

Y. W. C. A. TO START SURVEY FOR WOMEN IN OCCUPATIONS

New York Organisation Hopes to Be Able to Show the Character of Work Fair Sex Can Take Up.

The Young Women's Christian association is conducting a survey of New York city and vicinity to investigate opportunities for women trained in employment and personnel work.

The first survey to be completed was that in department stores, to investigate the opportunities for educational directors, employment managers and so forth, and also for buyers.

Opportunities for women who can speak, read and write languages other than English were numerous during the war. The Y. W. C. A. survey will visit import and export houses, shipping firms, banks and so forth.

For women for whom the bureau cannot find positions on account of their age, personality or home responsibilities, information about all the exchanges and shops in Manhattan where articles made at home may be sold has been collected and placed on file in the central branch of the Y. W. C. A.

UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL WILL BE HELD

University of Idaho, Moscow, Dec. 23.—Definitely scheduled for the period from June 14 to July 23, the University of Idaho's 1920 summer school is expected to be substantially larger and more comprehensive than the successful session held in 1919.

A preliminary announcement covering summer session activities will be issued in folder form within the coming few days.

EIGHT CHILDREN HAD CROUP

"I have eight children and give Foley's Honey and Tar to all of them," writes Mrs. W. Rehkamp, 2404 Herman St., Covington, Ky. "They were all subject to croup."

CATHOLIC BOYS GIVE CLEVER PLAY

"Tom Playfair" Dramatic Version of Story by Rev. Francis J. Finn Given Before Audience at St. John's Hall.

"Tom Playfair," a play in four acts, a dramatic version of the well known story by Rev. Francis J. Finn, S. J., formed the principal part of an entertainment given Monday evening by boys of St. Joseph's school for boys.

The cast of characters consisted of Raymond Schmitt, "Tom Playfair," Remi Sidenfaden, "Percy Wynn," Jack Dunning, "Harry Dee," George Smith, "Mr. Middleton, Prefect," Firmin Droschke, "George Keenan," Maurice Doerr, "James Aldine," Kenneth Zapp, "Will Hardy," and Tom Parker, "Hartnett."

The proceeds from the sale of tickets will be added to a fund which the boys of St. John's congregation will present to Bishop Gorman to assist in furnishing the new cathedral.

DECEMBER MAGAZINES

The Christmas season is a full of delightful surprises as a Christmas stocking. Besides the current installments of three big novels by Gouverneur Morris, Arthur Stringer and Edwin Balmer there are some splendid short stories by such popular writers as Robert W. Chambers, P. Britten Austin, W. W. Jacobs, Albert Payson Terhune, Roland Pertwee, Arthur Somers Roche and Bruno Lessing.

Among many interesting articles the following are worthy of special mention: "How Arnie Got 'Too Big to Fight'" is a discussion of the probability of universal disarmament by Guglielmo Ferrero, the famous Italian historian. In "Nearly Dying for a Living" Harry Houdini, the handcuff king, tells of some of his many narrow escapes from death.

A rather unusual scene was witnessed recently in St. Nicholas avenue, near One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, New York. Roland Raymond, 18, was fatally injured in a collision of motor trucks and lay surrounded by a crowd awaiting the coming of an ambulance.

RECOMMENDS CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

"My daughter, eight years of age used a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a year ago last spring when she had whooping cough and she recovered from the attack in a short time. Since then we have always kept a bottle of that remedy in the house and have used it with good results," writes Mrs. F. L. Newton, Irving, N. Y.

Shakespeare's "Seven ages of man" pay tribute to Horlick's Malted Milk

From across every sea and land have come thousands of grateful letters to the Horlick offices, paying tribute to Horlick's Malted Milk. Mothers of contented babies, soldiers after a campaign, explorers back from the ice fields, high tension business and professional workers, invalids and the aged—all tell of the different needs that Horlick's has filled.

Horlick's has proved itself to be the ideal food for every age of Shakespeare's Seven. It is so complete in itself as to contain every element of nutrition necessary to sustain life—even of the most robust—and yet it is readily digestible by the delicate stomach of the infant and the invalid.

In these interesting extracts from letters to us the story is told:

1st Age. "First the infant in the nurse's arms" "Words fall to express how grateful I am to Horlick's Malted Milk. My babe was given up; it was said she would not live through the night. But the next morning it still lived, and while we anxiously watched it, a neighbor persuaded us to try 'Horlick's.' It was like putting oil on the wick of a dying lamp; she improved rapidly, and is now the joy of the house."

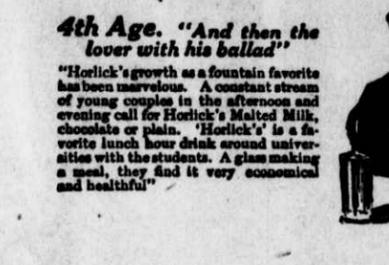

3d Age. "Then the soldier seeking reputation at the cannon's mouth"

"Clara Barton of the Red Cross in her stories of the Spanish-American War tells how Colonel Roosevelt asked the Red Cross to sell him some supplies for some sick men in his regiment, but she declined. 'We cannot sell them, but you can have them for asking.' 'Oh, then I do ask for them.' 'All right, what is on your list?' The list was Horlick's Malted Milk, etc. Colonel Roosevelt slung the heavy sack over his shoulder, and trotted off through the jungle."

