HIGH SCHOOL TRACK TEAM PLAN FOR GAMES

The Bogalusa High School Boys will spend most of their time this year on the track and if they can come to an agreement with the High School of Franklinton they will organize a Washington Parish High School Annual Track and Field Day which will be held in Bogalusa this year and in Franklinton next and continue from one city to the other.

The Bogalusa Boys will also be represented with ten of their best athletes at the High School Rally at Baton Rouge and also at the Inter-collegiate meet at New Orleans. The boys not only expect to make a good showing in these meets but they expect to break at least six or more of their school records which are about as good as any school in the state. The following is an official list of records which are on the school athletic record book as given out by Atlee Breeland the President of the Athletic Club.

Will Increase Stock.

D. Beinn the well known Columbia St. merchant, announces that within the next few days he will devote his entire store space to furniture. He will increase his stock several thousand dollars and be ready to supply the demands of anyone. In order to have room for this stock he announces that it will be necessary to dispose of his large stock of shoes and other merchandise. In this issue he announces a phenomenal cut in prices.

Big Religious Meeting

The fifth Sunday Meeting of the St. Tammany and Washington Parishes will be held at Franklinton on Saturday Jan. 30 and 31. An excellent program has been arranged and a large number of Bogalusa people will attend.

THE ONLY COMPETITION.

"Bob," Jones, the eloquent southern evangelist, was condemning New York. "The only difference I can see between New York and hades," said Reverend Bob, "is that New York is surrounded by water. "Why, even in your New York offices you don't work. Look at your offices—crowds of young men in pink silk hose, crowds of young women in low-cut and transparent blouses. "I said in a New York office the other day: "Is there much competition here?" "A pretty stenographer, swinging her foot in and out of her slashed skirt, laughed and answered merrily: "Oh, yes, there's lots of competition—between the office mirror and the office clock."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

An Encouraging Sign.

"Cheer up, old boy; you're going to win out all right." "Do you really think so?" "I am sure of it. Just keep going." "What makes you feel so sure that I can succeed?" "All the wisecracs in town are predicting your failure."

SAD FATE.

Wooden Soldier—Confound it, that infernal spider has spun his web all over me, and I can't get away to join my regiment.

Proof Absolute.

"Do I believe in platonic love?" The question with humor is rife. If you doubt there's such a thing just look at husband and wife.

Sunday Papers.

"Hubby," she chirped, "did the allies win this world's series I see so much about in the papers?" "No, my dear, you're a trifle mixed. The allies are fighting in Europe." "And whom are they fighting, the Athletics?" "Here," said the goaded man, "you gimme that sporting sheet and you take the society section."

No Ragtime There.

"Suppose I buy a bale of cotton," said Mr. Crosslots, cautiously. "Why, it'll take up as much room as a piano." "Think of the advantage! No amateur musician is going to sit down in front of a bale of cotton and try to play and sing."

The Appointment.

The two men were playing billiards. "I have only ten minutes more," said the first one. "It is nine minutes after five." "Got an appointment?" "Yes, my wife promised to meet me at three."

Didn't Apply.

"I believe in the motto: 'Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today.'" "Pay me that five dollars, then." "The rule doesn't apply; that's something I can't do today."

SURE THING.

Dealer—Has Jones enjoyed his automobile since he got it two weeks ago? Auto Fiend—He should have. He's run over three men, six dogs and ten cats.

Loss of Appetite.

A man put on a mournful look. High living made him holler. For newly every bite he took Would cost about a dollar.

The Old Way.

Crawford—You can't reason with a woman. Crabshaw—I never try. It's much easier to jolly her.—Judge.

Jas. J. Mitchell Dead.

James J. Mitchell, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Bogalusa died at his home about a mile from Columbia road Monday following an extended illness. The deceased was about 75 years of age and is survived by many relatives among whom is his son, L. G. Mitchell, of Bogalusa. The deceased was a member of Sherrard Byrch lodge of Masons at Poplarville. The funeral services were held at the family residence Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the local lodge of Masons and burial was in Ponder Cemetery.

What Happened To Ole.

A Swede witness in a railroad case, asked to tell in his own way how the accident happened, said: "Well Ole and I was walking down the track, and I heard a whistle, and I got off the track and the train went by and I got back on the track and I didn't see Ole; but I walked along, and pretty soon I saw Ole's hat and I walked on and seen one of Ole's legs and then I seen one of Ole's arms, and then another leg, and then over on one side Ole's head, and I says; 'My God, something muster happen to Ole!'"—Elk Citizen.
