Dr. Salsberg Coming

At Phoenix Hotel Thursday, Oct. 11th.

Little eye defects may cause any number of pains and aches—not only in the eyes themselves, but in various parts of the body. Indeed, the up to date physician knows that headaches are nearly always due to eye strain, especially so among school children. If you or your child is in any way troubled with either headache or any eye defect come and see me while I am in Cottonwood. If I can give you the necessary relief I will be glad to do so, if I cannot your own doctor will know better what to do for you.

In more than 50,000 pair of eyes that I have examined in the past thirty years my records show that more than one-half of that number were given complete relief from headaches by the proper correction of the sight with suitable glasses.

If you are troubled with headache or any ache or pain in or about the eyes, or if you are suffering from nervousness, the probabilities are it is due to your eyes, if so, I will tell you so, and if not, I can tell your own physician, and he will know best what to prescribe for you.

DR. S. SALSBERG,
At Phoenix Hotel October 11th.

Dogs will have a chance to do their bit in the war, if the bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Brady, of Idaho, is passed. It is proposed to appropriate $40,000 for the purchase and training of 1000 animals, but the War Department is authorized to accept gifts from individuals and organizations, and it is believed that the entire amount will be available for training purposes. High pedigree will not count for much in a war dog, and pampered pets held for fictitious prices will not find a market. Only a limited number will have sensational duties to perform, but all will be of great service in a modest way. European governments have so far recognized their value that it is said that more than 40,000 are employed in various warlike occupations, chief among which are guarding prisoners and carrying messages from stations not connected with the base by telephone. Dogs have also distinguished themselves as trench sentries and in carrying aid to the wounded and are an established branch of the service, especially in France.

Uncle Sam properly holds that it is not fair for Brits and Canadians in the United States to secure exemptions from military duty under the American draft and at the same time evade service in the armies of their native countries because of their residence in the United States. The American sense of fair play will not tolerate such a condition and the governments of their home countries have no intention of drafting men who stay within their national borders and ignoring those who may have crossed the boundary line. The Canadian and American governments are one on the matter and have agreed that no man shall be permitted to dodge his duty, either Canadian in the United States or American in Canada.

Representative Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota has introduced a bill directing the President to draft into the military service all able-bodied citizens between the ages of 20 and 50 who cannot prove that they are engaged in some useful occupation at least 30 months in the year. In Mr. Johnson's opinion the passage of such a measure will put to work thousands of men who are not only slackers from military service, but who do not render any real good to society, and are at present largely supported by the efforts of others. The bill has been referred to the Military Affairs Committee.

Justice Morgan of the supreme court is the author of that charming literary gem, "Pork is so high that the highest compliment one can pay a man is to call him a hog."

During their closing-out sale, Goldstone, Nash & Creelman's store will be open every evening until 9 o'clock.

1 second-hand Overland car; 1 1917 Ford, almost new; 1 Jackson car. All the above are in first class condition and will be sold at bargain prices.
