

BUNGALOW TYPE OF OLDEN TIMES

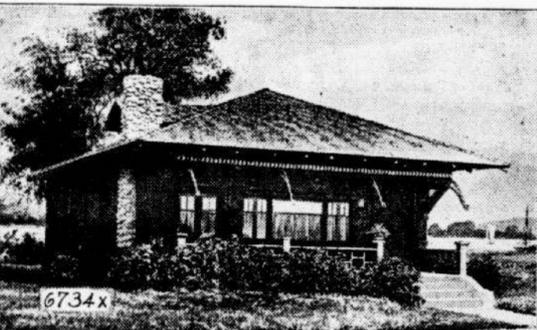

Is Splendidly Shown in This Case, Planned for Both Young and Old People.

LOW ROOF AND WIDE EAVES

Of But Three Rooms It Yet Has Many Features of Interest—Porch, Fireplace and Wide Rooms Promise Comfort and Pleasure to Dwellers.

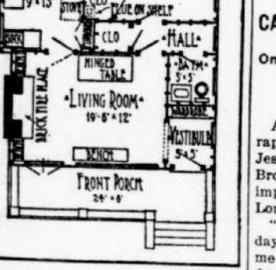

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD. Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building...

The idea of owning a typical bungalow appeals to all young persons and most old people. A real bungalow is low and wide in proportion. It has a comparatively flat roof that projects several feet beyond the sides of the house...

lignously observed. The first is that the roof must be low in appearance, and the second is that it must have a wide eave projection.

This little three-room affair embodies many features of interest. In the first place, the approach from the street is conducted along broad lines.

which the architect has succeeded in weaving a combination of ideas that result in a beautiful picture. The front veranda is too wide for the roof so that an awning supported on curved iron brackets is substituted.

needed, to be rolled back out of the way when not wanted. No bungalow is complete without a chimney and fireplace. If the chimney is built by using rough stones, as the illustration shows, it is all the more artistic.

The house is not big enough to afford a dining room. Dining rooms are a nuisance anyway. Our grandmothers used to cook in the kitchen and lift the hot, steaming appetizers directly from the stove to the table.

Here is a kitchen lighted with four windows, and darkened by thick heavy shades that may be pulled down to keep out part or all of the sunlight.

Modern house plumbing is represented in the bathroom and at the kitchen sink, where hot and cold water are supplied for domestic purposes in the most approved manner.

As for the democratic servant-biography? One of Carlyle's servants, Jesse, who on marrying became Mrs. Broadfoot, has left a very favorable impression of her old master, says the London Standard.

"I could have lived with him all my days," she says, "and it always makes me angry when I read, as I sometimes do, that he was bad-tempered. He was the very reverse, in my opinion. I never would have left him when I did if I had not been going to get married. I took great pride in attending on him and studying all his wants and wishes."

OLD ZEB WHITE He Tells a Story About a Cantankerous Man By M. QUAD Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"That was sum purty bad men around yere jest arter the wah," said Zeb White, the possum hunter of Tennessee, as he got his pipe alight one evening on the doorsteps. "Mebbe the wust critter of the lot was named Tom Smith. He didn't hev no family, but jest sorter hung around at the co'ners. He was powerful on the brag, but he could fight fur all that, and bimely everybody got skeered o' him. He went about with a chip on his shoulder and blood in his eye till sum men moved away to git 'er o' him. Fur sum reason he didn't bother me fur a long time, but one day when I went down to the co'ners to sell sum possum pelts Tom was outer serts and opened on me. He looks at me a long time with a glare in his eye. Then he throws down his hat and jumps on it and yells:

"Whoopee! Zeb White, behold the jumper from Junipersville! I'll bet my rifle acin them possum pelts I kin out-jump yo' by six inches. If yo' ar' a man with legs under yo' cum out and try on me!" "I seed he was tryin' to pick a quarrel," said Zeb, "and so I talked soft to him and tried to git away.

"I was in mighty pore health," explained Zeb, "and no match fur sich a man, and so I had to crawfish. Everybody said I orter shoot him down, but I couldn't shed blood that way. It hurts me to this day to remember that I went home like a whipped cur, leavin' that critter crow over me, but my mind was made up to tackle him as soon as I felt like a man ag'in. When I got home I was cryin', and the old woman sez to me, sez she: "Zeb, has the wah broke out ag'in?" "No."

