CONDENSED HOME NEWS.

Mrs. S. C. BENNYMAN left last week for a visit to friends and home folks at Lexington, Ky.

Mr. J. W. MILLERS is adding some attractive improvements to Dr. Hoback's property.

The many friends of Maj. W. C. Harrington are glad to see him able to be out again, and attending to his office duties.

The big tannery that was to locate at Bristol, according to the daily news, failed to locate. Well, it is funny, isn't it?

Sam J. JESSUP, of the Water Works has given the contract for the wood work of his house to C. E. Spaulding and the stone work and plastering to Lyle Parr.

Col. J. B. Richmond, E. A. Hoge and W. M. Edmunds, of Gate City, were guests at the Central last night, and left for home on the early S. A. & O. train this morning.

Col. J. C. Haslam, president of the Virginia, Tennessee and Carolina Steel and Iron Co., came over from Bristol in his private car, Thursday and spent the night in town.

Mr. W. H. HERRON, proprietor of Central hotel, is doing the sensible thing in putting in several acres of vegetables. He is also putting out about twenty acres in corn, in Wildcat valley.

Mr. P. C. GARNER, the jolly representative of W. C. Perry & Co., wholesale liquor dealers, Knoxville, Tenn., was "riding the town" yesterday, and was carried away a big lot of orders.

In this week's issue of the Post will be noticed an interesting communication from the pen of Dr. Frank Lindsey, on the subject of "Religion—What is it?" Mr. J. K. P. Legg, of Crab Orchard, Va., has also contributed an article on the same subject, which will appear next week.

Willie GARRARD, the popular and energetic representative of Shields Bros., wholesale grocers, Knoxville, Tenn., was in town Wednesday. He represents a good house, and about the biggest mistake they are now making is the fact that they overlook the advantage of about a twenty dollar advertisement in the Big Stone Gap Post.

The following gentlemen were among the registers at Central hotel this week: W. C. Tatum, Knoxville; C. F. Hagan, Norton; C. B. Harris, Bedford; H. C. L. Richmond, Gate City; W. E. Gordon, J. H. Allen, G. Morris, Dorchester; W. H. Crowell, Bristol; Frank Sturgill, Coon's Cove; Mark H. Hair and family, Norton; Geo. C. Smith, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

The shade trees that are being set out and the yard fences that are being put up by Messrs. Ayers, Taggart, Bullitt, Mullins, Flannery and others are moving in the right direction, and will do a great deal toward beautifying the town. Arbor Day should have been observed this year, and each year hereafter till Big Stone Gap might fairly be called the Forest City. The Exposition Hall grounds and Mr. Taggart's yard show how easily any lawn may be covered with a beautiful grass-sward.

MAJOR COXLEY, one of the receivers of the South Atlantic & Ohio R. R., says that he turned over to the L. & N. R. R. for the month of March, for its part through tickets sold passing through Big Stone Gap, $3,300, which he is satisfied will compare more favorably with what was done by the N. & W. The Major says further that the General Passenger Agents who were recently his guests were very much pleased with the Natural Tunnel, and that the day will come when through car will be run from Louisville to the Tunnel, and that hotel accommodations will follow and a good business be done.

The attention of the public is called to the double-column advertisement of Dr. A. J. Hoback, which appears in this issue of the Post. He has procured up a new stock of drugs, patent medicines and family necessities in the building recently occupied by W. C. Shelton & Co., opposite the Central Hotel. Dr. Hoback is a first-class physician and a first-class pharmacist, and is surrounded by a large and growing number of patients. Call at his office for a full business and see how time and expense in arranging for the entertainment.

WOOD AVENUE... THE ADVERTISER... 29 Park Row, N. Y.

Sale of the Moon-Kelly Coal Property.

Last Monday the sale of the valuable tract of coal property, containing about 1,434 acres, known as the Moon-Kelly property, was the means of bringing to Big Stone Gap quite a number of prominent men; among whom were Col. J. H. Haskell, Col. D. H. Conklin, Judge Rhea, Attorney Blanchard, Col. J. B. Richmond, H. E. McCoy, Messrs. Treadway, Col. White and others.

Time after time this property has been advertised for sale, but at each former date fixed for the sale Moon stepped in with an injunction and annulled or postponed the sale of the property. However, last Monday, no objection was offered to the sale, and at 12 o'clock Judge Rhea proceeded to offer the property for sale, at public auction, in front of the Intermont hotel. He proceeded by stating that by the terms of the decree there would be required of the purchaser $40,123.54 in cash, with interest on $27,285.21, part thereof, from the 16th day of October, 1888, and on $12,838.33, balance thereof from December 15th, 1888, less amount of $2,334.00 as of April 23rd, 1892, making in all, as interest and costs of suit, about $50,000 that must be paid in cash.

