HUSBAND TIRED OF SEEING HER SUFFER

Procured Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which made His Wife a Well Woman.

Middletown, Pa.—"I had headache, backache and such awful bearing down pains that I could not be on my feet at times and I had organic inflammation so badly that I was not able to do my work. I could not get a good meal for my husband and one child. My neighbors said they thought my suffering was terrible. "My husband got tired of seeing me suffer and one night went to the drug store and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told me I must take it. I can't tell you all I suffered and I can't tell you all that your medicine has done for me. I was greatly benefited from the first and it has made me a well woman. I can do all my housework and even spend some of my friends as well. I think it is a wonderful help to all suffering women. I have got several to take it after seeing what it has done for me."—Mrs. EMMA ESPINOSA, 219 East Main St., Middletown, Pa.

The Pinkham record is a proud and honorable one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be answered, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Don't get half as far from virtue to vice as it is from vice to virtue.

When the Sun Will Die. It may be said unqualifiedly that the sun, like every other thing connected with the present order, will finally cease to be what it is today. The time will most surely come when the sun will have ceased to throw off light and heat. Long before that happens, however, the earth and other planets will have become "dead worlds," like the moon—no life of any sort upon them. It has been calculated that the sun will cease to throw out its heat somewhere about seven million of years from now.

GOOD TIME. Tess—Oh! no, Tom, dear, you mustn't ask papa tonight. He lost a whole lot of the right time then. Tom—Just the right time to lecture me about the care of money.

MADERO AND SUAREZ WERE SHOT TO DEATH

THEY WERE BEING TRANSFERRED AT NIGHT FROM NATIONAL PALACE TO PRISON.

TRIED TO ESCAPE, SAYS HUERTA

Two of the Attacking Party Shot Dead and Many Wounded as They Mixed It In An Attempt to Liberate Madero and Suarez.

Mexico City.—Francisco I. Madero and Jose Pino Suarez, deposed president and vice president, respectively, of Mexico, were shot and instantly killed Sunday night when an attempt was made to rescue them from an automobile in which they were being transferred to the penitentiary.

News of the death of Madero and Suarez was confirmed by General Huerta. Previously it had been announced that the transfer from the palace to the penitentiary had been made successfully.

The escort was composed of Major Carreman of the Seventh Bureaus, two other officers and one soldier. The automobiles left the palace at 11 o'clock and about twenty minutes later the attack occurred.

In the greenhouse of the palace at 2:30 o'clock Lieutenant Colonel Maas, in the presence of Generals Huerta and Blanquet, with aides, gave out the official version of the affair for the provisional president.

Wrapped in a military cloak and wearing smoked glasses, which he has used constantly since he underwent an operation for cataracts, his head increased in a military cap, General Huerta paced restlessly back and forth.

General Blanquet was stoical, stern, grim and outwardly unmoved. He was muffled in a military cape, and stood by, motionless as a statue, in marked contrast to the active movements of his chief. In a locker room in the southwest corner of the palace at the elevator landing leading to the antechamber of the presidential offices, and at the doors leading to the greenhouse, Chapultepec cadets did sentry duty. In cases where courage and absolute loyalty are required high officials of the army invariably call first on the cadets, who have never failed.

Except for the sentries on the ground floor pacing up and down between the stacked Mauser rifles of the palace guard and the occasional rattle of wheels across the stone-paved patio, as some belated cabinet minister arrived in answer to summons from the palace issued by the provisional president, all was quiet in the huge building except for the scene in the greenhouse.

Sentries walked their beats before the rooms which had sheltered Madero and Suarez since their arrest just as though the prisoners were still there. A heavy guard slept huddled against the wall. In the streets on the west and south sides of this corner of the palace 200 rurales were on guard, as has been the case since the prisoners were confined in the quarters in the entresol under the presidential offices.

Thirty of the guards surrounded the prisoners, while the remainder disposed themselves to resist an attack. About 50 men, some afoot and some mounted, threw themselves upon the detachment guarding the cars and the exchange of shots lasted 20 minutes, when the attacking party fled. The dead bodies of Madero and Suarez were then found.

The body of Madero shows only one wound. A bullet entered the back of the head and emerged at the forehead.

The body of Pino Suarez shows many wounds, entering from in front.

Short Sketch of Madero. Francisco I. Madero was a member of one of the old Castilian families of Mexico, which owned immense bodies of land and other valuable property in the district of Coahuila.

