You Cannot Tear an "Ideal" Shirt Here

Notice the cut shows particularly the lower part of the sleeve of an "Ideal" shirt. The sleeve opening is faced of course. But the important point is here—the facing is a continuous one—one piece of cloth stitched on firmly. This "braces" the shirts at one of the weak points—at the bottom of the sleeve opening.

"Ideal" Shirts Don't Rip Here

Try and rip your shirt open at this point—if it is an "Ideal" shirt. You cannot do it unless you are strong enough to break that continuous band of cloth.

In use no shirt gets that kind of strain. And so your "Ideal" shirt will give you not only style and comfort, but wear beyond what you would expect. We invite you to inspect our line of "Ideal" shirts. There is something there you will like. Prices up from 65 cents.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 17, 1915.

V. Knapp was calling on our merchants Monday.

P. N. Huffman came up Monday evening from Clarkston where he has been for the past two months taking treatment from Dr. Foster for cancer. While there he had six tumors removed from his face and is feeling much better, though when he went there he had no idea he was afflicted with such a disease.

Max Leischner was in town Monday from his farm north of Grangeville and stated that he had his crop all harvested and in the warehouse. Max has 11,000 bushels of oats and expects to get a nice price for it before spring, he having refused a contract price of $1.25 per hundred for it before the crop was harvested.

One of George Terhaar's little boys was brought into town Monday to have a pin removed from his throat. The child had a pin in his mouth and swallowed it, the pin lodging in his throat and the point working out through the larynx at the front of the throat. Dr. Turner succeeded in removing the pin and the child is suffering but little from the experience.

Mrs. J. Oldham brought to this office Saturday some of the nicest potatoes we have seen for many days. They are large, smooth tubers from 8 to 10 inches in length and as many as 14 nice ones were dug from a single hill. Mrs. Oldham said they have the finest lot of spuds this year she has ever seen and although they have dug fifty sacks they have hardly made an impression on the patch.

William Harman was in town several days this week from Joseph, Oregon, looking after his farm at Greencreek and stated that he will move his family back here to reside within a few weeks. He has rented his farm at Joseph to his sons and will move onto his Greencreek farm and improve the same, and intends making that his future home. The Harmans have many friends here who will be glad to see them return to the prairie.

Dance tomorrow night. School opens Monday.

Cold weather for the threshing crews these nights.

Mrs. R. A. Nims was a Lewiston visitor the first of the week.

Clem Frei got his right hand caught in the cylinder of a threshing machine on his farm near Ferdinand last week and the third finger was almost severed.

Frank Forsmann moved his threshing machine through town Tuesday and has since threshed the Schremp and Lauer crops north of town.

Ed. Sonnen is carrying a sore hand as the result of getting it caught in the feeder of his machine recently and a bad infection developing later.

The directors of the water company made a trip up to the mountain Tuesday to look over the ground where they expect to build another large reservoir this fall.

We were in error recently in stating that the 13-foot bundle of corn brought us recently was grown by Mr. Hockersmith of Salmon river. It was grown by Cooper & Forsland in Rocky Canyon and given to Mr. Hockersmith to bring to us.

August Seubert, Jake Jenny and Frank Nuxoll returned Wednesday from their trip to the Colville reservation and report having had fine time while away but say they saw nothing to attract them north as that country is entirely rough to suit them.

In spite of the fact that there have been shipping many cars of barley within the past week, the farmers union warehouses are almost filled at present and it will not be long until they will have to arrange more storage room unless the grain sales increase materially.

Markus Lies reports a yield of 45 bushels of Fortyfold wheat to the acre from his farm at Denver and says fully ten acres was lodged so badly it could not be cut or the yield would have been fifty bushels. Will Lies secured a 50-bushel yield from his land at the same place and 40 bushels from his place at Ferdinand.

The new addition to the farmers warehouse, which was completed last week by Ruhoff Bros., is now practically filled with grain.

Mrs. Ben Albers left Tuesday for Clarkston and Asotin to visit with friends and will also visit at Reubens before returning home.

Cottonwood Butte was white with snow Monday morning, as were also the foot hills south of Grangeville.

Warren Truitt came in Monday evening from Medical Lake, Wash., and will visit for a few days with his parents and friends.

Frank Albers and Johnnie Terhaar left Tuesday morning for Mt. Angel, Ore., to enter college at that place.

John Jacksha and Chas. Ebel were visitors in the city Tuesday from near Moscow, the former being a brother-in-law of Mrs. Scherber.
