DAIRY FARMING CAN BE BIG SUCCESS HERE

Even If Located Several Miles From Railroad
Or City

Can I make a success of dairy farming if my farm is located five or ten miles away from town or a railroad station? This is a question which many a farmer who lives out several miles in the country has asked himself, and, in this section at least, he will usually decide, without getting authoritative information on the subject, that he cannot.

He is mistaken! Success awaits him if he has energy and will first learn how.

The feeding proposition is the first to consider. He should have a silo large enough to furnish winter feed for a herd of the size he expects to have. He should produce his own hays, and also have a proper rotation of pasture crops in addition to the grains. These are all things which can easily be produced here in the South and at less expense than in any other section of the country. This little matter of expense is very important as the amount of profit to be derived from any line of manufacturing is measured by the "cost of production." The dairy farmer in a manufacturer—a producer—and all costs should be closely watched at all times.

Mr. Dairy Farmer has provided for all feed requirements and is now ready to purchase the herd. He is a progressive man and knows that it will be to his interest to buy high grade stock and as good producers as he can obtain. He is located several miles from town and knows that the expense of hauling sweet milk will be too great, therefore, he decides to market his butter instead. He selects a breed of cows from which he can secure the greatest amount of butter fat. He builds the necessary milk house and either secures his water from an artesian well or by the use of a small gasoline engine and pump. This same engine will run the cream separator and churn, as well as the cooling apparatus for the cold storage room.

Either cream or butter can be sold according to the trade but in most cases butter will be the product requiring attention. An attractive supply of oiled board cartons should be secured, bearing the dairyman's name, the name of his farm, and the brand under which his butter is to be sold. The finished product can be taken to town in a box built into a wagon body especially for that purpose and will either be sold to the merchants or to the trade direct as the dairyman may desire. If the product is what it should be there is no locality where a good regular retail trade could not be built up in a short while.

The "by-products" from any line of manufacturing endeavor are to be closely considered and right here is where the dairyman, who now has a lot of skimmed milk on his hands, realizes that he should have a number of registered hogs on the farm and turn, what would otherwise be a loss, into pork.

Then, there is another thing to consider, one of greatest importance with the proper use of the manure secured from his stock his land is becoming more fertile each year, and consequently more valuable.

All garden and field crops are producing a much greater yield per acre and the owners' bank account is bound to grow larger.

This plan is not visionary in the least but is being done but a few miles from here today upon what, a year ago, was raw, piney woods, cut over lands, and it can be done throughout the cut over land district by those who have a large amount of "Push" and at least a small amount of capital.

LICENSE FOR NEAR BEER
SALOONS FIXED AT $1000

Highest Ever Exacted From Business Of This Kind
In State

Amite City, La., July 14.—The Tangipahoa police jury caused a stampede among the operators of near-beer saloons in Tangipahoa parish, when an ordinance was passed this afternoon whereby the license for the operation of near-beer saloons was placed at the high figure of $1000 a year. It is not believed that any of the numerous near-beer saloons will be able to pay such a sum, hence it is believed that the parish will soon be deprived of this class of enterprise, which is declared very undesirable by many of the citizens of Amite and other towns. Today's action by the police jury will be made a test case, though the temperance people are of the opinion that the highest court will sustain the police jury, the recognized legislative body of the parish and representative of their interests.

Few of the liquor people were aware of what the police jury intended doing and the ordinance caused a sensation among the near-beer operators here and will no doubt be a great surprise to the same element in other towns where saloons exist. Practically every town in Tangipahoa parish along the Illinois Central, has one or more near-beer saloons and the people are making a concentrated effort to rid the communities of them. For this reason the police jury was appealed to some time ago and the action taken today shows the interest the parish legislators are taking in the fight.

The license is no doubt the highest ever exacted for a business of this kind in Louisiana, outside of the large cities. The fight just incepted promises to be bitterly fought and the police jury has the backing of the temperance people from all sections of the parish.

HARRY THE TAILOR

BUNKIE QUIET AFTER
LYNCHING BAD MAN

Bunkie, La., July 16.—The town is quiet today following the lynching of the unidentified negro, who with two others fired on Town Marshal W. C. Townsend when ordered to "move on," and who fought a duel with another officer when he trapped them later beneath a freight car.

The negro with the pistol was found sleeping in the woods. He admitted the charge, pleading that he was drunk. Neither of the officers was hurt. The mob hanged the negro to a tree and immediately dispersed.

Preserved Figs

6 qts. figs, 2 qts. sugar, 3 qts. water

Select firm, sound fruit, discard all over-ripe or broken figs. Sprinkle one cup soda over the selected figs and cover with about 6 qts. boiling water. Allow to stand 15 minutes, drain off this soda solution and rinse the figs well through two baths of clear, cold water. Let the figs drain while syrup is prepared. Mix sugar and water, boil ten minutes and skim. Add well-drained figs gradually so as not to cool the syrup. Cook rapidly until figs are clear and tender (about 2 hours.) When the figs are transparent, lift them out carefully and place in shallow pans. If the syrup is not heavy enough (about 50 degrees) continue boiling until it reaches this density, then pour it over the figs, being careful to see that the fruit is entirely covered. Let stand over night. Next morning pack the figs cold in sterilized jars, having stems all the same length and placing the figs so that all stems will be upward. Fill each jar to overflowing with the syrup testing 55 degrees. Cap, clamp, process, and seal immediately

Residence Destroyed.

Fire, of unknown origin, destroyed the home of J. Lyles of Bogalusa Terrace last Wednesday night. The blaze had gained considerable headway before it was discovered and very little of the household effects were saved. Mr. Lyles is employed on the night force and Mrs. Lyles and baby were spending the night with neighbors. This is the first fire that has visited Bogalusa since the latter part of December.
