3,000 PEOPLE WITNESS PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

Twenty-five Prizes Donated by our Merchants-- Given away on Tuesday through The Herald.

Big Crowd Assists Judges in Making Selection. Perfect Order Maintained. Police greatly Assist Management.

Fully three thousand people witnessed the distribution of the prizes which were so kindly donated by the merchants who advertise in the Herald. Long before the appointed hour of 4 o'clock the good natured crowd started to come. Many were at the corner at one o'clock in order to secure a good position, but the erection of the big platform in front of the Herald office made it possible for every one to see the maskers as they competed for the prizes.

It was not difficult for the judges to select those who were lucky in winning the prizes as their decision was reached only after the overwhelming majority of the crowd had decided the winners. This method was found to be very successful and popular and was resorted to in all cases where there was any doubt. The big crowd was very orderly and the three officers detailed here had little trouble in maintaining order. Corporal Roussel was in charge and he was ably assisted by Officers Prados and LaCoste.

The management of the affair was greatly assisted by the three officers, who took much interest in the contests. Corporal Roussel had charge of the platform, Officer LaCoste had charge of the gate and looked after the young Americans, while Officer Prados watched those on the stand to prevent accident. The Herald extends thanks to Inspector Reynolds and the three officers. During the awarding of the prizes several marching clubs passed the stand. The Olympia Carnival Club all dressed in hobbie skirts, headed by a brass band, made the best appearance and were greatly applauded. Mr. A. Sidney Daniels, who was the official announcer for the occasion, had many witty things to say to the crowd, which helped to keep them smiling.

The following judges assisted the crowd in awarding the prizes: Mrs. Wm. H. Weaver, Mrs. J. E. Huckins, Mrs. A. S. Daniels, Dr. A. C. King, Dr. Wm. H. Weaver and Mr. E. W. Burgis. FOLLOW here with article in type.

"ALGIERS MASKERS.

"Herald Contest Proves Popular and Awards Many Prizes.

"Several thousand persons attended the second annual maskers' contest held in Algiers by the Herald, of which Dr. C. V. Kraft, one of the most progressive citizens of the Fifth District, is editor and owner. For several weeks he worked hard to interest merchants and other friends in the gathering, and he succeeded in having twenty-five prizes donated, which were ten more than last year. The affair was conducted in an orderly manner, and was a success from every standpoint. Dr. Kraft was congratulated by every one for his public spirit in having real Carnival spirit across the river, as well as in other sections of the city.

The prizes were well arranged, and as a result many kinds of maskers were given an opportunity to compete. A judge's stand was erected at the office of the Herald, Verret and Eliza streets, and the maskers passed in review."

Eugenie Herbert, Ruth Borne, Olga Nelson, Maude Tufts, Leola Fetherling, Cora Swift, Bessie Nichols and Katie Prazer; Meadames W. H. Weaver, John Porzier, E. Hotard, M. E. Tufts, L. S. Daudein, H. L. Hoyt and Mrs. W. S. Slack; Messrs. L. J. Burton, R. W. F. Nichols, George Stewart, A. R. Woolf and the rector. Meadames A. C. Briel and W. B. Fleming were kindly saw to the comfort of the feasters and earned their gratitude by their assiduous attentions. After Lent we hope to have a social evening for the members of the "Home Department."

Next Wednesday will be the fifteenth anniversary of our rector's ordination to the Diaconate, and it will be quietly celebrated. He will be glad to have those who can come, to be present at and receive Holy Communion at 7:00 a. m.

Last Sunday Florence Amelia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cassius E. Jolley, of Morgan City, was baptized. The sponsors were Mr. Sidney Clayton Thornton and Miss Minnie Davis Thornton.

There will be a called meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society at the rectory to-night at 7:00 sharp.

The regular monthly meeting of the vestry will take place at the rectory to-night at 7:30 o'clock.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

One of the finest demonstrations ever held in Algiers Catholic circles took place Sunday morning when several hundred members of New Orleans Council No. 714, Knights of Columbus, together with a large number of candidates who were given the fourth degree later in the day, attended nine o'clock solemn high mass at the Church of the Holy Name of Mary.

The Choral Club of the council made its initial appearance as chanters of mass and the manner in which it acquitted itself reflected credit on the members.

The knights assembled at the headquarters on Carondelet street, near Julia street, at 8 o'clock and marched in a body to the Canal street ferry. They were met on the Algiers side by the following committee, headed by Mayor Behrman: A. J. Haaser, Jas. L. Haggins, Jas. W. Reynolds, J. P. Nolan, Thos. F. Richardson, J. W. Higgins, R. F. Whitmore, Albert Twickler, Hy. Ormond and Sam Rodick.

