THE Louisville & Nashville railroad has subscribed $25,000 to the Southern Exposition to be held in Louisville next year.

THE Government has discontinued its work on the Cumberland river improvements, between this city and Dover, for the winter.

It is said the wires operated by the Western Union Telegraph Co., would reach fifteen times around the world.

THE Arlington estate case was decided by the United States Supreme court, on Monday, in favor of the Lee heirs.

THE season of large beetles—except dead ones—has passed away, and now you can come forward with more reasonable lies about big hogs, etc.

PRESIDENT HADEN, of the Taxing District of Memphis, fined a saloon keeper $25, on Monday last, for keeping his saloon open on Sunday.

CAPT. W. C. HIFE, of Louisville, Ky., injured some weeks ago by the falling of the elevator, at McKnight's carpet store, died on Wednesday.

The Gallatin Examiner says the small-pox has about subsided in that town. The physicians consider the disease subdued, and have no reason to fear its re-appearance.

ALL persons who have contributed etables to the Ladies Bazaar, are requested to send them in on Monday, the 18th inst., as it is very essential that the managers should have them to arrange that day.

We regret to chronicle the death of Miss Alice Patrick, daughter of J. H. Patrick, Esq., which occurred after a lingering illness, on Friday last, at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Joseph Adams, near Port Royal. Her death is greatly regretted by all who knew her.

THE Milan Exchange wants Congress to pass a law allowing postmasters to be elected by the people, taking the appointing power out of the hands of the President. It believes a law of this kind would work well and please the people.

The following gentlemen were elected officers of Section 28 Endowment Rank of Knights of Pythias, on Wednesday night:

G. B. Wilson, President; J. J. West, Vice-President; H. L. Davall, Chaplin; J. S. Elder, Guide; W. Kleeman, Guard.

THE Woman's Christian Association will meet Monday, the 11th, at 3 p. m., at Mrs. Dibble's. Once again, we ask those who are interested in this work, to come and help us in the good cause.

Mrs. B. N. HERRING, Cor. Sec'y.

The Cumberland Presbyterian pulpit will be filled Sunday night by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Goodpasture. Subject: It is entirely consistent with Christianity to be a lawyer. He will preach at Bethel about 9 miles east of Clarksville in the morning.

THE Rev. J. D. Barbee authorizes us to announce that he will give a series of sermons in his church at 11 a. m., to-morrow (Sunday) on the inspiration of the Bible, in which he designs specially to ventilate Barbee and Ingersollism. Mr. Barbee believes he cannot innocently remain silent any longer concerning the sophistries and the violent and extravagant perversion of God's word, which characterize the lectures of that bold blasphemer, Col. Robert G. Ingersoll. A thorough analysis of Ingersoll's utterances is promised, and an exposure of his ignorance or covert hypocrisy contained in his sophistries and bald assertions.

Death of Col. G. A. Henry.

His many friends, relatives and acquaintances in this city, were deeply pained on Monday morning last, to hear of the death of Col. Gustavus A. Henry, which sad event occurred at his home, in Tusculum, Ala., on Sunday morning, the 3rd inst., at the age of 44 years. Col. Henry was the third son of our late lamented Maj. G. A. Henry, the honored and far-famed "Eagle-Orator" of Tennessee, and was born and reared in this city, where he had many warm friends, won by his genial, highly polished manners and many admirable traits of mind and character, and his chivalrous, gallant bearing during the late war. He was Colonel and Inspector General of the Army of Tennessee, during the latter part of the war. The edges of the cover are ornamented with heavy silk fringe, thus enhancing the beauty and finish. As a souvenir for the Christmas holidays, birthdays, Easter or weddings, a single volume or a full set of the Golden Floral series is certainly the most choice, refined and unique presents that one could give. "Ring Out Wild Bells" is only one of the series; there are seven other different but familiar poems, all exquisitely illustrated and charmingly bound. Address Lee & Shepard, Boston, Mass.

On Sunday morning last, Mr. Berry Lyle, living just beyond New Providence on the Dover road, had the misfortune to lose his dwelling-house, kitchen, stable, etc., by fire. The evening before he had been out calling on some neighbors, and returning about ten o'clock, he was suddenly awakened by the crackling of fire and found his room filled with smoke and the mantel piece and floor on fire. He ran to the cistern in his yard for water but found the pump out of fix and no water could be drawn. He tried to raise an alarm but none of his neighbors were in hearing distance and he was powerless to save his house or contents. He managed to save from the burning building his wearing apparel and one bed; everything else was consumed. The house and out-buildings burned very rapidly, being frame and the night windy. The contents of the kitchen and stable were also burned. His loss is estimated to be about $5,000, partly covered by insurance in the agencies of Mr. G. N. Byers of this city.

Mr. Lyle seems to be peculiarly unfortunate in his losses by fires, this being the second time within eight years he has lost his dwelling house.

