SECURITY BREWERY

Charges Blaise Suit Inspired by Rival Brewery.

Declaring that George P. Blaise had associated himself with the American Brewing Company, a corporation engaged in competition with respondent, for the purpose of furthering the interest of the said company to the detriment of respondent, the Security Brewing Company filed its answer recently in the United States District Court in the matter of Schumert & Warfield et al. vs. the Security Brewing Company, an action to force the latter company into involuntary bankruptcy.

The defendant admits that it owes debts in excess of $1,000, but it denies that it is insolvent or was insolvent on April 17, 1912, when it applied to the Civil District Court on that date for the appointment of a receiver. The defendant admits that in the suit of the Teutonia Bank and Trust Company vs. the Security Brewing Company, that in the answer filed it admitted that the board of directors of the corporation had passed a resolution that said corporation was unable to meet its obligations as they matured, and that a receiver was necessary, but that said declaration did not admit and was not intended to admit that the Security Brewing Company was insolvent. It is specifically denied that a receiver was appointed on the ground of insolvency, but, on the contrary, the defendant avers that the receiver was appointed to facilitate the conduct of the business and because of the liquidation of the Teutonia Bank and Trust Company, and on representation to the court that the corporation was perfectly solvent. Defendant avers that the plaintiff's petition is defective in that the requisite number of creditors are not before the court; that George P. Blaise, one of the creditors, was the secretary of the defendant company, and that as such an officer he was present and a party to the meeting of the directors which had invoked the aid of the court in protecting its property by the appointment of a receiver; that prior to the filing of the proceedings the said Blaise associated himself with the American Brewing Company, and that George P. Blaise, in filing these proceedings, is acting in furtherance of a scheme to injure respondent in the interest of the said American Brewing Company, and that by his said conduct, silence and approval of the receiver, he is forever estopped from petitioning the court to have defendant declared a bankrupt. Further, defendant denies that it, at any time, committed an act of bankruptcy or that it is insolvent.

MAHONEY'S SERVICE TO ALGIERS.

WHY HE IS ENTITLED TO OUR VOTES FOR A POSITION OF PAY.

Some of His Connections Here and What He Has Done For Algiers.

Among some of the things of interest to Algiers, in which Mr. Mahoney took a most conspicuous and a leading part, we will mention the following:

He was one of the organizers of the Algiers Rifle Club, which was one of the most popular and interesting institutions of our district, until it went out of existence a few years ago.

He was also one of the organizers and a member of the first board of directors of the Algiers Athletic Club, which was also a most popular organization in its day, and composed of such men as Capt. Matt. O'Brien, its president, J. D. Connell and others, whose names will live forever in the hearts of the laboring men of this community.

He is one of the organizers of the Alhambra Gymnastic Club of Algiers and a member of its board of directors, it being his desire and hope with the co-operation with other members of this club, to make it useful and beneficial to every man, woman and child in Algiers.

While not sportively inclined himself, to any great extent, he has fostered these institutions for the benefit of and the pleasure and profit they might be to others, and in order to place Algiers on an equality with other districts of the city; and to attract people from them to our town, with the hope of having them better acquainted with us and of creating greater interest in Algiers and its people.

He was one of the first members of the Algiers Improvement Association and since its organization has served on some of its most important committees. As chairman of the Ferry Franchise Committee, he framed the specifications for the sale of the franchise of the Canal Street Ferry and had them presented to the City Council. He attended every meeting of the Street and Landing and the Franchise Committees at which the matter was taken up; called upon the editors of the Picayune, Times-Democrat, the Daily States and the City Item, to seek their co-operation in advocating our cause and the justice of our demands before the public, which they gave in editorial write-ups; and with the consent of the mayor, he examined the ordinance before it was signed by him, in order to make sure that it had not been changed or altered to our disadvantage. The result has been that those specifications and recommendations, with a few minor changes, were adopted and the Canal Street ferries are operating under them now. Before the Franchise Committee the principal fight was centered on the reduction of fare and the elimination of double-fare after nine o'clock at night and his success in those two items has been the means of saving to the people of Algiers 50 per cent in cash. Besides this, due in part to his activity in advertising the great value of the franchise and having it boosted through the press of our city, it was purchased by the Southern Improvement and Ferry Company, at the magnificent price and sum of $225,000. You may easily appreciate the importance of a sale when you consider that ten years before, the franchise of the Canal Street, Second District and Third District ferries sold for only $50. A large amount of the proceeds of sale to the Southern Improvement and Ferry Company was appropriated to the building of the Newton street viaduct, which has proven of great value to Algiers.

Another matter which Mr. Mahoney took up for the benefit of our district was the suit of the Algiers Improvement Association vs. the Western Union Telegraph Company, before the Railroad Commission of Louisiana, for the establishment and maintenance of a branch office in Algiers, centrally located. This case was given a special hearing at the St. Charles hotel, and many of the most prominent citizens and business men of Algiers were present to give their testimony. Mr. Mahoney, a few days later, was given a favorable decision and the telegraph company ordered to establish the office. It failed to do so, however, within the time prescribed in the order, when Mr. Mahoney filed a rule for contempt against the telegraph company, and just before the day fixed for the trial of the case, the said company took out an injunction in the Circuit Court of the United States, to restrain the Railroad Commission from enforcing its order and imposing a fine for contempt.

