EASTERN FIELD TRIALS.

Capt. Henry's Dogs Carry Off The Prizes Easily.

Something About Clarksville Dogs Which Have Astonished the Sporting Fraternity in This Line.

It appears that Clarksville is gaining a reputation in more ways than one. Few people know that Capt. Henry is raising bird dogs that are astonishing the sporting world. He is doing this, and the recent field trials at High Point, N. C., have brought it out. These field trials are given under the auspices of the Eastern Field Trial Club, and are attended by sporting men from all parts of the Union, and the best dogs of the country are entered for the stakes, which amount to considerable money.

In a contest there on the 23rd Rod's Sue, out of Gladstone's Girl, by Rodrigo, won the first prize. This dog was bred here in Clarksville by Capt. Henry and was sold to P. Lorillard, Jr., who entered her in the contest. Capt. Henry received $300 for the dog, selling at the same time and to the same person, Count Antee, by Count Noble, out of Gladstone's Girl. This dog was also handled in a contest by Mr. Lorillard and won the Members' Stake, which is a good prize and much sought after.

The excellent work of these dogs has been the cause of Capt. Henry receiving letters from bird dog fanciers from various parts of the country putting in applications for puppies. One fellow tells Capt. Henry to save him a couple and make any charge he pleases.

This is not all. Capt. Henry will get a cup worth $100, or the money, just as he chooses, for being the breeder of the winners. He got $600 for the two dogs and now the premium runs it up to $700 for them. There seems to be money in breeding the right kind of dogs, and it appears that Capt. Henry is breeding winners.

Illinois. Kentucky.

From Danville, Ill., Mrs. H. J. Nabors writes: I have been using your remedies for scrofula and am greatly benefited. My back was almost one solid sore. Two boxes of Dr. Hale's Household Ointment healed it entirely.

From Olive Hill, Ky., Mrs. M. J. Matney writes: May 13, '92: "My daughter has been afflicted with erysipelas in her eyes from infancy. She is now past 12 years old and one 25c. box cured her." It costs no more to get the best. This is the best ointment in the world for general use. Get a box at Clarksville Drug Co., Edwin Thomas, Jr., Manager.

Holiday Goods.

Mrs. Rosenfield gives notice in this issue of the LEAF-CHRONICLE that she has received a new supply of goods especially for the holiday trade. She has received a new line of ladies and children's cloaks and wraps, and offers them at bargains. In addition to this she has novelties in furs and evening gloves. Read her advertisement and remember that she can please you in everything needed in her line.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved. From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated into consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could not live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at Owen & Moore's Drug Store, regular size, 50 cents and $1.

The Date Announced.

A First-Class Concert Company Expected.

We have had the pleasure of an interview with the advance agent of Haywood's Celebrities. This is an unusually numerous assortment of musical artists who are to perform here on the 9th of December.

We have not ourselves heard any of these artists, but from the positions they have held and the great masters with whom they have been associated, we have no doubt of their being in the first-class of their several departments. The company embraces the following names:

Chevalier Niedzielski, a solo violinist, who has played with distinction before the most cultivated audiences in Europe, and in association with the leading virtuosos. Crowned heads have showered upon him and crowded audiences have received him with vociferous applause in both continents.

Miss Mary Rose Hughes, soprano, and Miss Belle Daily soprano, the lady singers, are endorsed by the greatest teachers of music.

Then we have Mr. Coutner, the solo cornetist, and Miss Henrietta Timmerman, who accompanies him in duets on that popular instrument.

Mr. Julien Jordan, already well-known to our people as composer of "The song that touched my heart," and a captivating tenor singer, and Sig. Edward Visini, a superb baritone, who traveled with Madame Adelina Patti, are the male vocalists and Miss Baldanza solo pianist and accompanist, completes the musical program, in addition to which Miss Lizkie Gleason, a most accomplished reader and dramatic impersonator in both serious and humorous pieces, will hit the taste of our literateurs.

Now here is a first-class combination of talents, and the only question is "What are we going to do with them?" We frequently hear the complaint that artists of the finest class so rarely visit us; well, that is so; the only way to bring them often is to patronize them liberally when they do come. Managers cannot visit us at a loss, and the expenses of such a company are enormous; let us then give them such an audience as will encourage them and others like them to visit us frequently. D. F. W.

Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. The first symptoms are a dry, loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by watery expectoration, and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do: It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in many cases will effectually counteract it, and cure what would have been a severe cold within one or two days' time. Try it and be convinced. 50 cent bottles for sale by Owen & Moore, druggists.