At the beginning of the revolution against Diaz, Madero's family as to the male line consisted of the father, Francisco Sr., Francisco, Ernesto, Gustavo, Evaristo and Gabriel.

Because of its immense wealth and culture the family has always been prominent in Mexican affairs, but until the recent revolution against the Diaz administration has never taken an active part in politics.

Francisco Madero was educated in Europe and had traveled extensively. He was well known in San Antonio, Galveston and other places in Texas.

At one time during the revolution against Diaz he was forced to flee the country and found refuge in Dallas for several weeks. He was a member of the International Club of San Antonio and spent much time in that city.

The wealth of the family is not accurately known. It has been variously estimated from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000, consisting of lands, cattle and haciendas in various parts of Mexico.

With the overthrow of the Madero government, the first death in the immediate family of Madero took place, that of young Gustavo, who was killed, according to the report, under the Mexican "fugitive" law. Gustavo was 30 or 31 years of age and was credited in Mexico as being the brainiest of the family.

Francisco Madero was esteemed as an idealist. His political convictions nearly approached socialism, and his dream was that of a social democracy for Mexico, in which every citizen would have a voice in the affairs of the government. He was warned by his friends that the prevailing ignorance of the lower classes of Mexico would make such a political scheme impossible of success, but he contended to the last that Mexico could be governed by pacific means and the country saved from its constant and perpetual drenching in blood.

AMERICANS EASY TO IDENTIFY

Marks Caused by Collisions With the Deadly Rocker Put Nationality Beyond Dispute.

"Scars on the ankles identify as American those found dead abroad," said a coroner's physician. "Yes, our ankle scars identify us over there as infallibly as our gold teeth."

"I see, we are the only people whose ankles get scarred by hanging into the sharp points of rockers in the dark."

"Four-legged chairs don't hurt in the dark in this way. Bang into them a dozen times a night, and they merely impart a slight bruise to the knee."

"But a bedroom rocker, when you go prowling in your bare feet about a coal black bedroom, is more dangerous than a man-trap. How many times, in the dead blackness of the night, have you been impaled by the ankles—or nearly impaled by the ankles—on the sharp, upstanding points of a bedroom rocker? Just look at your ankles when you undress this evening. You may not be aware of it, but I'll guarantee you'll find on each ankle five or six scars, the marks of terrible midnight collisions with the deadly rocker."

"And that's how it is that they identify Americans abroad by the rocking chair scars which criss-cross the bony, stiff ankles of the male and the round and supple ankles of the female American."

HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

Warrenton, Va.—"My little girl was troubled with eczema for three years. Her hands burned and itched and looked as if they were scalded. She could not sleep at night; I had to be up all night to keep her hands in warm water. She rubbed her hands and large white blisters came full of yellow water. Then sores came and yellow corruption formed. She could not take hold of anything with her hands. I used an ointment and tried a treatment, but nothing did her any good, so I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After bathing her hands with the Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment I was astonished to see the great relief, and Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment cured her hands in three weeks." (Signed) Mrs. John W. Wises, Mar. 8, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address: post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

AMERICAN IDEA.

The American—What's your father's business? The Englishman—My aw-fathaw-has-aw-no business. The American—Then what's his graft.

Up-to-Date Finance. Thomas W. Lawson said the other day of a scandalous financial deal: "These people traded on popular ignorance. They were like Calhoun Clay, who opened a bank in Nola Chucky."

"All the colored people around Nola Chucky deposited their savings in Calhoun's bank, and Cal soon began to wear, instead of cowhide boots and jeans, patent leathers and broodcloth."

"Then, one day, Wash White called at the bank and said: "I'd like for to draw out my money, sah."

"Your money?" said the banker, lighting a ten-cent cigar. "Yes, sah; my $10." "Your $10?" "Yes, my $10 what I 'posited last summer."

"Why, man alive!" shouted Banker Calhoun Clay angrily, "don't you know the interest done at that up three months ago?"

Automobile Aroma. Farmer Hiram was mending the front fence when an automobile whizzed past, emitting a trail of blue smoke from its oil-choked engine.

Farmer Hiram's hand went to his nose. When the car had disappeared far down the lane and the smell had died away he ventured to address the hired man.

"Sam," he said, "they may be swell city fellers an' all that; but they certainly was smokin' some vile seegars."

Thought of it. For a thing that springs mostly from badly digested misinformation, public sentiment is amazingly often right.—Puck.
