FRIDAY, NOV. 27, 1908.

Good morning! Have you been to Turkey?

Turkey is popularly supposed to form the main part of a Thanksgiving dinner but we will bet its absence yesterday in many homes was not felt half as much by the cook as the lack of eggs to enter into the construction of many other eatables for the day.

From the way the main streets are being filled in in places it will be up to the town next spring to vote a bond and have the streets put up to grade through the business center of town. Miniature hills and valleys in our streets do not look good and the sooner the streets are placed in good condition the better.

Prosperity seems to have struck the eastern states in big chunks since election, judging from the number of factories that have started operations again, but Taft's election has not as yet effected the Camas Prairie egg factories to speak of. The old hens still remain standing and refuse to lay, even though fifty cents a dozen is offered for their product.

Charles Parsons, republican representative from Idaho county, is "being mentioned" for speaker of the house at Boise this winter. He would no doubt make a very good man for the office but its a safe bet that if a certain south Idaho man named Hunt aspires for the office all others who "have been" mentioned will be entirely out of the running.

The weather may be bad now, but few care, as it has been nice so long that the farmers have been able to get practically all of their hauling done and have also done an immense amount of fall plowing. In fact, there has been more ground turned over this fall than for many years past and the grain acreage on the prairie next year will be larger than ever before. The wet weather now will cause the fall sown grain to make a good growth and the moisture now going into the ground will do wonders in the way of producing an immense crop next year. Camas Prairie farmers will make the rest of the country sit up and take notice next fall when they begin to market millions of bushels of fine grain from land that was once thought fit for nothing but to grow grass for cattle and cayuses.

My idea of a boy is one who will grow up and be able to support a wife and children. To be fit to be an American citizen he has got to preserve his self-respect and conduct himself so as to wrong no one. Fathers need the most preaching. Frequently the mothers who have had hard lives take the unwise course in attempting to benefit their daughters and sons by bringing them up free from hard knocks. Next to hardness of heart the next least desirable quality is softness of head, and the mother and father should not try to bring up their child in that way. You don't get the right stuff out of those children for the next war, or you don't get decent citizens when there isn't any war. Bring them up to work so that they shall recognize an obstacle is not to be shirked, but to be overcome.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Poor Man.

Man that is born of women is of few days and full of wind. When he is small the big girls kiss him and when he is big they give him the go by. As a kid he always gets the little end of the stick. Because he is a boy he has to run errands and wear dad's old pants. His big sister is invited to lawn parties and picnics and he is invited to turn the grindstone or pull weeds in the garden.

He is always called "Shorty" or "Skinny" or "Fatty Felix" or "Slim" until he tries to raise a mustache and then everybody calls him down.

When he gets married everybody pities the poor girl, and when he raises a family they sing "Everybody Works But Father."

If he chips in to help a weary brother he is called a spendthrift and if he don't he's a "tightwad." If he goes fishing once in seven years everybody thinks he's neglecting business and will land in the poorhouse and if he goes along every day at his work he's a miserly skinflint. If he goes to church they say he does it to cover up some devilry and if he don't he's bound straight for Hades.

If he helps his wife wash and clean house he's henpecked; if he don't he ought to be jailed for neglecting his family.

In short he's cussed if he does and cussed if he don't, and our hearts go out in sympathy for the poor bugger, and hope that in the land beyond things may be evened up and that he may there receive the recognition that is denied him here on earth.