"Then what's the matter?" "I've bin bluffed." "Dye mean that Tom Smith has crowed over yo'?" "That's jest what he has, and I'm so pesky weak in the knees that I had to git away from him." "Jest backed yo' down, did he?" "He did. It's the fust time in my life I ever crawfished fur any human critter."

"Reckon it is, Zeb. I knows how yo' feel. But yo' couldn't help it. If yo' tackled him he'd hev broke yo' in two. I'll go right at it and nurse yo' up, and in fo' weeks yo'll be fitten to whop Tom Smith till he can't boot. If yo' hain't, I'll put on yo'r clothes and whop him myself." "I felt better arter that," said Zeb, "though I couldn't get over the hurt to my feelin's. One evenin', about two weeks arter the fuss and when I was gainin' on it, but not feelin' much better, I was sittin' right yere when I cotched sight of a b'ar across the road by them rocks. Plenty of b'ars around yere them days, as nobody had been home to kill 'em off. About the time I cotched sight of the b'ar Tom Smith showed up. Tom saw me a-sittin' yere, and he stopped right by that tree and throwed down his hat and yelled, 'Zeb White, ar' that yo' a-sottin' thar?" "It ar'."

"Do yo' call yo'self a man?" "Not a well man. If yo'll gin me fo' weeks mo' I'll run yo' outer the kentry." "Waal," sighed the old man, "he talked that way till I got mad and riz up to go, but jest as I did so that b'ar waltzed across the road on his hind feet and fetched him a cuff which knocked him ten feet. Tom thought I'd got out thar without his seenin' me, and he was tickled to death as he riz up and went fur the b'er. We heard him sayin': "Zeb White, I said yo' wasn't a man, but I take it all back. I didn't believe yo'd stand up to me, and my heart was nigh breakin'."

"I reckon Tom must hev bin half drunk not to know a b'ar from a man, but he thought it was me fur shore, and he soon had a surprise party on hand. The b'ar didn't seem hankerin' arter meat, but he did want sum fun. The b'ar knocked him down and rolled him about a dozen times, and he got many a good lick in on the b'ar, but at length the fount was over, and Tom Smith was a whopped man. He holered out that he'd got plenty, and I reckon it was the same with the b'ar, as he suddenly made off into the woods. When Tom got over bein' dazed he got up and said to me: "Zeb White, I'm a-beggin' of yo'r pardn. I thought yo' was a coward and dasn't stand up to me, but yo've whopped me in a fair fout!" "Was he badly used up?" I asked, as the story seemed to be finished. "He hadn't skassy a bit o' clothin' left on him," replied Zeb, "and he was bruises and bites and claw marks from head to heel. I reckon he might hev got well from them, but his heart was broke. He knowed I was in pore health, and when he realized that he'd bin whopped by a sick man he took to his bed and died in two weeks. He sent fur me the day he died, and an hour befo' he breathed his last he reached fur my hand and whispered: "Zeb White, I can't make out how yo' did it, but yo' dun made me holler fur the first time in my life, and I'm prayin' fur death to cum. I've kinder thought yo' might hev had buzzsaws fastened to yo'r hands and feet, but that wouldn't be ag'n yo', and I bear no grudge. Goodby, Zeb. I hope to meet yo' in the t'other land and hev another fout to see who ar' the best man?"

How It Sounded. Bason—"What is your daughter doing at the piano?" Egbert—"Sounds as if she was setting her class yell to music."

CHARTER OF COMMERCIAL LIFE AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF LOUISIANA. United States of America, State of Louisiana, Parish of Orleans, City of New Orleans. Be it known, that on this twentieth day of the month of August, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifteen (1915), Charles Theodore Starkey, Notary Public, duly commissioned and qualified, in and for this City and the Parish of Orleans, therein residing, and in the presence of the undersigned heretofore named and undersigned, personally came and appeared, the several persons whose names are hereunto subscribed, all residents of the State of Louisiana, in such cases made and provided, they have formed and organized, and by these presents form themselves and such others as may hereafter associate themselves with them into and constitute a corporation and body politic in law, for the said objects and purposes hereinafter set forth and expressed which they adopt as their charter.

