Robbers at Work.

On Monday night a robber or robbers visited several places of business here and made a fair "lift". The places visited were J. S. Lyons' grocery and relieved the cash register of 75 cents. At Godard's drugstore, the cash register was forced opened and the robbers secured $4 or $5 in cash. The saloon conducted by Toto Elmer was also relieved of $10 which was taken from the cash register. J. O. Lege's saloon was entered and some cash taken. J. S. Lann & Co., appear to have been the greatest losers as the sum of $20 was taken from that place. In each instance the robbers effected an entrance by forcing the rear doors of the stores. They must have been well acquainted with the cash registers as they succeeded in opening all of them except Mr. Godard's who has a peculiar patent on his; but the robbers did full justice to this register with Mr. Godard's hatchet. The town employs a night watchman and how robbers managed to enter five places of business in one night and fail to be detected by the vigilant officer is astonishing Abbeville.

The following is the line-up:

The Cane Crop.

The weather has improved during the past week, from the sugar planters' point of view, inasmuch as the rainfall has been less frequent and more opportunity has been given for the prosection of field work. The temperature has been comparatively high and the conditions in general have been such as to encourage the hope that the crop may be laid by on time and in good condition. The fine stand of cane and the advanced condition of the canes more than compensate for any injury from the grass yet in the field and this latter is now rapidly disappearing before the plows and cultivators.—Louisiana Planter.
