THE ELECTION.

WHAT A FEW ROANOKE'S SAY ABOUT IT.

THE BEST THING EVER HAPPENED.

The Election of McKinney of Great Importance to this City—The People Delighted at Mahone's Downfall.

The sun rose yesterday in a cloudless sky and the air was cool and bracing. Every democrat looked cheerful and happy, and even nature herself seemed in full sympathy with the white people of Virginia in their rejoicing over the downfall of Mahoneism and in the triumph of the Anglo-Saxon race. Nearly every white man's face wore a smile, while the colored men as a rule seemed disgusted with the result.

Men were congregated in little groups at the street corners and in front of some of the principal stores discussing the events of yesterday, the vote of the city and state and making predictions as to the democratic majority when all the returns had come in. No one expected this majority to be less than 20,000 and many predicted that it would reach 40,000 or more.

The dispatch from Richmond, announcing that General Mahone had treated a party of serenaders to a shot from his gun caused considerable excitement here, and was the chief topic of conversation during the morning. The comments on the shooting were not very complimentary to the little boss, and when it was reported later that the shot had wounded a colored republican worker for Mahone, there was less disposition than ever to palliate the affair.

Occasionally squads of negroes could be seen quietly talking over matters, and on passing them such remarks as the following could be overheard:

"I never did believe we all was gwine to beat 'um no how."

"Taint no use for niggers to make any calkerations 'bout beatin the democrats, case we can't do it, no how."

"Ghnil Mahone is a mifin smart man, but Kuanell McKinism is smarter den he is."

"I don't keer what day say, de boss thing the cullud man kin do jess now is to let polyticks alone."

"Democrats talk 'bout money bein' used, but I never see none."

It was evident from the general appearance of colored voters, that they were not only thoroughly disgusted with the turn things had taken, but were prepared to look more carefully around them in the future. It will be the same old story, however; they will blame themselves for their stupidity, but when the next election comes around they will fall into line at the bidding of their preachers and white bosses, satisfied to be transferred to any candidate they are elected in blocks of five, ten or any other number.

As the TIMES reporter went on his round he was asked numerous questions about the latest returns, and as he was anxious to learn how the people generally felt on the subject he began the questioning process himself.

Meeting Mr. Frank Kemp, the active and irrepressible real estate agent, soon after coming to this determination, he asked him what he thought of the election news in Virginia?

"It is the best thing that's happened for many a day," said that gentleman as he turned his eyes for half a second from a New York capitalist, to whom he was discoursing on the beauties of the property in Hyde park.

Mr. James S. Simmons, the live and energetic member of the real estate firm of James S. Simmons & Co., was the next man interviewed by the TIMES reporter. He was very busy talking to three gentlemen from Pennsylvania about the beauties of real estate in the west end, but had time enough to make the following answer: "I regard the election of McKinney as of the greatest importance to this city, and to the values of real estate. His election will result in incalculable good to the city and state, and from my correspondence before the election I look for the investment of a flood of capital in this city and section. Altogether, I am delighted at the result, and look for renewed confidence everywhere, and greater investments."

Major Waugh, manager of the depot restaurant, said: "I am glad of it," with an energy and emphasis that carried full conviction of his earnestness.

Captain Kindred said, "We want the state for white men and the vote shows it."

Ex-Councilman Kelly said it was a heavy blow to Harrison's administration.

J. A. Dupuy, esq., said the result in this state was "a regular ground swell for democracy."

His partner, R. E. Scott, esq., said it was "glory enough for one day."

Mayor Carr said the heavy democratic majority was bound to have a good effect, and much credit was due the northern republicans and anti-Mahoneites who co-operated with the friends of McKinney. It was a merited rebuke to the administration, and especially to Harrison, Quay, Dudley and Mahone as it showed very conclusively to them that Virginians could not be bought. The election here was the quietest he had ever seen. It was indeed a grand victory, and if Foraker is beaten in Ohio there would be double cause for rejoicing.

John W. Woods, esq., the next member of the house of delegates from this district, said, with a quiet smile, when asked how he liked the returns from the Virginia election: "I am more than satisfied; I am delighted."

Mr. Wood's law partner, C. B. Moomaw, esq., says the heavy democratic vote was a surprise to everybody. Billy Mahone included.

Mr. Markley, the popular Salem grocer, said that the present triumph of democracy foreshadowed a grand victory in the presidential election of 1892.

Hon. H. S. Trout said the returns indicated that democracy in Virginia was all right.

WE ARE SAVED.

WHITE MEN WILL CONTINUE TO RULE VIRGINIA.

RETURNS STILL BRING GOOD NEWS.