Some lively bidding was expected, but in this respect the crowd was disappointed. Col. J. H. Haskell, ag't, made the first and only bid offered, which was $76,400, at which price the property was knocked off to him. Col. Haskell is president of the Virginia, Tennessee and Carolina Steel and Iron Co., and is largely interested in the iron and coal properties of this section. After his purchase he was interviewed by a Post reporter as to the intention of his company. He said nothing would be done until all litigations were satisfactorily adjusted in connection with the property controlled by his company, and that he could give no idea as to when such an arrangement would come about.

This Possibly Don't Concern You, but Then it Might.

The Post has several advertisers who apparently imagine the whole thing is being done for fun. Bill after bill has been presented, but no shekels came in return. Now this is getting just a little bit monotonous, and it has been pretty well fixed that this state of affairs is not likely to exist much longer. If your business don't justify the expenditure of the amount required to advertise in these columns, then don't advertise. The Post is not a beggar, and would rather turn its "toes to the wall," with "Independence" branded on its front than to live a million years with the stigma of "please help me," tied to its record. Does this mean you? Well, yes; if you owe the Post for past-due advertising it most emphatically does, and don't have the least hesitancy in the world in calling around and ordering your advertisement out, but, at the same time, don't forget to be prepared to pay what you owe.

Seeking for personal popularity? Not much, "Mary Ann." This paper was established here for the purpose of giving to everybody 100 cents for every dollar paid in, and if you don't think your'e getting it then about the best thing to do is to say so, discontinue your patronage and pay what you owe.

This is intended as a gentle hint to those who have thus far failed to pay what they justly owe, and if not paid at once, then watch their advertisements disappear, with appropriate comments on each.

Stockholders' Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Bank of Big Stone Gap, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year, and to transact any other business that may be brought before them, will be held at four o'clock p. m., Tuesday May the 2nd, 1893, in the office of said Bank.

H. H. BULLITT, Cashier.

Entertaining Easter Entertainment by the Norton Sunday School.

An interesting Easter entertainment was given at Norton Monday night by the Norton Sunday school. The Big Stone Gap brass band was engaged and furnished music for the occasion. At 7 o'clock the children of the Sunday school were formed in line in front of Hotel Norton, and to the front of a lively march played by the band, marched to the Hagan building, a distance of a half-mile.

On arriving at the hall the band rendered several pieces of music on the street, and soon the large hall was packed with anxious spectators. A large stage had been erected for the occasion, and every preparation went to show that the good people of Norton had entered heart and soul into the work and had spared neither time nor expense in arranging for the entertainment.

At 8 o'clock the curtains parted and a scene of beauty rarely witnessed was presented. The little girls of the school were all tastefully uniformed in white, while the little boys, each of them, looked the par excellence of American independence.

The exercises commenced by the rendition of "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," followed by prayer, after which the following program was rendered:

Recitation—"I Want to be an Angel,"—Miss Marion Board.

Music.—Nearer My God to Thee. Tableau.—Beautiful Gates Ajar.

Recitation.—Miss Myers.

Recitation—"Nassy, Cryin' Baby"—Willie Childress.

Tableau.—Home scene of the happy family, Home, Sweet Home sang in the distance.

Recitation—"What can I do for Jesus?"—Master—Shelton.

Music by the band.

Building of the Temple, by the little ones. This was truly an interesting scene as each of the children brought in their mottoes. The foundation of the temple was laid by one of the little ones of the school placing a handsomely painted motto on the stage, inscribed "Temperance," followed by other members of the school placing in pyramidal position on top of the first motto, the following virtues: "Knowledge," "Godliness," "Patience," "Charity," "Virtue," "Truth," "Faith," and as each contributed their part to the pyramid they repeated appropriate sentences connected with each motto. It was a beautiful and one of the most entertaining parts of the evening's entertainment, and reflected great credit on the part of the originators of the idea.

Next was a recitation by Miss Gibby Collier—"Grandma Told Me All About It,"—which was rendered in an easy, attractive manner.

Music.—Far from the Shepard's Fold—Misses Lou and Kate Ross.

Tableau.—Guardian Angel.

Recitation.—Dolly, Good Night—Lizzie Adams.

Tableau.—Card-room, in which was presented the characters of two infatuated gamblers, and in the midst of the game of cards they are surprised by the appearance of two angelic figures, which brings about their reformation.

Song.—Rejoice.

Recitation.—Ring, Joy-Bells; Ring Miss Minnie Ross.

Then was presented a negro farce—the Haunted House—in which Mr. Childress assumed the leading part, and displayed an unusual talent for character-acting.