The case has, since then, been in the hands of the attorney general of the state, who represents the Railroad Commission. Mr. Mahoney presented this case against a rich and powerful corporation and gave it his care and study without charge of any kind.

Mr. Mahoney also served the people of this district faithfully and well as a member of the School Board, repre-

WILL OPPOSE FRANK HYMEL.

At a lively meeting of the eighth ward Goo-Goo club Tuesday night, objections to the appointment of Frank Hymel were brought before the club. On a motion by John M. Burg, it was decided that the organization protest to headquarters against the appointment of Frank C. Hymel as a member of the Levee Board. Hymel is an Algerine and it is stated, was an Aswell man and should not be shown that preference.

CHILD MAY BE GIVEN TO AUNT.

Mary Vondersluice, the little 12-year-old girl who ran away from the Poydras asylum a few days ago, and whom detectives afterwards located at the home of her aunt, Mrs. August Gerrets, 401 Pacific avenue, will be called before the juvenile court Thursday, and it is possible that the child will be given to the aunt.

The girl, it is said by the asylum authorities, is one of the best children in the institution, where she has been for the past four years. She escaped by jumping the fence one afternoon and was not found until the following day. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which was influential in placing her in the asylum, brought the child into court from her aunt's shortly after her whereabouts became known, and Judge Wilson, as a matter of discipline, sent her back to the Poydras institution for a few days, until the asylum board can meet and in conjunction with the court decide whether it will be to the child's best interest to retain her or release her to the aunt.

senting this district, and in conjunction with Hon. F. Henning, was instrumental in bringing about many improvements in the school facilities of our children; among them the change of the McDonogh 5 from a colored to a school for white children, and thereby reclaiming it as a most beautiful site for the white people of the neighborhood and increasing the value of their property at least fifty per cent; also the building of the Belleville School Annex and the acquisition of additional playgrounds for McDonogh No. 4. No two directors, who preceded Mr. Mahoney and Mr. Henning on the board can show a better record.

Mr. Mahoney was personally instrumental in having the New Orleans Chair Company locate its factory over here, and during its existence, up to the time of its destruction by fire, gave employment to many Algiers people.

Another important matter in which Mr. Mahoney lent his services and gave up much of his time was in the matter of the differences, several years ago, between the Carmen's Association and the M. L. & T. R. R. Co., espousing the cause of the Carmen before the high officials of the railroad company. This matter is still fresh in the minds of the members of the Carmen's Association and the people of Algiers, and therefore needs no further explanation here.

In fact during his residence here for the past twenty-five years, Mr. Mahoney has shown himself a public spirited citizen, contributing his time, his money and his professional ability to every cause, that needed it, whether public or private.

Having done so much for the district and its people without compensation or hope of reward, he is now a candidate for a position with pay, which we feel he is entitled to and we hope that the voters of Algiers will consider his claims superior to those of any opposing candidate and give him their support and votes for Judge of the Second City Court on the 3rd day of September, A. D. 1912.

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Three men will have quite a time before the courts for the ugly affair in the home of Mrs. Jessie Roussel, of 619 Newton street, Friday morning, for it is held that the place was robbed and the lady, who is a widow keeping a boarding-house, was beaten and a lamp was thrown at her and her bed was almost demolished by William Brown, known as Tad, of Pacific and Eliza streets; James Foley, who has just turned 19 years of age, of 421 Pacific avenue, a boilermaker, and Penrose Radovich, a brakeman, of 505 Elmira avenue, according to the story of the police.

It was about 5 o'clock when Mrs. Roussel heard some one at the front door. Suddenly the door was forced and before the lady could scream for help three men entered her bedroom. The man she first recognized was Penrose Radovich, and he demanded to know where a man by the name of Oser was. Oser was a boarder in the house, and had departed for his work. Radovich, according to her story, said that he and his companions wanted to go to bed. Mrs. Roussel told them that they had no right in the place, and Brown, she says, grabbed a lamp and threw it at her, and one of the other men, just who it was was not made clear, though Mrs. Roussel is quite convinced that it was Radovich, slapped her face. She managed to get to a rear door and running out in the street called for help. In that time the doors of her armor were taken from their hinges and a box with $8 taken. The trio tried to pull the bed into the yard and almost demolished it.

The police arrested all of the men, who were fully identified. They were charged with breaking and entering in the daytime and petty larceny, and charges of assault and battery will be made against those responsible for the attack on Mrs. Roussel. Just what prompted the affair is unknown, except possibly the men were drinking, though there is no charge to that effect, and the men enter a full denial of the whole matter. They were placed under bond.