The celebrant of the mass was Father Teurlings. He was assisted by Rev. Alfred St. Martin, S. M., as deacon, and Rev. Thomas J. Larkin, S. M., as subdeacon. Rev. Joseph D. Claire, S. M., was master of ceremonies.

Very Rev. R. H. Smith, president of Jefferson College, a member of the order, who is a gifted pulpit orator, delivered a sermon which was one of the finest heard in the Algiers church.

ARCHBISHOP ISSUES LENTEN REGULATIONS.

The usual Lenten regulations for the Diocese of New Orleans have been issued by Archbishop Bleek and were read in all the Catholic churches Sunday. The regulations are written in English and in French. They are as follows:

The obligation of fasting during Lent is binding on all the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year, unless they are dispensed from it or otherwise excused for some legitimate cause.

Only one full meal a day is allowed, with the exception of Sundays.

It is permitted to take a little lunch, commonly called collation, in the evening.

The church exempts the following persons from fasting: Those who are not yet twenty-one years of age, the sick, and those who are so weak that they cannot fast without injury to their health, women nursing children, and all those who are engaged in hard labor.

The church imposes upon her children the obligation of fast and abstinence during the holy season of Lent, but would also remind them that it is a time when they should, in an especial manner, practice works of piety and charity by penance for their sins, abstaining from worldly amusements and by the giving of alms.

By special dispensation, the use of flesh meat is allowed at all meals on Sundays and at the principal meal on Saturdays, with the exception of Ember Saturday, March 11, and Holy Saturday. But it is not permitted to use meat and fish at the same meal, even on Sundays.

Eggs, butter, cheese and milk are allowed every day in Lent.

In the morning it is permitted to take tea, coffee, or thin chocolate, together with a slice of bread.

When it is not convenient to take the order, taking the collation in the morning and dinner in the evening.

The use of hog's lard or drippings is allowed in the preparation of permitted food.

Persons who are dispensed from fasting are free to eat more than once a day, on days when the use of meat is allowed.

By a special indulgent granted to us by Leo XIII on March 15, 1895, and renewed by Pius X on Feb. 25, 1905, we permit all workmen and their families to eat meat at the principal meal on all days of fast and abstinence, with the exception of Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and Saturday of Holy Week and Christmas Eve.

Likewise, any member of the family on whom the household depends for support—whether it be the father, son or daughter, it matters not—if at liberty to use the indulgent, carries the privilege for the entire family.

Persons who are legitimately excused or dispensed from the obligation of fast and abstinence are permitted to eat meat more than once on the days before mentioned. However, even to those who are free to use this privilege, it is not allowed to eat fish meat and fish at the same meal. But since the Lenten season is essentially a time of penance, we would earnestly urge those who avail themselves of this indulgence to perform such other acts of mortification, such as abstention from intoxicating drinks, staying away from theaters and other profane amusements.

All Catholics who have attained the proper age are bound to receive worthily holy communion during the Paschal time, which extends from the first Sunday of Lent to Trinity Sunday.

Parents are strictly bound to take all the measures necessary to have their little ones, arrived at the age of discretion or reason, receive worthily the sacraments of penance and of the Holy Eucharist.

BAPTISMS.

The following baptisms took place Saturday and Sunday at the Church of the Holy Name of Mary:

Thelma Eloise Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Campbell. Sponsors, Oscar Madre and Mrs. C. Leonard.

Anna Ella Gauthreau, daughter of Ely Gauthreau and Annie Burmaster. Sponsors, Dan J. Walker and Martha Burmaster.

Ogden Pierre Wm. Madere, son of Oscar Madere and Eloise Durkee. Sponsors, Wm. P. Legon and Mary Lauman.

Raymond William James Loyd, son of Wm. Loyd and Annie Tiemann. Sponsor, Louisa Rice.

TO DEVELOP NEW RESIDENCE PARK.

The Fidelity Land Company has purchased a large tract of land in the vicinity of the Naval station, and in the very near future work of improving the property will be started. The officers of the company, E. L. Chapuis, president; William H. Eyl, secretary and treasurer, and Ernest J. Coulon, vice president, announced the purchase of the property late Thursday afternoon.

The tract is in a desirable section of Algiers and will be developed into a residence park. It is the intention of the Fidelity Land Company to make their new possession just as attractive for residential purposes as Metairie Heights.

NEW YORK IS INHABITED BY OWLS, IS OPINION OF MARIE DE TRACE.

Mis De Trace who plays Beverly in "Beverly," at the Crescent Theater next week, is a Kansas City girl, and says that she prefers her natal place to New York, with all its four million inhabitants.

