STATE ELECTION. NOVEMBER 5TH, 1878. FOR CONGRESS.

LEGISLATURE. W. McQUARY—We are authorized to announce...

Personal Mention. Capt. Will A. Elliott was in the city Monday.

Geo. C. Martin has gone to the Springs for his health.

Mr. Maphus Radolph returned on Monday from Crab Orchard.

Mrs. Lizzie Elliott, nee Miss Cooley, was in the city Monday.

Dr. G. N. Whitfield, of St. Bethlehem, was in the city Tuesday.

Mr. J. O. Gorman of the Paris Intelligencer, called on us on Monday last.

As a provocative of nocturnal pety the festive skooter is a deuced failure.

Mr. M. V. Ingram of the Tobacco Leaf, is spending a few days at Hurricane Springs.

Dr. McCauley has married, and the weather has turned cool. Happy coincidence.

Mr. J. A. Grant and family returned home from Summer county on Tuesday last.

Miss Mattie Johnson of Louisville is visiting the family of Mr. Usery, on the Southside.

Mr. Bryce Stewart and family and Dr. J. Cobb are recuperating at Beersheba Springs.

Mr. Cary Weisiger and sister, from Memphis, are visiting the family of Prof. Coffman.

Rev. Dr. T. O. Summers will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist Church to-morrow night.

Mr. H. C. Batts and the Goodpasture Bros. have returned after an absence of several weeks.

Dr. Wright, our senior editor, has been attending the Democratic Convention at Nashville this week.

Mr. Jas. Lytle and wife, of the Southside, returned on last Tuesday from a visit to their son in Georgia.

Mr. Lewis E. Willis has returned home after an absence of several weeks in the Western States.

Miss Adeline Oldham, a charming young lady of La Fayette, Ky., is visiting the family of Mr. W. C. Smith in New Providence.

Our junior partner, Mr. W. P. T. Titus, left for New York on Wednesday evening last, on a business trip.

Barker, the candy man, has spread his tent on the Burke lot. Call on him when you want candy or ice cream.

Miss Nannie Smith, of Summer County, is spending a week with the family of Dr. Spert of this county.

Mrs. J. B. West left for Murfreesboro' last Monday morning. Her many friends were loath to part with her.

Miss Lucy Clark, recently at school at Staunton, Va., has returned home. We extend to her a hearty welcome.

Mr. W. H. Randolph, of the firm of Radolph, Lockert & Co., of Crab Orchard Springs, much improved in health.

Dr. A. H. Voorhies, oculist and aurist, of Memphis, is stopping for the present with Dr. Plummer, at the Academy.

Judge James Quarles and daughter, Miss Belle, have been on a visit to the family of Gen. W. A. Quarles since Saturday.

Misses Ida, Laura and George Beaumont and Mr. Jno. West have been spending a week with the family of Mr. James Farish.

Miss Grace Carlisle, of Memphis, is visiting Miss Jennie Barker of this city. Miss Barker has recently been at school in Louisville.

Capt. T. H. Smith and family have returned from Crab Orchard Springs. We are gratified to learn that Mrs. Smith is much improved.

Mr. J. F. Warfield will leave in a day or two for New York to buy a stock of drugs. He will open for the present in the house with Mr. J. D. Russell.

Our old friend E. L. Williams, of District No. 10, was in our city on Wednesday. He repeated to us some original Arkansas poetry, but we failed to commit it to memory.

Joe West, a former student of the University, was in the city this week. For the past year, Joe has been engaged in teaching the young shoots how to ride, up in Rutherford County.

Mr. O. C. Smith returned from Don Ag Springs last week, and left Sunday for Crab Orchard. Smith is one of nature's own nobility, and we hope to see him shortly rejoined to good health.

We acknowledge the receipt of the Washington papers, complimentary from Dr. C. E. L. McCauley, and offer our thanks. The Doctor and his fair bride are making an extended tour of the northern and eastern cities.

