THE CHICAGO WEEKLY TIMES

(FOUNDED 1854.)

AND

THE GREATEST AND MOST

POPULAR EXPONENT OF

MODERN DEMOCRACY

IN THE UNITED STATES.

AN AGRICULTURAL AND POLIT-

ICAL WEEKLY ALL IN ONE.

$1.00 PER YEAR

New conditions surround the farmer with wider duties. He now, less than formerly, can without reproach disregard his obligation to seek to prepare himself and his family for their political as well as their civil duties, and for whatever is essential to good, wise citizenship.

REPRESENTS THE PEOPLE.

No question of national importance—and all political and economic questions of moment are national ones—begins in congress. They are canvassed and discussed by the people and press, and when they reach congress that body has merely the details to consider. THE CHICAGO WEEKLY TIMES has become the recognized leader of the great plain people—the bone and sinew of the commonwealth and the hope of the American republic. Its editorials are broad, national, eloquent, convincing, and dignified, and as comprehensive in the subjects treated as are the questions of human interest.

THE CHICAGO WEEKLY TIMES represents all the movements of the day, and upon its indomitable hinges, in a large degree, their future, for it is broad in its views, liberal in its judgments, and has the best possible means of forming a correct one, and knowing its duty to man, the country, progress, and future greatness, is lifted above bigotry and narrow mindedness, dares perform its duty to all subscribers should turn for enlightenment, sympathy, assistance, and the nerve to carry out their undertakings.

In its ranks are to be found the brightest minds in every line. Week by week it talks to every subscriber of what is going on, brushes away the dust from the past and starlight the coming. It forecasts the future and forewarns against disaster. It is a matchless scrap book of knowledge for the farmer, mechanic, lawyer, doctor, and all good citizens.

Without the requirements of wading through pages of irrelevant matter THE CHICAGO WEEKLY TIMES gives to its readers the sifted grains of thought, history, science, and all a glance; makes every reader a cosmopolite, and brings the entire wealth of the world to his very door.

It gives more for the money than any other weekly paper in America. It is bright, entertaining, and valuable—good for the whole family.

It is a bureau of information for its subscribers, answering anything desired.

Its agricultural department contains the best from all sources.

It soaks every intelligent man and woman to become a subscriber, because it stands up for the rights of the down-trodden, the oppressed, and the weak against the strong; being unswayed by influence and unbribed by gain, and besides giving the best of everything from a literary standpoint, is pledged to religious, liberty and law.