JUNIOR MEETING. The Juniors of the Y. M. C. A. will hold their meeting in the association rooms to-morrow at 2 p. m. All boys welcome.

Back From Mississippi. Burr Coleman and party returned this morning from their annual hunt in the Mississippi bottoms, and they report an abundance of sport. They killed several bear, and over a dozen deer while on the trip. This club is composed of several gentlemen from the Blooming Grove country, and they always have loaded for big game and a heap of it when they go out on a hunt.

Farmers come fifteen miles to my store to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many of them, like myself, are never without it in their homes. I cured my boy of a very severe attack of croup and, I believe saved his life.—K. Dalton, Luray, Russell county, Kansas. This is a certain cure for croup and, if used as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. For sale by Owen & Moore, Druggists.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY, SR., DEAD.

Death of the Venerable Father of the Great Protectionist.

CANTON, O., Nov. 26.—William McKinley, Sr., died at his home in this city early Thursday morning.

Biography. William McKinley, Sr., was born in Mercer county, Pa., in 1807, and came to Ohio with his father two years later. In 1830 he was married, and in 1848 the present governor of Ohio was born at Niles, O. Mr. McKinley was one of the pioneer manufacturers of the state in Trumbull and Columbiana counties. He was a staunch advocate of the principles that have made his son famous. The death in San Francisco in the late campaign of his son, David, caused to the United States for the Hawaiian islands, was a severe blow and hastened his illness. A second son, James, died three years ago. He has two daughters, Mrs. Duncan, of Youngstown, and Miss Ida McKinley, of this city. A fourth son, Abner, is located in New York city.

FROM THE ORIENT. Japan and Corea Can't Agree.—The Loss of the Bokhara. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Advices from Japan to Nov. 4, by the steamer China state negotiations between Japan and Corea for compensation to Japanese merchants for losses sustained through the prohibition of cereal exports from the port of Yuen San have proved unsuccessful. Corea declining to pay more than $2,000,000 and Japan refusing to take less than $1,400,000.

The marine court of inquiry convened at Hong Kong, in its decision of Oct. 23, exonerated the officers of the steamship Bokhara, which was wrecked Oct. 10, with great loss of life.

NOT ONE ESCAPED. Every Male Passenger in a Pullman Sleeping Car.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 26.—The Overland westbound train on the Northern Pacific railroad was held up Thursday evening near Hot Springs by three masked men, who robbed all of the male passengers in the Pullman sleeper Wadena, six in all.

The robbers entered the car, it is believed, at Hot Springs, as the train had not gone five miles from that place when the men entered the rear part of the sleeper. They secured about $1,500 and a lot of jewelry.

How's This for Gall? CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Dr. F. B. Hyland, of Stoughton, Wis., appeared in the probate court and presented a claim of $245 against the estate of Phoebe Carter. He said the money was due for 147 magnetic treatments he gave Mrs. Carter. Cross-examination on the part of the court developed the fact that Mrs. Carter was in Florida when the alleged treatment had been given, and that the treatment was in the shape of prayers. The court concluded that Mrs. Carter was not benefited by the treatment, as she was in another climate at the time, and disallowed the claim.

THE OFFICIAL VOTE. Cleveland Gets Indiana by Over Seven Thousand Plurality.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 26.—The official vote of Indiana has been computed by State Secretary Matthews. Cleveland's plurality is 7,085, and Matthews' plurality is 6,976. The Democratic State Committee yesterday afternoon, with the Democratic officers elect, presented a solid silver punch bowl to State Chairman Taggart, a gold watch to Secretary Riley and a gold-headed cane to Lewis Jordan, who assigned the speakers during the campaign.

Baldrige, Millersville, Illinois, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine I handle, and as a seller, lends all other preparations in this market. AN OLD TIMER.

He Don't Like the New Fangled Songs of the Present Day.

"Talk about your singin' classes," said an old timer yesterday, "they don't know how to sing now-a-days. The music they make don't sound right to me. It ain't the same music we had when I was a boy, no ways. These new fangled songs don't catch me. The old songs we had in slave times are the songs for me, but people have got too lightened now to sing them. I remember one I heard the boys, Dick Jackson and his crowd, sing before the war. The first verse ran this way:

"Down de meadows am a ringin' De darkies' mournful song, While de mookin' bird am singin' Happy as de days am long."