Miss Mary Haisell, the accomplished daughter of the Rev. Dr. Haisell of Bowling Green, has been spending several weeks in our city. She returned home Thursday, leaving many friends and admirers in Clarksville.

Dr. R. M. Corlew, a prominent physician of Robertson county, is a candidate for Representative. The Doctor is a gentleman of high standing, of fine general information, and possesses great energy. He is a fluent speaker, and should be the choice of his people, he will reflect credit upon himself and them.

Our Apology. The senior editor has been absent from town attending the gubernatorial Convention in Nashville, just on the days when the editorial care in preparing for publication is most needed. Our readers, we trust, will accept the necessity of his absence as an apology for any shortcomings in matter or manner.

The Moonlight Party. A press of other occupations this week compels us to be very brief in our notice of what was a very delightful entertainment; we speak of the moonlight party given last week for the benefit of the Methodist Church, at Mr. Macrae's delightful residence. Charades were acted and dialogues spoken with spirit and animation, the actors being Messrs. Commodore Couts, Dick Lockert, Rufus Rhodes and Ernest Beach, and the actresses Misses Louise Poindecker, Florence Couts, Miss Patton and Miss Moore.

After much amusement from this source, promenade in the moonlight groves were in order, with occasional ice creams. During these less public exercises we imagine that enigmas were propounded and solved, and light comedies and sentimental dramas enacted which, if they could be published, would be more interesting than those which Mrs. Couts so ably put upon the stage, but the kindly moonlight and shaded groves kept the secrets entrusted to them, and we suppose that the comedies will remain unknown to the public until they arrive at their customary denouement of a happy marriage.

No party has ever been more thoroughly enjoyed in Clarksville. A VERY elegant entertainment was given at the residence of Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Trice, in this city, last Tuesday night, complimentary to Miss Leamon of Montgomery county, recently from school at Louisville. It was numerously attended by the grace and gallantry of Clarksville and vicinity, and the spacious parlors were thronged with such a collection of beauty as even Clarksville, famous for her beautiful girls, rarely sees equalled. The mansion is peculiarly well suited for such an entertainment as was had, the parlors, halls and dining room being large and roomy, and the piazzas affording a splendid promenade. The affair was an entire success, and was one of the pleasant occasions of the season. The night was bright, balmy and beautiful, the music was good, the supper was superb and lavish, and the girls were superlatively charming.

Mrs. Trice did the honors of the occasion, and had a stunner and a word of welcome to each. Dick, who is known as the cleverest boy in Clarksville, did everything in his power that would contribute to the enjoyment of his guests.

Among the visiting young ladies present may be mentioned Miss Hunt, from New Orleans, at present visiting Miss Aimee Beannis, of this city; Miss Daisy Bell, from Christian county; Miss Robinson, from Brownsville; Miss Maggie Macrae, from Memphis; Miss Ethel from Lebanon; Miss Carlisle, from Memphis; Miss Weisiger, from Memphis; Miss Adair Humphries, from Memphis; and Miss Kate Meriwether, from Ringgold.

There was some beautiful waltzing, notably that of Miss Mai Barker, Miss Bell, Miss Lily Beaumont, the Misses Robb, Miss Finley, Miss Nannie Smith, Miss Beannis, Miss Clark, Miss Humphries, Miss Carlisle, and several others.

Among the gentlemen visitors were Messrs. Rivers, Meriwether and Weisiger, of Memphis; Mr. Beannis, of New Orleans; Mr. Bernard, of Louisville.

We are glad to present our readers with the continuation from Hilda which they find in this issue. Hilda is a valued friend and correspondent of the CHRONICLE, and we are proud to receive the fruits of her facile pen. She is a ready and versatile writer, and her productions, which are an inimitable combination of pathos and humor, instruction and entertainment, are always read with interest by all. Her style of writing is picturesque without being florid; dignified, without being stiff; clear, without being pedantic. The poetic vein is prominent in all her writing, her ideas are original, her language classic and well chosen, and, without being fulsome in our adulation, we think that should Hilda feel so disposed, she can make for herself a name and fame in the great field of literature.

