

Slidding Of Car Fatally Injures Mrs. Babin

Mrs. Mary Delphine Roussel Babin, 41 years old, 329 Alix street, was killed at Canal and Murat streets at 7 o'clock Monday night when struck by an automobile driven by Joseph M. Carrier, 31 years old, 1202 South Liberty street.

Occupants of the car charged the accident to a heavy fall of rain and a wet pavement which prevented the victim from noting the approach of the car and caused the machine to slide instead of stopping when the brakes were applied. Police announced that no arrests would be made pending complete investigation.

The automobile was the property of the New Basin Canal board. In it, in addition to Mr. Carrier, were Edward Burke, superintendent of the New Basin Canal board, and R. C. Prensler, 1313 Baronne street, J. C. Miller, 1223 South Derby street, and James Tyman, 2626 Second street, the last three being employed by the canal board.

According to the occupants of the car, Mr. Burke was bringing the car to the city after the day's work. As they approached the intersection of Canal and Murat streets, he says, they saw a woman step into the path of the car.

Mr. Burke declares that Mr. Carrier applied the brakes instantly, but the car skidded and struck the woman. The machine came to a halt immediately after striking her, he says, and she was not dragged.

Mrs. Babin was taken to Charity Hospital in the car which struck her. Although still alive when placed in the car, she died before she reached the operating room.

Several hours were required to identify the victim. The only identifying mark on her was found inside a wedding ring she wore. It was the inscription, "M. D. R., Feb. 14, 1882."

Inquiring the neighborhood of the accident, police learned that a woman answering the description of the victim had left the residence of Mrs. A. F. O'Neill 216 South Murat street, about the time of the tragedy. Calling on Mrs. O'Neill, they learned that Mrs. Babin had left her house to meet her daughter, Mrs. Charles Smith, at Baronne and Canal streets.

Original Thomas Gregson went to the dinner, found Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Delphine Roussel, 2945 St. Charles street, waiting for Mrs. Babin to go to the theater. They were taken to the morgue, where they identified the body.

Examination at Charity Hospital showed that Mrs. Babin suffered a broken neck, a fractured wrist, and bruises about the body.

Mrs. Babin lived with her son Amadeo. She is survived by another son, Edward Babin, of Fort Lyon, Colo., and by Mrs. Smith. Her mother, Mrs. Seraphine Roussel, and four sisters, Mrs. R. Borne, Mrs. John Hints, Mrs. L. Barbois and Miss Eliza Roussel, all of New Orleans, also survive. Her husband, Joseph Babin, who died in 1914, was at one time captain of the Algiers fire department.

CHI SIGMA ALPHA.

Never before in her history did which Halloween receive more guests. It mysterious welcome, then on the occasion of her last festival night, at the hands of the Chi Sigma Alpha Fraternity when Mrs. Blumhrey, as hostess, surely conformed with themselves to make this "Ghost Convention" a most beautiful affair and the ghosts and goblins must have smiled down their approval at the Fairyland that greeted the guests, for the whole house was converted into a witches' den, decorated in true witch fashion with the festive colors black and orange and from every nook and corner spoke and the traditional black and white popped out to make the setting complete.

These midnight games characteristic of the occasion were indulged in and each guest had his future fate meted out by the Halloween Gypsy. Then the doors of the Black Cat Cabaret were thrown open and the members of the party were ushered in to a most wonderful supper. Across the table, glowing electric bulbs were placed, from which hung streamers of black and orange together with brightly colored balloons. Nothing more attractive could have been contrived by Chaperella's fairy godmother herself. The table itself was a work of art, the color scheme having been restricted to the smallest detail and in the center was placed a cake made specially for the occasion with the insignia of the Fraternity engraved in the icing.

One of the loveliest features of the evening were the gowns worn by the members of the Fraternity, each one representing some phase of Halloween's fantastic story. This party was the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the Chi Sigma Alpha during the coming season and was truly a mile stone in the life of the Fraternity.

Among the guests of Chi Sigma Alpha were included Misses Mayme Blumhrey, Margaret Garland, Rita Blumhrey, Rita Rousselot, Eunice Blumhrey, Rita Sadler, Eugenie Attenberger, Care Finley, Gertrude Finley, Otrud, Mr. and Mrs. James Blumhrey, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Humphrey, Raymond Richards, Emile Dewey Thorning, Herbert John Schroeder, Ernest Cook, Lloyd Keller, and Gus

Orders Southern Pacific To Provide Viaduct At Newton Street

An order directing the Southern Pacific Company to provide "a safe and suitable traffic viaduct over and across its tracks in Algiers" has been signed by the Louisiana Public Service Commission and is now in force. It was announced Saturday morning by Francis Williams, member of the commission. Mr. Williams himself prepared the recommendation for the order and it was adopted by his fellow commissioners.

