BRITISH GOVERNMENT POLICY

TO TREAT BOERS AS BRIGANDS.
Mr. Chamberlain's Statement in Re- gard to Present War Support- ed-Boers to Suffer Death Penalty —Leniency a Thing of the Past.

New York, Aug. 5.—Commenting upon the latest announced policy of the British government in dealing with the Boers, the London correspondent of the Tribune says:

The statement made by Mr. Chamberlain in the house of commons recently with regard to the war in South Africa was received with loud cheers from his supporters. The prompt action of the government in telegraphing General Kitchener that all Boers guilty of killing natives employed by the British forces were to suffer the death penalty is generally approved, although some people affect to believe it will lead to further barbarities by the Boers toward any white prisoner that may fall into their hands.

In any case, the policy of leniency on the part of General Kitchener has become a thing of the past, and armed Boers will in future be treated as brigands. There is much bitter discussion in and out of parliament, but the most reasonable view is that the guerrilla warfare has reached the state of demoralization where Boer commanders can not be controlled by either General Botha or Mr. Kruger.
 It has been expected from the outset by South Africans that the final stage of the campaign would be characterized by acts of desperation on the Boer side. So intense is the desire to have the campaign finished that even the atrocities would be welcomed by many if they could be convinced that these were signs that the end of a deplorable war was in sight.

Gigantic Railway Scheme.
 St. Paul, Aug. 7.—Robert Barbier, manager of the Russo-China bank of Pekin, representative of the Russian government and manager of the Manchurian railroad, who is at present in St. Paul, is said to be connected with a tremendous scheme of railroad construction destined to unite Alaska and Siberia and furnish rail and water connections between Circle City and Vladivostock, the eastern terminus of the trans-Siberian railroad, at a cost of $200,000,000. The enterprise, it is stated, has the backing of the Bank of France and powerful money interests in the United States. It is essentially a French-American undertaking for which capital is already in sight, should it prove feasible, and in which it was talked in railroad circles James J. Hill is to become interested.

The length of the proposed railroad from Circle City to Bering sea will be about 2000 miles and on the coast of Siberia to Vladivostock 1800 miles. If the concessions are secured from the United States and the protection afforded the property of the company is adequate the primary survey will commence shortly.

M. Barbier, it is stated, is in the United States for the purpose of obtaining information as to the probable attitude of the government towards the proposed line.

Daniel Wells, Jr., who celebrated his 93rd birthday recently, has lived 66

Poisoned by Absorption

POISON OAK, Through the pores of the skin many poisons are POISON IVY, absorbed into the blood, deranging the circulation BARBER'S ITCH, and affecting the constitution as quickly and LEAD AND BRASS seriously as those generated within the system. Just POISONING, ETC. under the skin are innumerable hair-like blood vessels, and connecting these with the skin are millions of small tubes or glands, through which the poison is conveyed to the blood system. During the spring and summer, while the skin is most active and the pores well open, we are much more liable to be affected by Poison Oak and Ivy and other dangerous plants. Workers in brass, copper, lead and zinc have their health impaired and the blood supply poisoned through the absorption of fine particles of these metals and the acids used in polishing and cleaning them. Inhaling the fumes of lead give painters that pallid, waxy appearance of the skin. Barber's Itch is another disease that reaches the blood through the skin, and is a most obstinate one when it becomes firmly fixed in the system. After the blood and been disseminated throughout the system it's too late to resort to local applications. In many cases the blood is affected simultaneously with the appearance of the rash or eruption on the skin, and all efforts should be directed to the purification and building up of the blood. Ugly eruptions and sores will continue to break out in spite of salves, washes, soaps or other external treatment.

S. S. S. is especially recommended for poisons of this character. So completely does it destroy the effects of the Oak and Ivy that there is no possibility of their reappearance, and it is equally as efficacious in brass or lead poisoning or Barber's Itch; building up and purifying the blood and driving out of the circulation impurities of every kind, and removing every blemish, sore or eruption from the skin. There is no substitute for S. S. S.; it is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the safest and best in all constitutional or blood diseases.

MANIAC DID DEADLY WORK

MOSCOW'S EXCITING SUNDAY
William Steffen Shot Dr. W. W. Wat- kins With Fatal Results—Officer Cool Seriously Wounded—Fugitive Reached
His Mother's House—He Was Killed.