Mr. Oliver M. Blackman returned home from Cleveland, Ohio, on Saturday last, a newly made and as happy a benedict as there is in the land. He was married on Thursday, Thanksgiving day, at ten o'clock to Miss Ruth Walton, of Cleveland, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ed. Hanchett, No. 2,021 Mills Avenue. We know our friend Blackman could never select any but the most estimable and lovely of the gentler sex for his life partner and we congratulate him on his happiness and good fortune, and welcome his accomplished bride as a very desirable addition to our excellent society. The CHRONICLE flings its old slipper with a most hearty good will after this happy pair.

Mr. Henry Fresh, the popular grocer, is now safely and snugly ensconced in his elegant new store on the south side of Franklin street, and has a full, fresh line of all the first, substantial goods kept in a first-class grocery. He keeps a fine line of flour, molasses, coffee, sugar, etc., etc., as well as apples, celery and all kind of lighter goods, and the most complete stock of field and garden seeds, and other farmers' supplies. You should read his advertisement and visit him when in the city.

Mr. J. J. Crumman, than whom no man knows better what suits the trade at all seasons of the year, again comes to the front, in a well displayed card, telling his friends and customers what he has in store for the present season. Just read his card and we'll venture the assertion that your mouth will water in anticipation. There he informs you that he has, put up the finest style, all the choice fruits of the land, the products of the frozen North and the sunny South and invites you to call and inspect them. There is nothing that the most fastidious taste or appetite could desire in the way of canned goods or palatable liquors that cannot now be found at Crumman's. His display of Christmas goods is simply immense, and you will not fail to call on him. For a detail of what he offers, see advertisement.

In another column will be seen a notice of the retirement of Mr. M. A. Stratton from the well-known firm of Coulter, Bro. & Stratton. It gives us pleasure to state that the business will continue to be carried on at the same old stand by Messrs. Coulter Bros., to whose display card elsewhere we particularly call your attention. The Messrs. Coulter have no superiors as dry goods merchants and they invite you to call and examine their splendid line of seasonable goods. Their 25 and 50 cts. counters containing a large and carefully selected stock of holiday goods is an especial feature for the next few weeks. Turn to their advertisement and read over carefully what they offer. Their spacious store is a splendid bazaar of everything kept in a large and first-class goods emporium.

THE transit of Venus was clearly defined at this point. The day was mostly clear and the gazer through a smoked glass could plainly see the old flirt coquetting with the general sol.

MANY of the young ladies of Nashville, for fear of taking the matrimonial fever, go around with asafetida bags hung around their necks. We are pleased to state that the disease has not become epidemic here yet.

AFTER finishing her Boston engagement, Mrs. Langtry will play in Chicago, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, St. Louis, Cincinnati and other Southern cities.

You who viewed the transit of Venus on Wednesday should not fail to lay aside your smoked glass for future use. You know the transit occurs again in the year 2,004.

Postmaster General Howe's report shows that the Post-Office Department of the Government is now running on a profit for the first time in thirty years.

This weather has been extremely cold since Wednesday night. The thermometer yesterday morning being nearly down to zero.

If you want to sell your holiday goods or any other goods, advertise them in the CHRONICLE.

COLD and coal are the leading topics of the day.

BEAUTIFUL SOUVENIRS.

We have received from the well-known Boston publishers, Messrs. Lee & Shepard, "Ring Out Wild Bells," those beautiful and touching stanzas of the Poet Laureate of England, bound, in what is no doubt destined to be, their famous "Golden Floral" series. The style in which these impressive and ever new and exquisite lines are published, is what we wish to call especial attention to. It is simply beautiful, tasteful, elegant and cannot fail to charm and delight the most exacting person. Each book has a cover on which is wrought these designs has been chosen so as to be in perfect harmony and symbolism with the spirit of the poem. The edges of the cover are ornamented with heavy silk fringe, thus enhancing the beauty and finish. As a souvenir for the Christmas holidays, birthdays, Easter or weddings, a single volume or a full set of the Golden Floral series is certainly the most choice, refined and unique presents that one could give. "Ring Out Wild Bells" is only one of the series; there are seven other different but familiar poems, all exquisitely illustrated and charmingly bound. Address Lee & Shepard, Boston, Mass.

HYMENEAL.

Among the society events of the week, none of greater interest than the marriage, at 4 o'clock on Wednesday evening, of Mr. H. C. Merritt and Miss Maud L. Bailey, which brilliant event took place at the stately mansion of the bride's father on Madison avenue, in the presence of a few of the near relatives and intimate friends of the two families. The Rev. J. W. Lupton officiated in a brief but beautiful ceremony. The fair bride is the only daughter of ex-Senator J. E. Bailey, and has always been held in the highest admiration and esteem by a wide circle of relatives and friends. Her many graces of mind heart and command the love of all who know her, and no more perfect type of a truly lovable woman has ever adorned Clarksville society. The groom is one of the best-known and most highly respected gentlemen of the city, occupying, as he does, an enviable position both in our professional, business and social circles. He is a prominent member of the bar and President of the Clarksville National Bank.

After the hearty congratulations of the assembled friends and an elegant collation, the newly wedded pair left on the evening train for a tour of the Northern and Western cities.