"New York is a fine city in many respects," said Miss De Trace. "They have the tallest buildings, the largest hotels, and the greatest summer resorts, but I think the people must be owls, for they never seem to sleep, and the stranger within their gates has no chance to sleep either—at least I can't. I went on there in August to rehearse for "Beverly" and secured a nice boarding place in the 40's, around the corner from the elevated. The first night I laid me down, a train would rattle by about every minute. I finally became used to that, and was about half asleep, when a man across the street started in to make derogatory observations about his wife's relatives, and his wife retorted with dishes and glassware. After the racket had lasted about half an hour, a policeman came along and quieted the disturbance, and then stood on the curbstone for ten minutes and told the neighborhood what he thought of a domestic brawl. When he departed a quartette came down the street warbling glees and chansons, and it seemed to me they took half an hour to pass a given point. As soon as the stong birds had faded away, a fight started in the corner saloon and made enough noise for the battle of Gettysburg. After ages and ages, I finally went to sleep and after a nap of fully fifteen minutes the milkmen making their rounds woke me up again. We may not have any Metropolitan towers or Coney Islands in Missouri, but at least you can sleep like a Christian, which is more than I can do in New York.

GO TO CROWLEY.

On Monday, March 13, the Fraternal Club composed of members of Columbus Lodge No. 24, I. O. O. F., will leave over the Southern Pacific for Crowley to take part in the dedication of the Home for Widows, Orphans and Aged Old Fellows, and also to attend the session of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana. The club has, through Bro. Thos. M. Giblin, engaged the Elmo hotel for headquarters during their stay in Crowley and will entertain in quite a lavish manner. Probably they will bring the next Grand Lodge to Algiers, last year having favored Crowley owing to the dedication of the home. The following will leave on the trip: Thos. M. Giblin and daughter, John Keppler and wife, J. A. Cohees and wife, S. Howard and daughter, J. N. Hussong and wife, E. Gerdes and wife, Aug. Kreeger, W. Weyer, Chas. Travis, G. Kroningsheim, Geo. Muth, John Leonard, Thos. Callow, A. T. Rioks, Joseph Schmidt, W. O. Schmidt, Chas. Esnard, A. F. Kaufman, E. B. Barry, A. P. Dupuis, W. Feldman, A. W. Smith, R. F. Leland, Robt. Hafkesbring, S. Cueria.

If You Want to Be Liked.

Do not "take liberties" with your friends. Don't intrude on them when they are busy. Don't break engagements with them if you can possibly help it. Many a friendship comes to an untimely end because little courtesies are set aside. A habit of courtesy carries one safely through many dangerous places, especially with intimate friends.

Don't Tell a Man a Secret.

Tell a man a secret and he tells it to his wife, and when she in turn repeats it he has a great deal to say about a woman not being able to keep a secret.—Atchison Globe.

MCCARTHY-THELEMAN.

One of the social functions of the past week was the nuptials of Miss Maude Vivian McCarthy, second daughter of Mrs. Annie L. McCarthy and the late Jas. F. McCarthy, and Mr. August Wm. Theleman, of New Orleans, celebrated at the Holy Name of Mary church, on Thursday, Feb. 23.

The bridal train proceeded to the lavishly decorated sanctuary, through a graceful and picturesque bower of natural palms, artistically arranged in the middle aisle, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, inspiringly executed by Prof. F. Herbert.

The gentlemen acting in capacity of ushers, namely, Messrs. Ernest Koke-mor, David Mills, Leo O'Hearn and Edward Wadsworth, led, followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Stella Mitchell, robed in a handsome gown of pink marquisette over pink messaline, embellished in silver spangles and pearls, carrying a trailing bouquet of Killarney roses and asparagus fern tied with pink tulle. She was accompanied by the groomsmen, Mr. Herman Doescher. Following was the maid of honor, Miss Lydia McCarthy, youngest sister of the bride, whose blonde loveliness was further enhanced by her attractive robe of white lingerie over white silk, and her bouquet of bride roses and asparagus fern, shower effect, caught with long tulle streamers.

Immediately preceding the bride were the wedding girls, Ura Babin and Edmund Duke, who acted as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

The bride, a picture of girlish dignity and modesty, entered on the arm of her only brother, John J. P. McCarthy, who gave her in keeping of the groom, awaiting with his best man, Mr. Chas. Waldman at the chancel rail. She was crowned most charmingly and queenly in an elaborate creation of embroidered lingerie, trimmed in Irish pin and Oriental lace. Sprays of orange blossoms relieved the corsage and held in place the veil of illusion. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and asparagus fern with trailers of satin ribbon bow knots, supporting delicate sprays of lilies of the valley caught with lengthy tulle streamers. About her left hand was twined an exquisite amethyst rosary, the gift of her pastor, Rev. T. J. Larkin, and the infant Sunday School department, over which she presided as superintendent for several sessions. About her neck was suspended a handsome gold and pearl lavalier, the gift of the groom. All the bridal attendants wore pearls in the coiffure. As Rev. A. J. St. Martin, officiating clergyman, entered with the altar boys, Miss F. netta Reinecke effectively rendered the
