Tulane Next Week

TULANE.

H. N. G. C. THEATRE.

"Twin Beds" a smart and joyful comedy frolic will come to the Tulane Theatre, week, beginning Sunday night, with Wednesday and Saturday matinee. The Field-Mayo laugh festival has succeeded in capturing the play-goers of this city to the extent of several capacity engagements. It is compact, impudently amusing, colorful and romping with mischief as it was when first presented here. It tells the story of three couples who live in a big fashionable apartment house, with apartments directly above each other, who begin by being merely neighborly, end by loading the neighborliness they cannot escape, and finally move to another part of the town, only to discover that their troubles are trailing them with a burn-like persistence.

Lois Bolton will head the comedy contingent playing her old role, that of the enchanting young wife, a part that gives her an opportunity to display her varied talents as a comedienne. Others of the special cast who have long been associated in the comedy will include, R. M. D'Angelo, Virginia Fairfax, Thomas J. Evans, Kathryn Mills, Thomas H. Manning and Callie Van Vliet.

Saturday, March 27th—Gladys Leslie in "The Gray Towers Mystery," a 5-reel Vitagraph feature. Hank Mann in "The Janitor," a one reel comedy and Latest Outdoor News.

Sunday, March 28th—"Eyes of the World," from Harold Bell Wright's popular novel. In seven reels with an all star cast. Shorty Hamilton in "Clarence the Cowboy," a one reel western comedy, also Latest Fox News.

First show, 5:30 p. m.
No show during church service.
Second show, 8:30 p. m.

The Motive.

All who have meant good work with their whole hearts have done good work. . . . Every heart that has beat strong and cheerful has left a helpful impulse behind it. In the world, and bettered the tradition of mankind. —Robert Louis Stevenson.

"Noblesse Oblige.

The new social order demands that those who have the highest talents, the greatest mental endowment, devote them to those who are less fortunate, in service that will elevate and ennoble those with whom we live.
