SPORTS
YANKEE PUGS WILL HAVE TO STEP SOME

Swedish, Australian and Filipino Boxers Whip American Representatives—Belts May Not be Very Secure.

America holds all the boxing championships from 116 pounds up. Any title holder in foreign countries must whip some unbeatens Yankee before he can lay claim to a world title. But there are signs that this may not continue to be the case, and that some of the belt wearers will have to spruce up if the stars and stripes are to float over them in the future.

Didn't we read not long ago about two Swedes over in Stockholm wallowing the daylight out of two of our premier amateur boxers? And didn't the telegraph and cable bring us the news more recently that Eddie Kelly, whom we know to be one of the stiffest and shiftest lightweights in the game, had been licked by Lew Edwards, champion of Australia? Tom Andrews took Eddie and Joe Moon over to the Antipodes and Edwards beat 'em both.

With knockouts, too. And when you stop to think that Benny Leonard himself, lightweight champion, wasn't able to hand the sporadic to Kelly, you're prone to wonder what Edwards really is capable of.

And then this Denzio lad over in Manila—narrow Filipino fighter—up and beats Abe Brown of New York and George Ingles of San Francisco.

Really it behooves our pugilists to specialize in boxing and forget foremanship for a while if American pre-eminence in the ring is to be maintained.

CARPENTIER CHALLENGES. Paris, Dec. 13.—Georges Carpentier, European heavy-weight champion, has officially challenged Jack Dempsey to decide the championship of the world.