Next was presented an impressive tableau, entitled the "Death Watch," wherein the fond father and mother solemnly watch over the form of their dead boy while a touching piece of music was sung by the members of the choir.

Recitation by Mrs. Childress—the Sinking Ship—which was rendered in an attractive and interesting manner.

During the exercises Mr. Jno. M. Goodloe, one of the members of the band, was called on for a song, and in his happy, inimitable manner, sang that popular old song, "For I Had but Fifty Cents."

Mrs. Adams, of Hotel Norton, took charge of the band while in Norton and entertained its members in a royal manner.

While at Norton the members of the band were recipients of favors from Drs. Board and Dingus, E. H. Ould and Jno. P. Nickels.

The Sunday school entertainment was a great success, and the ladies in charge—Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Childress, and others, deserve much credit for the efficient work they have done.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "La Grippe" has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with Sick Headache, you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c, at S. L. Whitehead & Co.'s Drug Store.

"Religion—What is it?"

Religion is an obligation to God, as our Creator, with a feeling of reverence and love and consequent duty or obedience to Him. Any particular system of faith which your education, common sense and age of reason suggests its claims as a code of decent, honorable conduct which will entitle you to the love of God and the respect of decent citizenship.

Revealed religion requires "good works" to keep it green and growing; such as visiting the fatherless and widows in their afflictions, and keeping yourself unspotted from the world; provided the widow is a chaste, virtuous lady and the little orphans are not a set of thievish Arabs.

I admit that it is not every religious chemist who succeeds in obtaining a perfect analysis of religion, but for all practical purposes the following formula might be employed by the novice as an elementary lesson:

First, seek the kingdom of Heaven and its righteousness. (See Matthew viii-7.) All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do even so to them. If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out; or, in other words, "quit your meanness," cease from evil and learn to do good. Lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset thee, and practice loyalty to your wife, fidelity to society, and reverence for the author of your existence. Conduct a square, honest, unselfish, uncompromising life, which your better nature teaches you is right, and when you have a good fence around your soul to keep the Devil from jumping into your "posted pasture," you might profitably review your work, and see that there are no hog-holes through which a little litter of ugly temper and prejudice might creep, and ultimately destroy your little sheaves at the time of harvest. After making this preparation for "religion," you might add to your faith virtue, and to virtue knowledge, obedience, temperance, charity and quite an extensive list of other Christian graces, which will do no harm and which tripple-plate the Christian character, and better prepare it for a higher grade of perfect spiritual life when shot out into eternity.

Religion is the Christian's reward for diligent industry in the cultivation of a purer and better life; it is enjoyed differently, according to the physical temperament of the Christian. A convert of bilious and encephalic compound temperament would be skeptic at first in embracing religion, or rather in its real enjoyment, but once in, we might ever afterward expect a very noisy Christian. A bilious, lymphatic Christian would give us a character often found in happy tears, but no noise. Sanguine, bilious and lymphatic makes an earnest worker, an 18k-fine thinker, but he neither weeps, cries nor laughs—he works.

The different churches are all right, and no scotch-block to obstruct the passage-way to a man who is earnestly seeking a "finger-board" which will direct him correctly the way to Heaven. The small differences, so loudly painted by sensational church organs, dyspeptic ministers, and others who seek cheap literary notoriety before the great court of Jehovah are "color-blind."

As to the mode of baptism, plurality of the God-head, physical position of administering the sacraments, the degrees of Fahrenheit to which the sinner may be exposed after death, etc., etc., they are small side-shows of minor interest—simply God's little naughty children quarreling over baubles. Heaven is made up of Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterians and all other denominations, besides others who have never belonged to the militant Church. "All roads lead to Rome." Christ is the way. Worship God; worship Him just as your heart and conscience teaches you is honest and right, and you will have a religion which He will help you guard with jealous care.

Religion is not a superstitions, ghostly imagination; it is the preparation of a qualification of a purer, better life, which we will enjoy if we prepare ourselves, and the preparation means a half-spent life.

Bilious Colic Prevented.

Persons who are subject to attack of bilious colic can almost invariably tell, by their feelings, when to expect an attack. If Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is taken as soon as these symptoms appear, they can ward off the disease. Such persons should always keep the Remedy at hand; ready for immediate use when needed. Two or three doses at the right time will save them much suffering. For sale by J. W. Kelly, Druggist.

The Guitar Contest.

As will be seen below, the contest for the elegant $30.00 guitar, offered by the Post to the most popular lady, either married or single, in the counties of Wise, Lee and Scott, Va., and Letcher, Ky., has opened up. Some one will get this fine instrument, and now is the time to show your lady friends whether you appreciate their friendship or not. See first page for full explanation.

Who Says Rheumatism Can Not Be Cured?

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J.