ARTICLE I. The name and title of this corporation shall be "COMMERCIAL LIFE AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF LOUISIANA," and it shall exist for a period of ninety-nine years from the date hereof; and it shall have the power to make and use a corporate seal of the same tenor as that set forth for the purpose, and it shall have the power in its corporate name to sue and be sued, to purchase, own, hold, lease, accept by donation, or acquire in any other manner authorized by law, real, personal or mixed property of every sort and description, to mortgage, sell, hypothecate, pledge or in any other legal form, and generally to do and perform all things necessary or incident to the proper conduct of the affairs of this corporation, and which may not be specifically enumerated in this charter.

ARTICLE II. The domicile of this corporation shall be in the City of New Orleans, Louisiana, and all its acts shall be deemed to have been done upon the President, and in the event of his absence or inability to act, upon the Vice-President, or Secretary in the order named.

ARTICLE III. The objects and purposes for which this corporation is established and the nature of the business to be carried on by it are hereby declared: To conduct in the State of Louisiana, as well as in the other States of the United States, and in foreign countries, a savings and investment business, to receive and invest in real, personal, industrial, and death, resulting from Accident or Natural causes, to provide the services of a physician and Medicine and generally to do and perform all things necessary or may be necessary or appertaining to the objects and purposes above expressed and in conformity with Act No. 65 of the General Assembly of 1906 as amended by Act No. 246 of the General Assembly of 1908.

ARTICLE IV. The authorized Capital stock of this corporation is hereby fixed at Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars to be divided into and represented by Five Thousand (5,000) Shares of the Par Value of ($10) Dollars, with an authorized Surplus of Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000) Dollars, which shall be fully paid in cash, and shall be non-assessable, and such Capital stock shall be evidenced by certificates which shall be transferable only on the books of the Company.

ARTICLE V. The corporate powers of this corporation shall be vested in and exercised by a Board of Directors of not less than seven nor more than thirteen stockholders, elected from among the Stockholders of this corporation; not less than five shall constitute a quorum to transact business. The Board of Directors shall have the power to amend, make and abrogate all by-Laws, rules and regulations for the management of the affairs of this corporation; to employ and discharge all officers, agents and employees, fix all salaries and remunerations, and generally to do and perform all things necessary in the transaction of the business and affairs of this Company; provided, that they may delegate to the president or other persons selected by them, or to such executive, finance or other committee as they may require from time to time to create and appoint from their own number, such authority as they may deem proper.

ARTICLE VI. This charter may be amended, changed or modified, or this corporation may be dissolved and its business terminated at any time by a vote of three-fourths of the stock of the Stockholders, convened for that purpose, after thirty days' written notice mailed to each stockholder at his last known address, and published in a daily newspaper published in the City of New Orleans. At said election each Stockholder shall be entitled to cast, either in person or by duly authorized written proxy, one vote for each share of stock owned by him and standing in his name on the books of the Company, and a majority of those in attendance shall be sufficient to fill vacancies in the Board of Directors which shall be filled for the unexpired term from among the stockholders of the company.

ARTICLE VII. At the termination of this charter by limitation, or on the dissolution of the corporation, as hereinabove stated, or otherwise, the affairs of this Company shall be liquidated by three commissioners chosen by a majority of the stock present or represented at a stockholders' meeting held for that purpose, after ten days' written notice mailed to each stockholder at his last known address, or at the meeting at which the dissolution is each terminated upon the liquidating commissioners shall give bond or other security as the stockholders may determine, and shall fully liquidate and settle the affairs of the corporation, under such rules and regulations as may be provided by the stockholders. In the event of vacancy in the liquidating commission the remaining commissioners shall elect from among the Stockholders of the Company a new commissioner to fill the vacancy of an unexpired term, and he shall give the same security as the other commissioners.

THIS DONE AND PASSED, at the City of New Orleans, on the day, month and year hereinbefore first written, in the presence of witnesses, who hereto sign their names, full reading of which, and Notary, after Original signed: Patrick J.
