WOODMEN MEETING PROMISES TO BE LARGELY ATTENDED

The entertainment committee for the 1915 convention of the Louisiana Jurisdiction Woodmen of the World, has about completed the program for the entertainment of the delegates for the big convention which will be held in New Orleans March 23, 24 and 25. Manager Ed P. Ortte is chairman of the ways and means committee. The orator of the first day will be Hon. H. P. Dart and the orator for the 2,000 convention class initiation gotten up by Sov. R. H. Henderson, district manager, will be Sov. Ruffin G. Pleasant, Attorney General. Mayor Behrman will deliver the welcome address for the city of New Orleans, Head Consul Showalter will deliver the address on behalf of the Woodmen of the World of Louisiana, Rev. Gordon Bakwell will invoke the blessing and the opening ode will be sung by the Hyacinth Camp sextet. The committee is expecting about 1,500 visiting Woodmen and delegates. The meeting will be called to order by Head Adviser Jno. J. Casey, chairman of the general committee.

The New Drug act which became effective March 1st, is already making itself felt. Five people at Gulfport, who were addicted to the habit, collapsed last week, on account of the source of their supply being shut off.

Joseph A. Dalferes and W. J. Le Blach, president and cashier of the defunct Peoples Bank of Donaldsonville were acquitted on the charge of accepting deposits after they knew that the bank was insolvent. After a trial lasting three days, it took the jury less than thirty minutes to decide that they were innocent of any wrong doing.

A lone white robber held up and robbed several people who were waiting for a train at Boyce, La. He walked eight miles to Lena, boarded a train there, and when the conductor tried to capture him, leaped from the train. Poses are now searching for him.

Margerite Owens, an orphan 15 years old, and Norman Lee a negro were killed in an upstairs room near Montgomery. Both were killed with a shot-gun, the authorities are searching hard for a clue.

William Cahill, a sixteen year old boy was found dead in the bathroom of his parent's home last Thursday night at N. O. The affair seems to be a mystery, as there was no odor of gas in the room, and the body was perfectly dry when found, which disproves the theory that a sudden shock occasioned by jumping into cold water may have been the cause of death.

After shooting and fatally wounding a negro, R. C. Little a prominent resident of Columbus Miss., died from heart failure. Little and the negro had an altercation regarding money matters, when the negro pulled a gun and took two shots at him. He then pulled his own gun and after firing one shot, dropped dead.

Because he refused to sign an injunction to refrain the city of Shreveport to issue saloon licenses, William Winter, president-pro-tem of the Caddo Police jury, was deposed last Thursday. The question of whether saloons shall be licensed, was voted on March 4th, and the antis were successful. It is now claimed that the election was unconstitutional. Some lively developments are promised before the matter is finally settled.

ALBERT BALDWIN DIED VERY SUDDENLY THURSDAY NIGHT

Albert Baldwin, Jr., president of the New Orleans National Bank and of A. Baldwin & Co., Ltd., and an officer in several other big corporations, died of apoplexy Thursday night. The business community and the social life of New Orleans as well were shocked to hear of the sudden end of one of the leading and sterling business men of the city. Death came without warning to his friends, but Mr Baldwin suffered a stroke a week ago that in some measure prepared them for the sudden demise.

J. H. Moore, of Hammond, spent a few days in town last week as the guest of Miss Maude Rhodes.

E. L. Middleton, of Pleasant Hill, was a visitor to the Crescent City last week.

Miss Jane McLeod, returned last week to New Orleans, after an extended visit with her brother J. H. McLeod and family.

Mrs. T. Breedlove, left last week for Talisheek, to visit her daughter Mrs. M. Jardon.

Mrs. G. E. Adams, and little daughter Margaret, returned last week to Angie, after a visit with her sister Mrs. W. McGehee.

Madames L. H. Roberts, and A. E. Aycock, spent last Wednesday, in Columbia.

C. W. Sargent, of New Orleans, spent a week in town as the guest of their niece Miss Dorothy Labrettonne.

Mrs. O. Stockstill, and children left last week for Folsom, to join her husband, and make their future home.

Mrs. F. B. Armstrong, returned last week, to Mandeville, after a visit, with Mrs. Crawford.

Mrs. Lizzie Quinn, and little children, returned last week to New Orleans, after a pleasant visit with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Malony.

Mrs. J. C. Williams, and little son Herbert, returned to Bush after a visit to relatives.

Mrs. J. W. Louis, and children, spent a few days in the Crescent City, last week.

Mrs. R. L. Ranney, and children, of Zona, spent last Wednesday in town.

J. A. Canada, spent last Wednesday, in Angie, on business.

Mrs. B. J. Welsh, spent last Thursday, in Slidell, visiting her parents.

A. K. Beall, and daughter Helen, spent Sunday and Monday, in New Orleans, visiting relatives.

Mrs. W. E. Seldner, of Ave B, returned home after a pleasant visit with relatives in New Orleans.

Value Of Good Roads.

Five miles of engineered road with a hard surface can be built at an approximate cost of $15,000, when the amount of grading is not excessive. At a conservative estimate, this five miles of road affects 15,000 acres of land. The road costs a dollar for each acre of land benefited. There is the cost.

The investment is not hard to figure. The value of land affected by good roads may increase $10 or $20 or more per acre; hardly less than $5. The profit is realized whether the land is offered for sale or kept for farming purposes. If the road is used for hauling, the additional load carried by reason of the improvement will pay for the road.

Good roads in Alabama would mean millions of dollars profit to the farmer—a half a million for each one hundred thousand expended.

Are these figures correct? Conservatively. But double the cost and divide the profit, and good roads are still a good investment.—Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.