Plans and specifications for the viaduct or crossing are to be filed with the commission within thirty days, and the work is to be completed within ninety days from the time of the approval of the plans. This is the case of the Newton street viaduct in Algiers, which has been the subject of considerable contention for some time.

In the decision handed down by the commission, through Mr. Williams, the history and facts surrounding the closing of the ten streets crossing the Southern Pacific yards were thoroughly gone into. The decision charged that "when it closed every street between the river and the woods that crossed its properties the M. L. & T. Railroad & Steamship Company created a condition of total separation between upper and lower Algiers that made the Newton street viaduct necessary."

The decision also charged that gases from the locomotives of the Southern Pacific alone was responsible for corroding the steel frame work of the bridge, which resulted in its being closed. It set forth that the bridge was built originally in 1907 so that the railroad might benefit, and aside from paying $10,000 for the privilege of closing all streets it paid nothing toward constructing the $99,000 bridge.

In summing up the case, the decision declares that "equity and written law both place the burden of building the viaduct upon the defendant in this case."

THE GLEANERS.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Pontil, of Bermuda Street entertained the Gleaners at their home on last Thursday night. After the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Pontil invited the members to come into their dining room where she would serve an oyster supper in honor of their eighteenth wedding anniversary.

The dining room was very beautifully decorated, and the table was artistically arranged.

During the supper Miss Martha Pontil, and Master Guy Pontil, rendered several selections on the piano and saxophone. The supper was very much enjoyed by all the members. Those who spent a very pleasant evening were Misses Elizabeth Gules, Edna Karr, Esther Marzen, Mmes. Halloween Cleutau, Pettigrove, Bergeron, and Hampe. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heitkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Entwistle, Mr. Drumm, Mr. and Mrs. G. Pontil and children.

On the departure of each guest they wished Mr. and Mrs. Pontil eighteen more years of continued happiness.

DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE.

President Frank C. Hymel and Secretary C. J. Donner are among the delegates selected to represent the Orleans Levee Board at the November 16th Conference called by Governor Parker, and to be held in the Senate Chamber at Baton Rouge, for the purpose of formulating and agreeing upon one plan of legislation for flood control on the Mississippi River, which it is proposed to be presented to the Congress of the United States, through the National Rivers and Harbors Congress at their eighteenth Annual Convention to be held in Washington, D. C., on December 6th and 7th, at which convention Mr. Hymel and Mr. Donner will also be delegates to represent the Orleans Levee Board.

UNIQUE HOP.

The Unique Club resumed its social activities for this season on Halloween night at an elaborate dance at the home of Mrs. J. V. Kramme.

The new officers and directors have planned quite an interesting program of dances and entertainments. Among these will be the Unique Hop which will be held to-night at Kramme's Cave and threatens to excel if possible all unique affairs. A large number of invitations are in demand, and the committee in charge have left nothing undone to assure a good time to its members who have already showed an unusual interest by their steadily increasing numbers.

Brownlee's Famous Orchestra will be in attendance and all who participated will say as all before them have said after a Unique Dance, "That's the best time I ever had."

BUILDING NEW HOME

Mr. E. W. Burgis of the South New Orleans Light and Traction Company, is erecting a handsome new residence in Boumy Street, having all the latest conveniences that are being installed in residences to-day. A complete heating system is being installed. Sleeping porches and veranda dining rooms are some features of the new home.

BIRTHS.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenton Roddy (nee Marie Herbert), of 414 Pacific avenue, a boy.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John E. O'Dowd (nee Agnes McCarthy), of 1815 Behrman avenue, a girl, Agnes Patricia.

"Aw! What's The Use?"

Have you ever felt like that as though no matter what you did, or how you did it, somebody would find fault anyway? Or you've done your very best and have thought that you would certainly be appreciated—then someone else does it so much better. What is the use? You spade and dig and weed your front garden Saturday evening, and go to bed tired and worn out, but with the joyful knowledge that in the morning, all will be beautiful. When, the next morning, you go out to contemplate your work, and find your neighbor's chickens have ruined the whole place, can you refrain from crying, "What's the use!" Or if you have made a perfectly beautiful dress for Mary Anne, a dress delicately trimmed in green, she will probably have wanted it blue, and the oyster patties you so painstakingly fixed for Henry's supper, he will just have eaten for lunch. In such cases, it's hard not to say, "Aw, What's The Use?"

It's a common falling,—this of ours,—of throwing up our hands, and sinking down into our rocking chair in despair. It's so very common that even you probably have it. If you have,—if something makes you feel as though nothing were of any use, there's someone just like you whom The Herald presents to-day. In the middle of the paper, is the strip of cartoons, entitled, "Aw! What's the use?" which will make you feel happier when you've read them. They appear each week.

MISS HEDGES HONORED

Miss Julia Hedges was honored by the Parents Co-operative Club of McDonogh No. 15 School, 918 Barracks street, last week, when she presented her with a silver mesh bag.