Serious Accident. A scaffolding fell on Saturday evening upon which workmen were engaged in finishing the outside cornice of Mr. Reizinger's house on College street. There were three men on the scaffold, all of whom suffered severe injuries, though not so serious as to threaten life or even permanent disability. The injuries were as follows: Thomas Carney, fracture of the wrist; Dugan, fracture of arm near the shoulder; Wright, fracture of collar bone. All the men, we are glad to know, are doing well.

We are greatly indebted to Mr. H. C. Batts, one of our talented young lawyers, for valuable assistance this week in the way of local matter, during the absence of Dr. Wright and Mr. Titus.

FROM HURDISON STATION, TENN.

Editors CHRONICLE: The election is over and there is a calm in Giles. Our people have been wild with excitement during the last two months. I suppose, however, that the canvass has been conducted with as little if not less sacrifice of integrity and manhood than is usual on such occasions. The tendency of the age to corrupt the purity of the ballot-box is a terrible comment on the "best government the world ever saw." An event occurred in my immediate neighborhood on Sunday night before the election that sent a shiver of sadness to almost every heart in the county. Capt. Will Flournoy, a noble brave of rebel fame, had made a heated canvass over the county for County Court Clerk. He had been riding day after day through this extremely warm weather, and I had discovered for some time his jaded and care-worn expression. He finally took to his bed, and just four days before the election he breathed his last. He was a noble-hearted man and universally beloved. He left a widow and four children. So intense was the feeling of friendship for him that his friends met and brought out his father-in-law, a very excellent citizen of Pulaski, and elected him by more than one thousand majority. This is a sad comment on political excitement, and it is truly lamentable that our people are so prone to enthusiasm in seeking worldly goods and worldly promotions while they are so condemnatory of religious enthusiasm and zeal for the salvation of the world.

Your efforts have been heroic, though it cost him his life, does not stain the fruit in the joyous forever. The noble, manly and outspoken sentiments of Col. Gill T. Abernathy are characteristic of the man. I have for years been impressed with his worth as a citizen and his ability to become a representative man. I am better prepared to appreciate the high-minded and noble sentiments of the Colonel than some of your Montgomery county readers. I am now assisting in a meeting at Rehobath, near his native haath. I was at the old homestead three days ago, and enjoyed the hospitalities for which the place has been proverbial for more than sixty years. Here, doubtless, the principles of a high and lofty patriotism were instilled into his youthful mind by a time-honored father who would rather have been than to have been President of the United States. Our people are delighted, not with the change, but with the new editor of the Nashville Christian Advocate, Southern Methodism in the nineteenth century will furnish but one Thomas O. Summers, D. D., and probably will never furnish another in any age; but the rare salutation, brief and racy paragraphing and general editorial vigor of the new editor comments the paper to every reader. Everyone deplors the advances in the price, especially since others of our Church papers have introduced a premium system that virtually brings the price of them below that of our organ.

I have been greatly blessed in my pastoral charge this year. I have never seen such zeal in Sunday-school work—save at Cedar Hill—as my people have manifested this year. When I came here that last Lenten Sunday to the church had waned until all were discouraged; but when spring opened they rallied and have been at work like beavers ever since. I have twenty-five truly pious and Christian Sunday-school workers, who are given to this work for Jesus' sake, and they are invincible. When our schools were organized they were made Superintendents and teachers, and they went to work for the glorification of Jesus. They were both "tuck up." The rent in Charley's abdominal was welded by Dr. Bailey.

LAST Tuesday morning, Milan Cheatham, a filu d' Afrique, collided with Charley Martin, oc, on Blackberry alley, and undertook to make hash of him, with a razor. Milan began to cut away on Charley's lumber region, and cut him to the "hollow." Charley, not liking the course matters were taking remembered that

One beauty remarked to the writer that he filled her ideal conception of a Kentucky gallant, and she could not understand how he had managed to remain single.

(We quote him verbatim.) This will be news indeed to Ingram's friends at home.

