GUIDE TO HALLEY'S COMET

By President Department of Astronomy,
Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

The visit of Halley's Comet to our skies, after an absence of 75 years, is one of the supreme events of a lifetime. While the popular frenzy and superstition associated with its appearance in 1456 are not now to be looked for, it is safe to say that the nightly presence in our sky of this monster of celestial depths will excite universal interest. It is with a view of enabling one to keep track of this stranger for a time, that the following dates and facts are brought together.

- April 16—Comet rises, 4:45 a. m.
- April 19—Comet at perihelion—nearest the sun; speed fastest; 1878 miles a minute.
- April 24—Comet rises, 3:09 a. m., now turns back East among the constellations.
- May 1—Comet's distance from the earth, 63,000,000 miles; close to Venus in the sky today.
- May 6—Comet rises, 2:38 a. m., earth crosses comet's path, where comet will be May 26th, but not in same plane.
- May 7—Comet 5 degrees south of star Gamma Pegasi.
- May 8—Comet rises, 2:46 a. m. Comet's greatest elongation west of sun, as seen from the earth. Comet 10 degrees north of Venus.
- May 9—Comet crosses Venus' path retreating.
- May 10—Comet rises, 2:24 a. m., distance from earth, 33,000,000 miles.
- May 12—Comet rises, 2:32 a. m.
- May 14—Comet rises, 2:40 a. m.
- May 15—Comet rises, 2:49 a. m.
- May 16—Comet rises, 3:08 a. m.; 7 degrees south of Star Alpha Arietas.
- May 17—Comet rises, 3:32 a. m.; distant 12,000,000 miles, about half that in 1835.
- May 18—Earth and comet passing; comet in conjunction with the sun on the nearer side, and at the same time at descending node, the two resulting in a transit of the comet across the sun's face, occurring between 1:30 and 1:45 a. m., Eastern time, hence visible in this country, but between 6:31 and 6:45 a. m., Greenwich time, hence visible in Europe, Asia and Africa. Earth and moon now proceed to pass through the comet's tail, but without result.
- May 19—Comet again in evening sky, appearing ever higher in west, and moving rapidly; today 1.2 degrees north of Aldebaran.
- May 20—Comet sets, 8:11 p. m., enormous size.
- May 21—Comet just where it was among the stars about Oct. 1; today passes close to Gamma Gemmi. Comet sets, 9:12 p. m.
- May 22—Comet sets, 9:57 p. m., passes 7.1-2 degrees north of Procyon.
- May 23—Comet sets 10:28 p. m.

Big PIANO SALE ON AT BRISTOL

CASH OR EASY PAYMENTS.

A Representative of the factory is at Bristol and realizing that every one cannot pay all cash, he has arranged to sell the stock and take notes for the payments. To dispose of stock quick is the main thing.

Pianos, Organs, Office Furniture and Fixtures all Sacrificed.

Everything must be sold at once, as the store and office has already been rented and Stull will close out to get out of the way. A special bargain list will be mailed upon request, but it may pay you to go to Bristol at once.

ADDRESS STULL PIANO CO., 531 STATE ST., BRISTOL, VA., AT ONCE IF YOU WISH TO SAVE A HUNDRED OR SO.

A great piano and organ sale is now on at Bristol, and it affords a great chance for people who want to buy musical instruments to save a bunch of money, as the entire stock is to be closed out by the company in order to realize on the stock without moving it from Bristol. The Stull Piano Company is closing out entirely to quit the music trade. A representative from the factory has just finished taking stock and decided to sell off the stock at sacrificed prices rather than to go to the expense of moving it to another point.

Mr. Stull has been in business in Bristol sixteen or seventeen years and is well known throughout the country. He has always handled high grade pianos and organs, and the present stock is composed of elegant instruments. Most of them are new—in fact some of the finest styles and case designs are on sale. Some of the stock is slightly used, some been rented, but it's all in fine shape, and worth easy from one-third to one-half more than it is priced.

Every organ and piano is a genuine bargain, and there is no reason why every home should not get one while the stock lasts.

Realizing that most people cannot pay all cash, it was decided to close the stock out quick by allowing easy terms for all who can't pay cash. Special arrangements are made with the factory to take notes for payments, and give the public the benefit of profits. This also helps the company to get rid of the goods quick, as the office and ware rooms are already contracted for and Mr. Stull will have to close out to get out of the way.

You should write Stull Piano Company, 531 State St., Bristol, Va., at once if you are interested—but a better way would be to go to Bristol at once, as you would be more than paid for the trip.

path, retreating, again retires behind the sun during the month of July.

July 27—Earth passes the perihelion point of comet, where it was April 19.

May 29, 1911—Comet crosses Jupiter's path in retreat.

CORN IS KING IN VIRGINIA.

There is no state in the Union that can grow more or better corn, per acre, than Virginia. The climatic conditions, in connection with the soil, seem to be peculiarly adapted to the growth and cultivation of corn. The annual value of the corn crop in Virginia is in excess of $35,000,000.00. Good corn land may be had for $10.00 per acre and upward. There is no special section adapted to the cultivation of this crop, but it appears to grow equally well in nearly every county adapted to agriculture.

The above is from the last issue of the Southern Homeseeker. Would it not be well for the farmer about Big Stone Gap help to swell the tonnage.

"MEMORIES"

You have heard the expression, "I would give all I possess for a picture of my child." That remark was made by some one who had neglected their opportunity and after it was too late saw their error. Don't put such things off. If you have a family or a child of whom you are very fond, have their pictures taken. Don't leave it for tomorrow, for tomorrow may never come. Do it now while there is health and strength, while the family circle is unbroken.
