YOUTH SHOOTS IN DEFENSE OF GIRLS; VICTIM MAY DIE

George Freeman Probably Fatally Wounded by Frank Brim in Shooting Affray at Caldwell.

Caldwell, Sept. 17.—George Freeman, a buckaroo of this city, lies at his home today in a paralytic condition from which physicians say he cannot recover as the result of pistol wounds received Saturday evening at about 9:45 o'clock at the hands of Frank Brim, the 15-year-old son of C. B. Brim of this city, who claims he fired the shots to protect himself and his little sister and another little girl, who was accompanying them from the Huree theater which they had attended, from Freeman and Henry Labby, a horse trader, who was with Freeman.

In passing Freeman and Labby, both of whom were drunk, on their return from the Huree, young Brim and the girls were accosted by the drunken men, who began to taunt the lad about the girls and to make remarks to them which he resented, and he told the men to discontinue the remarks and to tend to their own business, whereupon Labby started after the boy, who told the girls to run.

THREATENED TO SHOOT. Labby succeeded in catching young Brim and struck him in the eye and on the face, inflicting painful bruises. The lad finally succeeded in breaking away from Labby and started to follow the girls when Freeman joined in the chase after Brim. Young Brim then advised Freeman to stop or he would shoot, and continuing after the boy regardless of this warning he received two wounds from the pistol of the lad, one in the right arm and one just above the heart which has resulted in the paralyzing of his body below that point.

A passing automobile rushed Freeman to his home where his wounds were dressed. Labby was arrested upon the charge of assault and his bond has been fixed at $500 by Judge Meek of the probate court. Young Brim has not as yet been arrested and it is doubtful whether or not he will be. Public sentiment is entirely with him and both Freeman and Labby censured by the citizens of this city. At the time they met young Brim and the girls the men were in the northwestern part of the city, one on a horse and the other standing near by. Both, it is reported, were in an intoxicated condition. It is reported that Freeman served a term in the state penitentiary a number of years ago for grand larceny.

LAVA HOT SPRINGS WATER ON PROPERTY OF STATE BLISTERS

Reports That It Is Not as Warm as Ever Denied by State Sanitary Inspector White in Charge.

In answer to many amusing reports that have been circulated in this and other parts of the state about the water at Lava Hot Springs, where the state owns a valuable health resort, has lost its great heat, is emphatically denied by State Sanitary Inspector J. K. White who is in charge for the land board.

The commissioner made the following statement regarding the reports: "The waters of the Lava hot springs are just as warm now as they ever were and the flow is far greater than ever before known. A short time ago the upper hot pool enclosure was torn down to allow for the new building, and it then became necessary to dig trenches to carry the water away so that the excavation for the pool and trenches for the walls could be dug."

"In doing this the water level in the springs basin had to be lowered, which reduced the pressure and allowed the water to come out on a lower level. This resulted in raising the intake pipe for the Natatorium almost above the water level, allowing a small flow of water, with enough air in the pipe to cool it considerably before reaching the pool. The unknown readily believed that the water had gone cold."

For the past week Sanitary Inspector White has had a force of men busy trying to overcome this difficulty so that the natatorium could continue its bathing while the work was going on for the new pool. Dams built at night and over Sunday raise the water so that the natatorium receives as strong a flow of hot water as ever, and a pipe is now being laid to carry the water from the points where excavation is being done, which will allow the trench to again be filled with dirt which will return the water from the hillside to its former level and possibly a little higher.

It is a very delicate piece of work as the waters are very stubborn at times and it really takes perseverance to meet the conditions confronting. But there is positively no danger of the water pressure being reduced any when the work is finished and there will be a greater flow than before.

FORMER DEAN HEARD AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Dr. Charles E. Deuel, formerly dean of St. Michael's, was greeted by a large audience, as for the first time in 14 years he filled his old place in the pulpit of St. Michael's Sunday morning. There were many present who used to be among the listeners in old St. Michael's where Dr. Deuel occupied the pulpit for years, before going on to larger work and higher honors in the eastern field.

Dr. Deuel was in a reminiscent frame of mind as he began his discourse, and it was in a similar spirit that the interested assembly listened intently to every word of the splendid sermon through which, like a golden thread, the reminiscent strain was ever woven.

Christianity and democracy entered largely into the theme of the speaker who proved that during all the years of the past the teachings of Christianity inclined toward the principles of democracy.

Dr. Deuel spoke of the joy of having been associated with the church during the constructive period of its life in Boise. He paid a touching tribute to those faithful ones who had passed away.

Dr. Deuel, as of yore, when he beloved dean of old St. Michael's, was at the door to speak a word of greeting to his congregation as they passed out, and it became a reception of old-time friends and members of St. Michael's as they thronged about him.
