RESCUE OF STARVING MEXICAN GOATS

The island of Guadaloupe, off the western Mexico coast, is inhabited by goats only—some 50,000 of them. This year they are starving, owing to lack of rain there, and many of them are being shipped to the foothill ranches of southern California. A cargo of these goats is here shown arriving at San Diego.

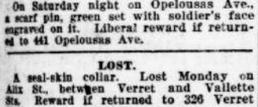

Real Efficiency. Our health is a vital part of our business. If the invoice shows that we are overstraining nerves and organs it is high time to adopt better business methods or else go into bankruptcy.

All Out. One evening I was accompanying two young women home. We got on a car in which there were but two vacant seats. They sat down together and I excused myself, thinking I would take a smoke on the front platform. I got to talking to some fellows and before I realized it we were at the end of the car line. I rushed in the car, but needless to say, did not find the two girls, as we had passed their corner about a mile back.—Exchange.
