mexico City. Among the passengers are said to have been General Joaquin Maas, Jr., and his family and Querida Mobero, former minister of commerce.

It is reported that Jorge Huerta, son of the president and one of Huerta's daughters also were on one of the trains. It is understood that the president's wife remained in the capital. Mexicans from the capital report they heard she would not abandon her husband. Mexicans from the interior and just beyond the American lines do not regard seriously the elections held Saturday. It is pointed out such elections could scarcely have any conciliatory effect on the constitutionalists and never could be regarded as legal, since the government is powerless to comply with the provisions of the law that the votes be cast freely throughout the territory.

Final Stand at Queretaro. Eagle Pass, Tex., July 6.—Constitutionalist troops from the division of the east have been ordered by General Pablo Gonzales to proceed at once to Queretaro, according to reports from Saltillo. The movement, it is thought here, was precipitated by the withdrawal of a body of federal troops under General Pascual Orozco from the Queretaro garrison to reinforce the garrison of Mexico City, although the final stand of the federalists is expected at Queretaro.

Colonel Francisco Mariel, who is operating under the command of General Jesus Carranza, arrived at Saltillo Saturday to discuss with the chief of the conditions in the field near San Luis. He said the entire country was friendly to the constitutionalists and that if sufficient arms could be provided, General Jesus Carranza could have a force of 35,000 within a few days.

Colonel Mariel declared that the San Luis garrison had been so weakened by continued withdrawals of troops that he did not expect the federalists to make a strong resistance.

BURRELL TO LEAVE GAME WARDEN OFFICE

That David Burrell, one of the chief clerks in the state game warden's office, will be or has been removed from office or asked to resign became general knowledge about the state house is now on the job as game warden today. Warden Gowen of Caldwell is now on the job as game warden and is said to have issued telegrams to deputy wardens announcing his appointment and calling for department changes.

Since his removal Mr. Barber has not been heard from. It is understood that during the recent state convention here great pressure was brought to bear on the governor by delegations, particularly from Canyon and other counties, to remove him because of alleged anti-Haines sentiment he was spreading over the state. The governor still refuses to discuss the matter of Barber's removal, but strongly intimated that he is prepared to back up his action to the letter should the former warden reply to his act.

STATE CAPITOL FUND IS NOW EXHAUSTED

and the breakage of machinery. The slogan of the legislature was "economy" and the appropriation as cut was approved by the house and senate.

Refuse Deficiencies.
 The same legislature laid down the order that departments of the state would have to live within their appropriations and deficiencies could not be made by them. To emphasize this rule the legislature passed an act making it a misdemeanor for any department head to issue a deficiency warrant and held the state auditor liable under his bond to pay a deficiency warrant. The act of issuing one was made a misdemeanor. The only vested authority for the issuance of such a warrant was given to the state board of examiners, which was allowed to order them issued if an emergency existed.

When the capitol building maintenance fund began to drop to a dangerously low margin six months ago the commission became anxious. Now that it has practically played out it has caused a serious situation. The state board of examiners met and after considering the situation decided to authorize the $10,000 deficiency, a part of which will be required to tide the building maintenance over until the legislature meets again.

Confere With Clearing House.
 The banks heretofore have been cautious about handling deficiency warrants, due to the uncertainty of the legislature standing behind them, it is said. The matter of taking care of the issue had been brought to the attention of the clearing house with the result that the capitol commission and members of the clearing house were in conference this afternoon on the proposition of handling the issue. It is said there is another medium open to the commission for consideration and that is the purchase of deficiency warrants through another fund.

"The building is a white elephant," remarked a member of the appropriation committee of the last legislature.

"Yes," replied a member of the commission, "but we own the elephant and have got to feed it."
