WAR MOTHERS GIVE A FINE PROGRAM

Last Sunday evening, at the church in this city, the War Mothers of Challis gave an excellent program in commemoration of Armistice Day. These grand old ladies, the mothers of our World War Veterans, assembled at the church in a body, and, as one gazed upon them, one could not help looking backwards through the dim vistas of the years to the time when they gave to their country their stalwart sons, gave, without a tremor their own flesh and blood—gave them to do and die if need be, that the foundations of civilization should not totter and fall. The many, many, sleepless nights—the hours of anguish for their brave sons—the uncertainty as to what fate had overtaken them “somewhere in France” was harder to bear than the hardships and ever-existent dangers of the battlefield. One could not help recalling how anxiously these dear old ladies scanned the casualty lists, those dreaded lists which grew longer day by day—hoping, trusting and praying that their boy would not be among those who offered up the supreme sacrifice on the altar of his country. It seems to us that now, as always, the greater burden lies upon the shoulders of the Mothers who gave our fighters life and the will, manhood and courage to do and dare. Honor to them and may God withhold such suffering again and say with President Harding: “This must not happen again!”

CAPLES-BEERS
At six o'clock Monday evening, October 30th., at the Episcopal rectory, T. O. Beers was married to Mrs. Elsie Caples, Rev. Z. T. Vincent officiating. Mr. Beers is one of the proprietors of the Red Cross Pharmacy in this city, and Mrs. Caples is well known as having taught in the city schools for several past years. Both are popular and well known to readers of the Herald.

The couple went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bellamy, where at seven o'clock Mrs. Bellamy, and Mrs. C. A. Beers, sisters of the lucky groom, served a wedding dinner. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. Hamner, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Connell, Mrs. Boyle, Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Beers and Dean Bellamy. The couple was soon treated to more than the usual quantum of tincan music, which accompanied the effusive congratulations of a host of their friends.

Friends of the estimable couple then summoned them to the opera house, where music had been provided, and a grand wedding dance was given in their honor, and at the appropriate hour supper was served at the Royal Cafe. The couple will reside in one of Mrs. Wood's cottages on Shoup street.—Salmon Herald.

Mrs. Caples is well known here and has a host of friends who join with us in wishing her every happiness.

Author's Sound Advice.
It is a familiar custom for an author of some merit but little fame to get a more celebrated colleague to introduce his book. The custom is sometimes run into the ground. Such an author applied to Mr. Bernard Shaw for a preface. Shaw replied: "Swim on your own, don't trust corks."

SALMON NEWSPAPER MAN DIES SUDDENLY SATURDAY

Last Saturday evening, James Melvin, editor and publisher of the Salmon Recorder at Salmon City, dropped dead in his office following an altercation, so we are informed, with three young men of that town over the present Red Cross drive.

An inquest over the remains was held Monday but the result has not been learned here as yet.

Several people passing through this city from Salmon state that feeling is running quite high in that city.

We are withholding judgment until all the facts in the case have been learned.

If they are as stated, it looks bad indeed for the young men said to implicated.

James Melvin was a newspaper man of the old school and was around 65 years of age when death overtook him. During the war Mr. Melvin gave a large amount of space in his paper to the different war drives and aided materially in putting them "over the top."