THE Tennessee Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South, will convene at the Methodist Church, in this city, Wednesday, October 9th. The delegates and accompanying visitors to the Conference will be entertained by our citizens, without regard to sect, in the hospitable manner for which Clarksville is so famous. The Conference is one of the largest in the connection, and possesses some of the finest pulpits orators in the South. It will be in session perhaps a week or ten days.

We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Broadhurst Institute. Prof. Broadhurst is an able and experienced educator, and has been successful in building up a school of high grade in Clarksville, which will be assisted by a corps of competent teachers, and will endeavor to have the Institute maintain in the future as it has in the past its reputation as one of the very best schools in the country.

SOME of the handsomest horse and sign painting to be seen here or elsewhere is that done for Kincannon, Wood & Co., and for Mr. Cooke and Mr. Hendricks, by our townsmen, Messrs. Tarpaly & Barish. These gentlemen are prepared to do all kinds of horse and sign painting, in the very best style, and we cheerfully commend them as in every way competent and worthy of patronage.

THE Postoffice, which for the past three years has been on the corner of Franklin street and the square, was removed Thursday morning to the new building south of and near the residence of Mr. Dineen. We understand that the change is only temporary, and that a room, sixty feet long will be taken at the old stand, in Elder's new building, for the use of Uncle Sam.

SEVERAL persons from town went out to the Jeft Chaparral near the residence of Mr. James Farish, on the 10th, and report the occasion as very enjoyable indeed.

We learn that there will be a moonlight picnic at "Squire Ferguson's" next Tuesday night.

THE hebdomadal ice-cream party of our Episcopal friends took place Thursday night, at the residence of Mr. Mike Clark; and was a very pleasant affair.

Yellow Fever.

The yellow fever scourge in some of our Southern cities is becoming frightful, and is, in spite of all efforts to stay its ravages, steadily increasing. In New Orleans, on the 14th, there were 134 new cases, and 29 deaths; in Memphis there were 29 new cases and 3 deaths; in Grenada, Miss., there were 15 new cases and 5 deaths. The fever has also been reported as having reached Louisville and Cincinnati. Paducah is quarantined against all steamers from the South and against all railroads. Many are fleeing from the stricken cities, there being only about 150 white persons left in Grenada. The trains passing here are loaded down with passengers going north. The train Thursday morning had on board 150 persons from Memphis alone, and we were told by the conductor, Galveston, Texas, thought by some to be the birthplace of yellow fever, is yet free from it, and every effort is being made to have it remain so, by enforcing strict sanitary rules and by quarantine against the infected places. The Mayor of Grenada is calling for assistance, the disease there being in its most malignant form, and the sick so numerous that it is utterly impossible for Grenada, unassisted, to relieve or remove them.

THE Granger Railroad. The Granger Railroad line between Clarksville, Hopkinsville and Guthrie was disbanded on the 15th inst. A friend sends us an extract from an address delivered by the General Superintendent on that occasion:

Your efforts have been heroic, though it cost him his life, does not stain the fruit in the joyous forever. The noble, manly and outspoken sentiments of Col. Gill T. LAST Monday afternoon, Henry Warfield, a free-born American citizen of African descent, having neither the fear of God nor man before his eyes, and being moved and incensed by the devil and jealousy, attacked the pastor of his joys, and gently broke her arm with a billet of wood. Madam Warfield then procured a warrant, and had hubby gently "tuck up." Strange that a gentleman is not allowed to break his wife's arm in this free country. "Give me liberty or give me"—five cents. O tempora, O Mores!

SOME fine lots of Robertson county have been sold here recently by Mr. John Holloway, of Adams Station. Clarksville still sustains her reputation as the best bacon market in Tennessee; and John Long, of Robertson county, raised, and sold at this market, the finest lot of bacon that was offered during last season, and he got the fanciest price. Let farmers bring produce to Clarksville and get paid for it.

It is with pleasure we learn that many of our citizens, both of city and country, are availing themselves of this opportunity to consult Dr. Voorhies. Dr. V. is stopping with Dr. Plummer at the Academy.