Moscow, Idaho, Aug. 5.—About 8:30 Sunday morning William Steffen, while apparently insane, shot and instantly killed Dr. W. W. Watkins, a moment later shot George V. Creighton in the right arm, and just a few minutes afterwards shot and seriously wounded Deputy Sheriff W. E. Cool, who was endeavoring to arrest him.
 He then started to ride to his mother's place, a mile east of the city, when he was halted by Sheriff Collins. Steffen shot at the officer four times, and finally escaped on foot, the sheriff shooting Steffen's horse. Steffen ran to his mother's house in which he took refuge, and for two hours held a crowd of more than 50 men armed with rifles at bay. Finally the crowd made a rush on the house, and on entering found Steffen's dead body lying on the floor in an upstairs room. He had been shot in the left leg below the knee, the bones of the leg being broken. The wound had been inflicted while Steffen was down stairs, and he had then crawled to the flight above, where he had been shot through the left breast, inflicting an almost instantly fatal wound.

From all that can be learned, the shooting was entirely unprovoked. The shooting of Dr. Watkins was witnessed by a number of ladies. Mrs. W. A.
 Simpson, who saw the shooting, states that about 8:30 she noticed Dr. Watkins driving down First street towards the business part of town. He had just crossed Jefferson street when Steffen rode rapidly up that street and called out, "Hello, Doctor!" in a loud voice.
 Dr. Watkins pulled up his horse and began to speak to Steffen, when the latter presented a short revolver and shot, the muzzle of the gun being almost against the doctor's body. The doctor gave a piercing scream and Steffen shot again, the doctor's body lurched forward, and the buggy horse starting at a gallop down the street. The shots and the doctor's scream were heard by a number of people and the horse was seen running down First street, and was stopped near the corner of that street and Main. It was found that the doctor was dead, the first shot having penetrated the body back of the left nipple and pierced the heart. The second shot entered the right temple and lodged in the brain.
 As Watkins' horse ran down the street Steffen wheeled his horse, rode back to Second street, and then rode east on that street. A block further east Steffen passed George V. Creighton, and shot at him once, the bullet striking the right arm above the elbow and passing directly through the arm.
 Steffen then raced his horse out along Second street for another block and then turned into Third and continued east on that street to the city limits, threatening the houses along the street with his revolver.

By this time Deputy Sheriff Cool had been notified, and started up Third street in pursuit. Just after passing the High school building, Cool and Steffen met, and the latter shot the officer twice, the first bullet striking the left shoulder, and it is thought lodged under the shoulder blade. As Cool was falling Steffen shot again, the bullet striking the right hip.
 Just beyond the courthouse square Steffen was accosted by Sheriff Joseph Collins, and a running fight ensued, Steffen shooting at the officer four times, missing him, while Collins took several shots at Steffen, with equal lack of success. The sheriff's last shot struck Steffen's horse in the hind leg, breaking the bones. Steffen then deserted his horse, and ran to his mother's house, which was within a quarter of a mile.

The house in which Steffen had taken refuge, was quickly surrounded while Sheriff Collins sent in for rifles and more men. Within an hour there were at least fifty men about the place, all armed with rifles, and an attempt was made to advance in a body. Steffen then began shooting, the bullets passing within close proximity to the heads of many of the sheriff's posse.

Although the posse was driven back to a distance of four or five hundred yards, for a time Steffen continued his fusillade, which was replied to by many of the posse and it is thought that at least 200 shots were fired at the house.
 After a time, no further firing being observed from the house, a part of the posse were formed into a charging party, and the house was rushed. Steffen's dead body being found in the upper story, lying near a window, one pane of which had been pierced by a rifle bullet, while several bullet holes were to be observed through the wall of the room close to where the mad man had evidently been standing when shot.
 At the coroner's inquest held on the body of Steffen, evidence was found on the body of the murderer that leads to the belief that Steffen had intended to kill not only Watkins but also a number of others. Written in ink on the envelope in his pocket were the names of W. W. Watkins, George Langdon, August Held, E. E. Jolly, all citizens of Moscow. Langdon and Held, who are in town, state that they know of no reason why Steffen should desire to kill them. Jolly is not in town. On another envelope Steffen had written with pencil: "If the inevitable comes I want to rest in Pullman." On still another envelope he had written in large letters: "I didn't get the right ones after all." Steffen's mother says that he son had