"The way the boys sang that old song would have done you good. They could sing then, and by rubbing their old rusty throats up a little they would stand a good muster yet. Don't you believe they could sing nothing but a plantation song. They could sing anything they wanted to then, but this new fangled music and outlandish songs had'n't come into style. The boys had a favorite which would be an improvement on the songs they sing now if they would pitch it to the same tune and sing it the same way. It was "The Grave of Napoleon." I believe, or something like that. It ran about as follows, I believe:

"On a lone, barren isle, where the loud roaring billows Assault the stern rock and the loud tempests rave, The hero lies still while the dew-dropping willows, Like fond weeping mourners lean over the grave."

"The lightnings may flash and the loud thunders rattle, He heeds not, he hears not, he is free from all pain; He sleeps his last sleep, he has fought his last battle, No sound can awake him to glory again."

"There was music in that song, and they got every bit of it out. People would congregate in some of the business houses at night to hear them sing, and would stay just as long as the boys would. They would sing all sorts of songs. Plantation melodies were their favorites because they suited the crowd, but they could handle anything, no matter what it was. "The Old Sexton" was another favorite. "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" and the "Old Oaken Bucket" always met a hearty response from an audience, and they would meet it yet. There is music in them of a kind that always catches. I go to one of these singings now and I just tell you I can't understand half what they say. I guess you fellows who have been brought up under a new dispensation, however, understand them; I don't. Give me the songs that carry me back to Dixie before the war, and I'll listen to them until after midnight, but these new-fangled ones don't catch me."

With this he walked off and seemed to be at odds with the entire world. It is hard to break the old men away from the memories of the South before the war and pin them to the new order of things. They are not constructed that way.

ATROCIOUS MURDER.

A Station Agent Foully Assassinated at Jellico.

Sidney Wortham, a Railroad Man, Found Lying in a Kitchen, Shot Dead—Will Be Investigated.

JELICO, TENN., Nov. 26.—One of the most atrocious murders ever committed in this section was the killing of Sid Wortham, station agent of the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia and Louisville & Nashville railroads, at this place Thursday night.

He left the depot at 11 o'clock p. m., and when found was lying in the kitchen of Dr. J. Rose's house, dead, shot through the right thigh and abdomen. The killing took place at Mrs. A. L. Jones' home.

The coroner's inquest held James McMillen, of Lancaster, Ky., as the murderer. He is a stranger in this section, and there is much talk of a lynching and destroying the house of Jones. The whole affair is shrouded in the deepest mystery. Further investigations will be made to night.

Amusements.

Theater-goers will have two good attractions within the next two weeks. On the 30th of this month George Wilson will hold the boards with his minstrel organization. This troupe is so well-known in Clarksville that it needs no introduction. Wilson always plays to big houses in Clarksville and this will be no exception to the rule. All of his old admirers will want to see him.

"The Nabobs" will follow Wilson's minstrels, appearing here Friday night, December 2, and by the way this is possibly the best attraction Clarksville will have this season. The company has given the best of satisfaction wherever it has appeared, and comes with the best recommendations. At a recent Nashville engagement the American spoke of the company as follows:

"John Henshaw and May Ten Broeck, two of the greatest laugh producers in the country, entertained a fairly good audience at the Vendome last night in their musical extravaganza, entitled "The Nabobs." The play is devoid of plot, and is simply a combination of very clever specialties by very clever people. It is an attempt to amuse and it is more than successful. Henshaw, as Would B. Good, was at his best in his eccentric style. His songs were new and catchy and his monologue sparkled with witticisms. Ten Broeck was her same self, bright and clever. The supporting company is a good one in every particular. Each exponent of his or her speciality is thorough and painstaking. The songs and dances by the Misses Blande were especially well received and recalled several times. Withal, "The Nabobs" is one of the best farces now on the road. The voices are well trained and Nashville has heard opera where the chorus singing and general ensemble were inferior to that in "The Nabobs."

Shortsightedness. To waste your money on vile, dirty, watery mixtures, or compounded by inexperienced persons, when you have the opportunity of testing Otto's Cure free of charge. Why will you continue to irritate your throat and lungs with that terrible hacking cough when Tudhope Drug Co. will furnish you a free sample bottle of this great guaranteed remedy? Hold a bottle of Otto's Cure to the light and observe its beautiful golden color and thick, heavy syrup. Largest packages and purest goods. Large bottle 50c.

Holding Back For Christmas. Country people are beginning now making a mistake they always make just before Christmas. They are holding back their supply of eggs thinking they can get more money for them a few days before Christmas. Here is where they make a mistake. Eggs are worth more, in all likelihood, to-day on the market than they will be on the 25th of December. They are selling to-day at 20 cents per dozen, and mark the prediction: They will sell for fifteen cents on Christmas day. Bring them in now if you want high prices.
