ADOLPH MEYER SCHOOL.

Mr. Beler, from the Department of Physical Education, visited the school last Tuesday and explained his plans for this term. His idea is to organize teams in the school and to have these teams compete with those from other schools in the Fifth District.

This is a decided improvement over the old rule as hitherto the children were compelled to cross the river and go a long distance to play rival teams; because of this fact, parents refused to allow their children to enter the team.

Miss Griffith visited us on Wednesday to supervise the month's work

The enrollment of the Kindergarten has increased and we urge the parents to send their children more regularly.

The First B and A Grades had a Halloween party Tuesday evening. Ducking apples was the main feature of the party.

TULANE THEATRE.

The theatrical event of the season will be the engagement of "The Circle," which the Selwyns will offer with an all-star cast at the Tulane Theatre beginning Sunday night.

The Selwyns have staged and cast Somerset Maugham's comedy in a most elaborate manner, and five of the most prominent stars on the American stage will be seen here in the play that New York critics raved over last season where it ran for a solid year at the Selwyn Theatre.

Mr. Wilton Lackaye, remembered for his many character creations and especially his famous one of "Svengali" in "Tribby," has the role of Lord Porteous in "The Circle," which gives this sterling actor full scope for the sort of a character in which he excels.

Mr. Henry E. Dixey, conceded by critics to be one of America's foremost actors and remembered as the star of such successes as "The Man on the Box," "Mary Jane's Pa," "The Devil," etc. Mr. Dixey also had the distinction of playing one role over 600 performances in New York City.

Amelia Bingham, "a star of quality," whose exquisite performance in "The Climbers," "A Modern Magdalen," and "La Tosca," has made her name a household word also Mr. Charles Frohman's leading woman for several years, Charlotte Walker scored her first real success with "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," and so pronounced was her success in this play that she was starred in "The Warrens of Virginia," "Nancy Lee," "Tea for Three," "Call the Doctor," and others.

Norman Hackett needs no introduction to local theatre goers; he has appeared with America's leading stars, Sothern and Marlowe, Louis, James, Robert Mantell, Margaret Anglin and has starred in his own companies in "Classmates," "The Typhoon," "Beau Brummel," and others.

With such a grand comedy so magnificently cast, "The Circle" should prove the magnet of the season.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

Mildred Harris comes to the Orpheum Theatre Monday, November 13, and will crowd the theatre to the doors.

She left the silent screen and came to the speaking stage in all her wonder of youth and comeliness, making her first essay at vaudeville in a pleasant little sketch called "Movie Mad," which is a frame to reveal her blossomy blonde beauty and her radiant charm.

She was once Mrs. Charlie Chaplin in the film co-star with the inimitable film comedian.

Several rounds of old time, rough house comedy are to be administered to Orpheum audiences this week by Miller and Mack, one of vaudeville's best known teams of stage veterans.

This act has been famous for twenty years.

Graduated from the ballet of the Chicago Grand Opera company into the top lines of vaudeville, where she is a dancing start of the first magnitude, was the experience of Edith Clasper, who comes to the Orpheum theatre next week with a gorgeously staged novelty, entitled, "Mail of the Realm."

Mae and Rose Milton are youngsters only in years. In ability they are all full grown professionals. They sing, dance, talk, play the piano and violin, when these various things are performed by exceptionally clever girls, who are in addition daintily and carefully costumed.

Remember the days when you trailed a minstrel band from one end of Main street to the other. These good old times are being revived at the Orpheum theatre, where four of the most famous men of a bygone period are holding forth under the title of "Minstrels Monarchs."

Chester Sprencel and Lola Williams in "Putting it Over" can easily term themselves one of the best "man and women acts in vaudeville, as they have everything in their favor, personality, looks, talent and a way of delivery that is second to none. Their act is one continual laugh from start to finish.

Dressed as Roman gladiators, the Tuscano brothers give a picturesque and hazardous exhibition of battle and juggling. The two boys are skilled welders of Roman axes.

A splendid afternoon social was thoroughly enjoyed by the participants. Dainty refreshments were served. As usual, Miss Lobrano proved an ideal hostess. Those present were: Misses M. Kenner, E. Lange, E. O'Donnell, B. Links, E. Rossner, A. Voegtlin, S. Murphy and L. Averill.

FAVOR BASEBALL IN FRANCE

Baseball in France is a growing game; in a decade it may be a national sport. After adults who tried it turned away with broken fingers and conviction that they were too old to learn, the game was introduced into the public schools in modified form and has already proved popular.

A "Call." "What have you got?" asked the minister of the chauffeur who rang his doorbell.

"One pair," replied the chauffeur, beckoning the eloping couple to come forward.

Economy. Sandy—"The world's agin me, me. I'm going to end it all and take gas. Jock—"Hot, me! Drown yourself! It's cheap."
