VOL XXVII DECEMBER 18, 1919 No. 32

MAYOR BEHRMAN HONORED

A compliment quite unique in character, yet very expressive of its intention, was paid to Mayor Behrman on Sunday, when a double page of the Times-Picayune was devoted to wishing the Mayor a very Merry Christmas.

These expressions of confidence in his integrity and faithfulness to the city of New Orleans, will, without a doubt be reciprocated by further services to our city. Mayor Behrman has made a record during his sixteen years of service as chief executive of this great growing city.

In their Christmas greetings to the Mayor his friends say: "We are proud to go on record today as hearty well-wishers of His Honor, and we subscribe ourselves to this roll of enthusiasts who believe thoroughly in his ability, who know fully well in their hearts that Mayor Martin Behrman has done more for the City of New Orleans than any other one citizen.

Mr. Mayor, we wish you all the Happiness of the Yuletide Season. May you and yours be as merry on the coming Christmas Day of 1919 as we expect to be, and may you continue to enjoy the love and respect of your fellow citizens in the future years to come as you have in the past.

Services next Sunday at 11 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. SUNDAY SCHOOL.

You are interested in making a new and better world. You want to have a part in a work of that kind, and you want every member of your family to share in the work with you.

A new world is not to be secured by a magic word or the wave of a witch's wand, but by helping persons to live a new life.

Now here's your chance! You have already heard from the Sunday School, asking you to co-operate in our effort to raise money to relieve the starving people and destitute conditions of the Near East.

Our Sunday School will give its Christmas offering to the relief amongst the Armenians and Syrians, who were made to leave their homes and wander in the cold, with nothing to eat or drink. Will you not help these people? Come next Sunday and hear a little more. Do we recall the words, "I was hungry and ye gave me no meat. I was naked and ye clothed me not?"

The Christmas entertainment for members of the school will be held on Friday night, December the 26th, at 7:30. Come and have a good time.

Henpecked. "Take your wife and go somewhere for a change." "If I take my wife along, doc, there won't be any change."

The Christmas Eve service will be held at 7 o'clock sharp. Mark the time, 7 o'clock Christmas Eve, December 24. This is the regular children's service. The following program will be rendered:

TULANE THEATRE.

Mr. George Arliss, character actor, than whom the English speaking stage has none greater, comes to the Tulane Theatre as the attraction for all Christmas week, in a new play, described as a tense drama, entitled "Jacques Duval." The attraction is under the direction of Mr. George C. Tyler. "Jacques Duval" is an adaptation by George S. Kaufman, dramatic editor of the New York Times, of a drama at the present moment running in Paris and Berlin. It is said to offer Mr. Arliss unlimited opportunities. In fact, Mr. Tyler had made arrangements to present Mr. Arliss this season in another play, but when he read "Jacques Duval" he declared there was no other actor in America who could fittingly personate the leading character. The drama is powerful and cumulative, and its chief incident concerns a scientific savant who has spent years of experimentation on a serum to cure tuberculosis. He is a man absorbed in science and the perfection of his discovery. On the eve of proclaiming this great discovery to the world the information is secretly brought to him that his wife, a butterfly creature, is unfaithful. Her lover is a victim of the white plague. Without apparently relaxing his efforts in behalf of science, he seeks to effect a cure of the lover, with the intent of making him well, because he cannot kill a sick man.

While medical science is the superstructure upon which "Jacques Duval" is built, the base is strong love interest.

The production of "Jacques Duval" has been made with great care, and the cast, including Elizabeth Risdon, who last season was the female philosopher with William Gillette in "Dear Brutus," has the leading feminine role. Others in the cast are Mrs. Arliss, George Barr, Fernanda Eliscu, Manart Kippen, Guy Cunningham, A. Stapleton Kent, Harold Thomas, Carl Anthony, William Seymour, William H. Barwald, Peter Bradford, Irving Decker, J. Palmer Collins, Spencer Harris and Dorothy Cheston.

ORPHEUM. An actress who has attained to stellar honors in every branch of theatrical endeavor will be the headliner at the Orpheum all next week, beginning with the matinee on Monday. She is the celebrated Evelyn Nesbit, star of the legitimate stage, vaudeville entertainer par excellence, heroine of a number of successful motion picture plays, dancer of ability, and now a singer who is rapidly winning national prestige with her marvellously sweet and well-trained voice. Miss Nesbit, who was last seen here in a dance revolution which was an instant and continuous success, will appear this time in her own new and exclusive song revue, especially prepared for her by that master of tropical songs, Lee Davis. She will be assisted by Jimmie Dunn, and Eddie Moran will be at the piano. This will be one of the most entertaining acts and one of the most pretentiously staged offerings of the entire vaudeville season in New Orleans, and the Orpheum management has devoted a great deal of attention to the perfect staging of Miss Nesbit's revue, which has met with constant flattering comment by the dramatic critics all around the Orpheum Circuit of Theatres of the United States and Canada.

This great program for all next week present, also, the return to vaudeville of Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich who have been serving throughout the war with that vast number of actors and actresses who dropped the work of their lives to entertain the men of the American Expeditionary Force. Mr. Wright and Miss Dietrich will offer songs which have been found to be very different from the ordinary run of vaudeville song offerings. The clever pair will be one of the attractions of the program.

Special rate of 55c to those taking this trip and not participating in lecture on observation decks. Good Clean Entertainment is what we are striving to give our patrons.

In two scenes will be "Thru the Keyhole," which will be presented by Dan Bruce and the Marset Duffet Company. It is a harvest of laughs garnered with the sickle of quick wit, handled by clever comedians and comedienness, whose repertories have preceded them throughout the United States. Oscar Lorraine, the violin nuttist, as he has styled himself, will give us something entirely different in way of eccentric music, something which not only entertains the lover of music, but provides as well a lot of humor for those who want their melody spiced with comedy. Bowman Brothers, the Bluegrass Boys, are here, with a lot of new stuff, which they put over with pep and force that keeps it in the memory of their audiences long after they have gone on to charm other audiences in other cities of the great Orpheum Circuit. Pink's Mules, one of the most entertaining and novel animal acts ever presented for the entertainment of vaudeville patrons, will be on this program also, in what their owners call "An Equine Joyfest." What could be more neutral than the horse, the mule should prove to be a comedian in disguise, and the trainers of these fortunate animals have been able to prove that the mule has a very real idea of humor. Better brothers will furnish the acrobatics of the program. Klugegrams and Topics of the Day, motion pictures, and the Orpheum Concert Orchestra the music for an entertaining bill.