2d Age. "Then the school boy with his shining morning face"

"I raised five children on 'Horlick's,' and they all love it still. It can't be beat as a nutritious lunch between meals for a growing boy or girl."

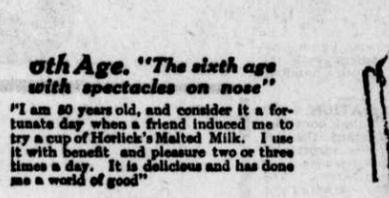

4th Age. "And then the lover with his ballad"

"Horlick's growth as a fountain favorite has been marvelous. A constant stream of young couples in the afternoon and evening call for Horlick's Malted Milk, chocolate or plain. 'Horlick's' is a favorite lunch hour drink around universities with the students. A glass making a meal, they find it very economical and healthful."

5th Age. "And then the justice full of wise saws"

"When I need an invigorator as the result of my work I drink a cup of 'Horlick's.' I have used it constantly for several years, and find it cannot be beat for weak stomach, as a diet. In fact, it is all that is claimed for it!"

6th Age. "The sixth age with spectacles on nose"

"I am 80 years old, and consider it a fortunate day when a friend induced me to try a cup of Horlick's Malted Milk. I use it with benefit and pleasure two or three times a day. It is delicious and has done me a world of good"

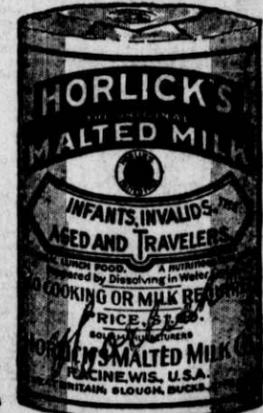

7th Age. "Last scene of all that ends this eventful history"

"I could not do without it. It surely is a sleep producer and I am a nervous person, but Horlick's Malted Milk has helped me greatly. I have learned by experience that 'Horlick's' is as excellent for well people as for invalids"

"OH, BOY" MUSICAL COMEDY AT PINNEY ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

New York Princess Theatre Success Will Be Here Three Days—Full of Popular Song Hits.

MAJESTIC TO CLOSE SERIAL THIS WEEK

Final Episode of "Smashing Barriers" to Be Shown Wednesday and Thursday—Vaudeville Acts Today.

"Oh Boy," the smartest and brightest musical comedy of many seasons and the fourth of the series of New York Princess theatre musical comedies will be the offering at the Pinney theatre three days, starting New Year's day matinee. There will also be Saturday matinee.

The fifteenth and final episode of the thrilling serial, "Smashing Barriers," which has been a heavily patronized midweek feature at the Majestic for more than three months, will be shown Wednesday and Thursday. In this chapter the hero (William Duncan), his sweetheart and their friends triumph over the gang of ruffians who have made life miserable for them in the previous chapters and have attempted to kill them by the most devilish means imaginable, from trapping them in a house with moving walls intended to crush them to death, to shooting at them with explosive bullets.

AT THE BOISE THEATRES TODAY.

- PINNEY—Dark. STRAND—May Allison in "Fair and Warmer," screen version of well known stage farce, "Japan," natural color picture. Special symphony orchestra music. MAJESTIC—Reed and Hooper in vaudeville sketch, "The Girl and the Traveler." Leo Miller, Rumanian violinist, Tom Mix and Colleen Moore in "The Wilderness Trail," Canadian love story. EMPRESS—"Shadows," featuring Geraldine Farrar.

primitive." The story is highly romantic. The first-of-the-week vaudeville card at the Majestic will also close this evening. The artists on the program are Leo Miller, a violin player who has made a hit with vaudeville patrons, and Reed & Hooper, who offer a dialogue which they call "The Girl and the Traveler."

CONFUSING CONDITION FOUND IN MAN'S HOME

In the 24th chapter of Deuteronomy it states: "When a man hath taken a wife, and married her and it comes to pass that she find no favor in his eyes, then let him write her a bill of divorcement"—even though in the 18th chapter of St. Matthew it does state "What therefore, God hath joined together let no man put asunder." In the mystery play "The Relations of a Wife" Grant Sterling, a lawyer, would have had little trouble in divorcing his wife, for she was a woman with a past, and it was found that she had formerly been married to her husband's private secretary, bringing about a confusing, startling condition, which Sterling discovered by intercepting code messages passed between his wife and secretary right under his nose. The working out of this exceptionally dramatic plot furnishes one of the most unique and startling stories ever written.

This drama will be presented at the Pinney, Dec. 25, opening with a matinee performance, and will be presented three nights with a matinee each day. Everybody will be admitted Christmas Day at both matinee and evening performances, but the matinee Friday and Saturday will be for women only.