The Legislature will be Democratic by Two-thirds on Joint Ballot. Mahoneism Forever Done for.

HUSTINGS COURT.

Judge William Gordon Robertson Presiding.

The grand jury of the November term of the hustings court, T. T. Fishburne, found the following indictments:

Thomas Williams, forgery; Mary Williams, felony; J. H. Gardner, felony. The grand jury recommended the rigid enforcement of the law in regard to carrying concealed weapons.

The case of William Alvis, felony, was set for trial on the 12th of this month.

In the habes corpus case of Emma Madre vs. Mirande Jefferson, for the possession of her child, Josephine Madre, the judge decided that the child should remain in the custody of Mirande Jefferson, its grandmother, and that the costs should be paid by the plaintiff.

The case of Mary Jeter, charged with infanticide, came up for trial yesterday, with the following jury empanelled: Samuel Kinnier, W. A. Burks, Thomas F. Lambert, T. B. Coleman, Z. B. Bright, W. C. Saunders, M. L. Smith, H. Patterson, N. Chapman, J. H. Bradley, J. D. Coleman and J. W. Hancock. After examining six witnesses for the commonwealth the case was postponed until 9 a. m. this morning with Mr. J. H. Featherstone in charge of the jury.

The court ordered, on motion of City Solicitor Henry Gibson, that the petition of C. C. Reese against the city, in relation to land to be condemned for street purposes, be docketed.

Room and retail liquor license was granted to J. A. Martin, on Railroad avenue.

In the case of J. B. Isett vs. the commonwealth of Virginia, the motion to vacate the judgment was argued by counsel and the judge took the papers under advisement. T. W. Miller was counsel for the plaintiff, and R. B. Smith for the commonwealth.

ALLEGHANY INSTITUTE

Meeting of the Board of Trustees Yesterday.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Alleghany institute was held in the office of Messrs. Penn & Cocke yesterday afternoon, with the following members present: Prof. C. L. Cocke, president; Mr. W. G. Evans, secretary; Judge David E. Johnston, Princeton, W. Va.; Judge George Swann, Fincastle; M. Graybill, esq., Amsterdam; Dr. J. L. Stearns, Salem; Rev. G. W. Beal, Hollins; Rev. M. A. Wilson, Princeton, W. Va.; L. H. Cocke, esq., Messrs. E. H. Stewart and J. W. Jamison, of this city.

Rev. Dr. C. F. James, superintendent of the institute, presented a report showing that it was in a satisfactory condition and recommending the appointment of another assistant teacher. The recommendation was agreed to, and he was empowered to select an assistant.

The executive committee was authorized to build a stable and a gymnasium and to purchase such furniture and apparatus as may be necessary to fit up the latter building for occupancy. Other matters relating to the immediate needs of the institute were disposed of, and after resolving to do everything possible to insure the success of the institute, the trustees adjourned, much pleased with its prospects.

Sunday School Teachers Union.

The Sunday School Teachers union, which was organized several weeks ago for the study of the international Sunday school lessons, will meet at the Young Men's Christian Association hall this (Thursday) evening at 7.30 o'clock. The lesson will be conducted by Rev. J. E. Bushnell, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church.

Similar meetings will be held every Thursday night at same time and place until further notice, which will be conducted by the pastors of the various churches, Sunday school superintendents, and experienced teachers, as shall be appointed from week to week, and we can assure all who will attend a most pleasant and profitable time in the study of these lessons.

We extend to Sunday school teachers and all others who desire a better knowledge of God's word in order that they may render more efficient service for the Master. A most cordial welcome to these meetings.

Amusements.

Sun's new phantasma and refined concert company will begin a series of entertainments at the opera house this evening. The Lawrence, Kansas, Signal in referring to this company has the following:

"The Gardner Brothers, musical artists, with Sun's new phantasma and refined concert company, are musical geniuses. They perform artistic music on about twenty different musical instruments and earned loud applause; the company is a good one and will pack the house tonight to its very doors."

Come From Lexington on a Bicycle.

Mr. Fred Eisenbrandt, of Baltimore, arrived here yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, having come all the way from Lexington, by way of the Natural Bridge and Salem, on a bicycle since Monday afternoon. He left here yesterday afternoon for Lynchburg, and will go thence to Lexington, the point from which he at first started.

Frederick Warde Comes.

Mr. Charles H. Keeshin, advance agent of the distinguished tragedian, Frederick Warde, was in the city yesterday, making preparations for the appearance of Mr. Warde here on the 12th and 13th of this month, in the "Mountebank" on Tuesday night and "Virginia" on Wednesday night.