Miss Hedges, who will be remembered in our town as the daughter of the late Rev. C. S. Hedges, for many years rector of Mount Olivet Church, has taught in the same school for the past forty years. Her forty-year stay at the school is said to be a record. Though her forty years as a teacher entitles her to retirement on pension, she refused to say whether she intended resigning or not. Miss Hedges now teaches the Fourth Grade. She first taught the Seventh.

DOCK BOARD REJECTS BIDS

Acting on the recommendation of Dibbon & Owen, its architects, the Dock Board has decided to reject all bids received for the remodeling of the Poydras street shed, as part of the Canal street beautification plan. Bids on the work were submitted October 26 by four firms.

The project will be readvertised in thirty days' time, it was decided by the board. Decision to improve the foot of Canal street was reached almost a year ago, but because of the number of organizations involved plans have been delayed materially.

PUT OUT GARBAGE.

Mr. Sutherland, our local street commissioner, requests that the residents put out their garbage can before 7 o'clock in the morning to insure prompt collection of garbage. The garbage men make their calls early, and the co-operation of the housewives will facilitate in keeping the garbage collected.

HOME BURNS

The two-story frame residence of Lucien Chatclax, 1619 Behrman avenue, was destroyed by fire Saturday morning when an oil stove exploded in the kitchen. The building, which was owned by Chatclax, was valued at $4,000. The furnishings were valued at $700.

SCHOOL BELLS RINGING

ADOLPH MEYER SCHOOL

Everyone is pleased that Misses Baer and Wilson have recovered from their recent illness and are again at school.

The principal and faculty want to thank Mrs. Demarest for her donation of books for the school library. This donation will greatly benefit the pupils, as the slogan for this term is "Better English," and these books will give the children the opportunity of reading and becoming accustomed to good English.

Misses Juanita Bayhi and Leonide Gainea, Red Cross nurses, were at the school this week to examine the arms of those children who had recently been vaccinated.

Mr. James McArthur, superintendent of gardening in the public schools, was also a visitor this week. He inspected the school garden, complimented the work of the pupils, and asked that the school enter the spring contest, as such excellent work had been accomplished.

The following pupils were perfect in the weekly tests in spelling and rapid arithmetic:

Miss Knowles Is Injured By Tulane Belt In View Of Hundreds

Before hundreds of people going to work Monday morning Miss Gladys Knowles, 1 year, 709 Opelousas avenue, was struck by a Tulane belt car at Canal and Carondelet streets.

The girl was rushed to Charity Hospital. On first examination physicians said she had received lacerations of the scalp and minor body bruises, and reported her condition as not serious. An X-ray examination was made, however, to detect possible internal injuries.

Miss Knowles, according to the police, was attempting to cross Canal street from the upper to the lower side. She stepped on the car tracks in the neutral ground, hesitated a moment, stepped forward, and then pulled back before the street car.

Motorman Brindell stopped the car immediately. Conductor Cailliong assisted Andrew Feidler, 4166 Orleans street, to carry the girl into Katz & Besthoff's drug store, where she was given first aid treatment and held until the Charity Hospital ambulance arrived.

Andrew Feidler, Jr., who was on his way to work, saw the girl lying in the street and rushed to her side. He had been waiting for a Dauphine car, he said, and didn't see how the girls was knocked down. When he turned he saw her bleeding profusely from her head and ran to give her aid.

He picked her up unconscious and carried her through the rapidly growing crowd to the Katz & Besthoff drug store on Canal street, where emergency treatment was given to her. She did not regain consciousness until the ambulance arrived and she was placed on the stretcher.

A friend of hers who was with her, he said, declared the girl had been on her way to work and she asked the police to be allowed to accompany her to the hospital.

A SOUTHERN CINDERELLA.

Where am I going on Thursday, November 23rd? Every one says, "To Pythian Hall, to see the play which is known as "A Southern Cinderella."

Senior Epworth League of McDonoghville Methodist Church will present a three-act comedy drama. This is the play everyone has been talking about for some time.

The following will take part: Madame Charteris, Miss Grace Haley; Miss Rose Winterberry, Miss Anita Thaggard; Jonibell Randolph, Miss Anna Leinhardt; Catherine Hawke, Miss Winnie Tillotson; Caroline Hawke, Miss Gladys A. Butcher; Mammy Judy Johnson, Miss Laura Edwards; Southern Cinderella, Miss Elise Leinhardt.

You surely cannot miss seeing Mammy Judy Johnson, four times a widow lady, and still the queen bee of the Colored Society, about to take her fifth premeditated plunge into the sea of matrimony.

Ober seven dollars spent and not even one cream colored kiss. Come and see how the Misses Hawke take possession of all the money and home of Madame Charteris and how, in the last act, Little End, Southern Cinderella, at last finds out that she is the rightful heir to the Charteris fortune.

For all this we are only going to charge you the small sum of ten cents for children and twenty-five cents for adults. Refreshments will be served.
