Judge H. Taylor, wife and son, were over from Mt. Idaho Monday visiting among old friends.

Atty. A. S. Hardy, of Grangeville, was in the city on legal business Tuesday and Wednesday.

James Connelly, a miner recently from Mullan, Idaho, was in the city during the week on his way to the Hump country.

Miss Maggie Howell, of this city, was elected Goddess of Liberty at Grangeville by a vote of 2085. Miss Day was second with 852.

Frank G. Nuxoll, county commissioner from the second district, has filed his resignation and will retire as soon as his successor is appointed.

Fred Wright, who works at Bieker's mill, last week had the misfortune to break one of his feet. We have not been able to get the particulars.

John Jackshaw and family, of Uniontown, Wash., arrived in the city last Saturday to visit with their relatives, Joseph Scholer and family. Mrs. Scholer and Mrs. Jackshaw are sisters. Mr. Jackshaw says he never saw a finer crop prospect than there is all over the country between here and the Palouse.

Lost—Between the ranch of Lum Yandell and Grangeville, a flour sack containing woman's and children's clothes. Finder please notify this office.

All schools desiring to purchase blackboards or school supplies of any kind call on or address E. Pearl Martin, Cottonwood, Idaho, who can duplicate any price.

E. A. Lancaster was up from Salmon river the fore part of the week. While here Ed showed his appreciation of the Chronicle by having it sent to his address.

Uncle Tom Tierney, of Uniontown, Moscow and Genesee, passed through here Sunday on his way home from Denver, at which place he has property interests.

Geo. Stuber shipped 32 head of 2 and 3 year old cattle to Nome last week and the aggregate weight was 50,200 pounds, or an average of 1568 1/2 per head. How's that for calves?

Persons contemplating the use of building material will do well to figure with Chase Bros., of Keuterville, Idaho, as they have lumber and prices to suit all. Remember they have a lot of fine pine and tamarac shingles constantly on hand.

Atty. Clay McNamee and George Davis, "the rooster," were in this city during the fore part of the week. Mr. McNamee was attending to business in connection with the Gilbert murder case and had George with him as mascot.

A fine large new house is nearly completed on the school section below town. It is the property of George Fortmann and we understand that George is going to put an end to his single cussedness on the 4th. He has the best wishes of the CHRONICLE.

What would have been a fine dance out at Charlie Staal's last Tuesday night was spoiled by a heavy rainstorm, which kept the would be participants at home. Charlie says he's going to have a dance at his place just the same in the near future.

John Fortmann last Tuesday moved his traction engine from his ranch below town up in the saw mill, where the engine will be used to saw slab wood. John says they are going to furnish their own wood for the engine during the harvesting season on the prairie.

Jim Roke for the past week or so has been helping Gabe Collier to build a new house and grainery. Mr. Collier is a very enterprising farmer and never overlooks an opportunity to make improvements. It is such people that make a country look prosperous.

W. W. Brown, cashier of the Bank of Camas Prairie, and J. N. Brown, cashier of the Alamo National bank, at San Antonio, Texas, came over from Grangeville Tuesday to visit their brother, our merchant, W. L. Brown. Mr. J. N. Brown will remain in this section a short time when he will return to Texas.

We are in receipt of a letter from C. B. Stewart, the Westlake mill man, in which he says that he has returned to Westlake from Freewater, Ore., and has found everything in a very satisfactory condition. The contractors have the frame work of the mill ready to raise as soon as the foundation is completed and the outlook to Mr. Stewart is very encouraging.

Pendleton, Ore., June 18.—Insane Patient Joseph Kelsch, who is being taken from North Idaho to the Blackfoot asylum, was brought here from Helix, this county, where he was found by a deputy sheriff. Kelsch had jumped from the passenger train Saturday night near Wallula, while it was under a speed of 25 miles an hour. He wandered over the country without food or shelter. He explained his action by saying: "I saw the car window open and God commanded me to jump. Of course, I obeyed the Almighty and we it out head first."

Kelsch was turned over to the asylum officials.—Review.

James Tierney, of White Bird, was in the city Saturday. He left Sunday for the lower country to be absent two or three weeks. Mr. Tierney speaks in the highest praise of the Salmon river country and nothing can shake his firm belief that White Bird is to become the greatest mining camp in the northwest. He is also sanguine as to the arrival there of a railroad in the near future. Mr. Tierney has three fine claims adjoining the one now being operated on by a diamond drill, which latter claim, he says, is making a wonderful showing, but that very little news is allowed to leak out. The diamond drill men are seeking to get hold of all the properties in that neighborhood for little money and for that reason no one knows much about the findings of the company.
