WALKED ACROSS CONTINENT

Mrs. J. M. Franklyn, twenty-eight years old, a graduate of the Bellevue Hospital Training School for Nurses, who won a prize of $2,000 by walking across the continent from Seattle, Wash., to New York. She was not permitted to accept a ride unless asked twice. The trip cost her only $28.

Change in Japan's Trade.

Japan's exports for the first three months of 1919 were valued at $187,372,000 and her imports at $230,590,000, showing an adverse balance of $52,227,000. The adverse trend that has been maintained since the beginning of this year is taken as an indication that Japan's business is losing the war impetus and is going to run in its normal groove, states Japan Advertiser.

The War Idea.

Farmer Smith was painting his barn battlement gray, and every so far he would mark off a fake window and smear black stripes down it. "Are you crazy, Jim?" asked a neighbor, "what you doing that for?" "Camouflage," was the prompt answer, "at a distance of fifty foot, tramps will think it's th' county jail. Believe me, I'm larnin' something new 'er war avary day."

Top Coats Are Full and Soft

Already coats for winter, both in cloth and fur, have passed and are daily passing in review before merchants and buyers and reporters who publish the styles. Certainly no winter was ever heralded by more comfortable or more becoming garments. They are fuller than last year's models and the same materials that were so successful then are used to make them. Duvetyne, velours and similar cloths appear in lighter weights than last year so that top coats and suits may be full and draped without being clumsy. This amplexness of cloth makes the top coat easy to slip on and off and adds to its warmth, and there is room under it for panniers and other arrangements of drapery for wide hip effects. These are fairly well established in the styles and must be reckoned with. Heavy homespuns are used in some of the handsome and practical new models. Collars are either of fur or of the cloth in the coat. They are very cozy looking in either case. The fur collars are wide and fit snugly, coming up about the face and chin and very high at the back. The cloth collars are managed so as to give the same effect of coziness with the face snugly down into them; very often they button across at the front and become a small cape when unbuttoned. The coat shown in the picture is a good example of the new styles in substantial and practical top coats. It is of heavy cloth and therefore not as full as dressmaker models. Its narrow belt of the cloth fastens at one side and its very odd and smart cuffs are finished with a single large button. The pockets are set in. This coat is long and reaches to within six inches of the bottom of the dress skirt, which is almost instep length. Its collar could hardly be improved upon. For street wear or motoring or as a steamer coat this model may be worn with assurance. And the silk hat trimmed with fluted ribbon that bears its company is of just the same character as the coat.

Sharing Cumulative Preferred Stock Offered for Sale A STEP AHEAD FOR NEW ORLEANS "THE CITY OF OPPORTUNITY"

Proposed site for the Coons Cypress Silo and Lumber Co. The Coons Cypress Silo and Lumber Company is soon to become another addition to New Orleans' industrial forces. They have decided to move their factory and offices from Patterson, La., to New Orleans, and will add to their already large number of manufactured products, being manufactured from cypress the building of bungalows. These bungalows will be ready-cut complete in their factory and erected by their own men, which will mean a substantial saving to the home builder. New Orleans is at least 6000 homes short today, therefore, it can be seen by even the most skeptical that the New Orleans product will meet a ready demand. To meet this addition to their present business they are offering at this time $50,000 of 8 per cent cumulative profit sharing preferred stock at $1000 per share, payable before October 31, 1919.

Other investments are offered but at this time when New Orleans is advancing so rapidly, this stock offers not only a safe investment, but one sure to earn handsome dividends. Call at this office or phone us and one of our representatives will call and go over with you fully this exceptional proposition. Act at once if interested, as this small amount of stock now offered will move quickly. See THOMAS B. BROWN SPECIAL AGENT FOR ALGIERS 717 OPELOUSAS AVE. See GUS. L.
