Make Your Range Four Times as Useful.

Instead of one fire, which has to be constantly stirred up or damped down to suit this pot, that needs fast cooking, and that pan, which has to simmer along, why not use a New Perfection Oil Cook Stove and have a burner for each separate dish?

A New Perfection can be regulated high or low, on or off, at will. It keeps the kitchen clean and cool, eliminates the dirt and drudgery of coal, wood and ashes, gives the comfort of gas at kerosene cost.

Made in 1, 2, 3 and 4-burner sizes, with or without ovens and cabinets. More than 3,000,000 now in use.

NOW, WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

New Yorker Saw Only One Way to Settle Problem of Street-Car Etiquette Confronting Him.

A business man who was raised far enough away from New York still to say "ma'am" when he speaks to a strange woman was recently confronted with a new angle of one of the major transportation problems of city life.

His theory is that since women have sought and found equal opportunity in business and in politics, a tired man should have an equal opportunity in the seat lottery on the way home at night. It isn't a fixed rule, but he has the exceptions to it pretty well in mind. He will not take a seat if there is a woman standing near it. He will yield his seat to an elderly woman, and—this is a cardinal exception—to a woman with a baby.

But he did not have the answer ready the other night when he looked up from his paper to find clinging to the strap before him a handsome young woman with a poodle under her arm.

The hero of this experience is a quick thinker, but also set in his convictions. Of course, he reasoned, a dog isn't a baby; a woman who will carry one on the subway in the rush hour isn't a "tired working girl." If I gave up my seat to a woman with a baby I should be doing only what is right, but if I give my seat to this woman with the pup every man in the car will laugh and I shall feel silly myself.

Being a diplomat he got off at the next station and waited for another train.—New York Sun.

Find Value of Various Woods.

Investigations by the agricultural department show that one standard cord of well-seasoned hickory, oak, beech, birch, hard maple, ash, elm, locust or cherry wood is approximately equal to one ton of anthracite coal. A cord and a half of soft maple or two cords of cedar, poplar or bass wood are required to give the same amount of heat. One cord of well-seasoned mixed wood equals at least one ton of average grade bituminous coal.

OLD ABSALOM

Absalom was ninety years old. For years he had been a familiar figure around the railroad station, picking up odd pennies, carrying luggage and doing errands.

One day, after a heavy snow, the westbound express stopped at the station and the passengers, warned of a long wait, left the chair cars to stretch their legs. One of them spoke to Absalom.

"What community is this, Uncle?" he asked. Old Absalom scratched his woolly head.

"What's a community, mister?"

"A community is a city or a town or a village where folks are sociable; where everybody knows everybody else; where the stranger is made welcome; where every man, woman and child gets together for common enjoyment and recreation", replied the questioner.

Uncle Absalom opened his eyes wide in astonishment. "I'm pretty suah this yeah ain't no community," he said. "This is just a place."

Uncle Absalom described the town accurately. It had its cliques, its social barriers. The folks west of Main street didn't talk to anyone living east. You "belonged" in the best circles, or you didn't. Nobody ever thought of some civic organization by which all classes would get together, forget the social barriers and work for the common good.

Community Service is making communities out of places. Through it, selfishness and social prejudice give way to common enjoyment.

Co-Operative Plan in Japan.

Co-operation in Europe and America is youthful as compared with the movement in Japan. Co-operative societies for the sale of silk date back to the middle of the seventeenth century.

Have Your Coffee Fresh

Many times your coffee does not taste so good because the can from which it is taken did not contain fresh coffee. The first requisite in making good coffee is to have the coffee fresh. One way to get fresh coffee is to buy French Market Coffee. It comes to you fresh for two reasons. First, because it is packed in the can in such a manner as to preserve the aroma and freshness. Second, because the dealers sell so much of it, that they are turning over their stocks quickly, and they are continually getting fresh coffee.

Use French Market Coffee in your home, and you will always have the delightful flavor that can only come from fresh coffee.
